The Legend of the Shepherd

Introduction

The legend of the “Shepherds”...

In a bygone age of myths, when darkness threatened to enshroud the world,it was they who reclaimed light from nothingness.

Over and over, as the world plunged into chaos,the legend would come to people’s lips, and they would pray for salvation.

And lo, each time a Shepherd would appear to vanquish the darkness once more.

But with peace returned, it was never long before the Shepherds would vanish.

As for where they had gone... No one can truly say.

And as with all things, eventually they faded into legend.

Now, once again, the world faced the threat of the darkness...

...And the people began to speak of the Shepherds once more.

But alas, no Shepherd came forth to guide his people to peace.

Save points

Save points can be found in fields, dungeons, and towns. Stand on one to save your game, find Skits, or access the Lord of the Land menu when available. Touching a save point will count your Grade toward that area's Blessing Level if there is a Lord of the Land present. After activating a save point, you can travel between save points when the game plot allows it.

Quick Saves

If you're in an area with no Save Points, you can use the Quick Save function in the Pause Menu by pressing OPTIONS.

You can store only one Quick Save file at a time, so this should only be used as a temporary way to save your game.

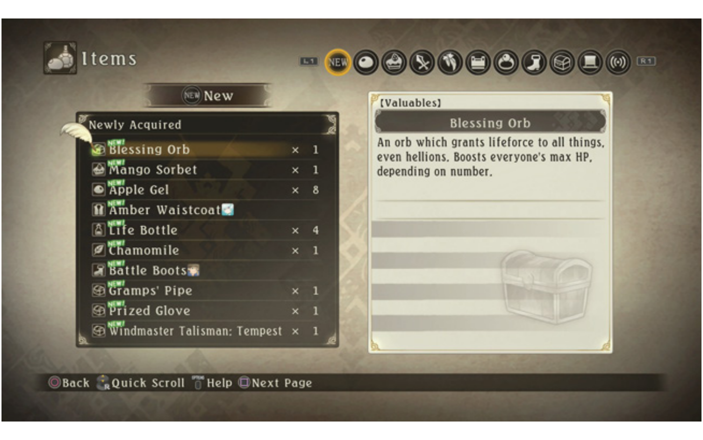
Top Menu (Main Menu)

The Top Menu is where you can check on your characters HP and SC gauges, their experience, and also change which allies start off with you in battle. This is also where you can access all of your inventory and customization options, read up on your collected information, etc. Here are all of the options within this menu:

Change Formation: Switch formation and/or controlled character(s)

✕	Status - Gives you a detailed view of the characters' stats, as well as their next arte.
▢	Switch Seraph - Switches which Seraph is initially tied to each human. This can be changed during battle with the directional buttons.
△	Switch Battle Character - Switch which character the player controls. Sets character to Manual or Semi-Auto.

Items



Access items that are in your possession here. Switch between the following categories by pressing L1 or R1: New, Consumables, Snacks, Weapons, Accessories, Armor, Rings, Shoes, Valuables, Fashion, and Downloadable Content.

Only the Consumables section of the Items menu can be accessed during combo through the Battle Menu.

> NOTE
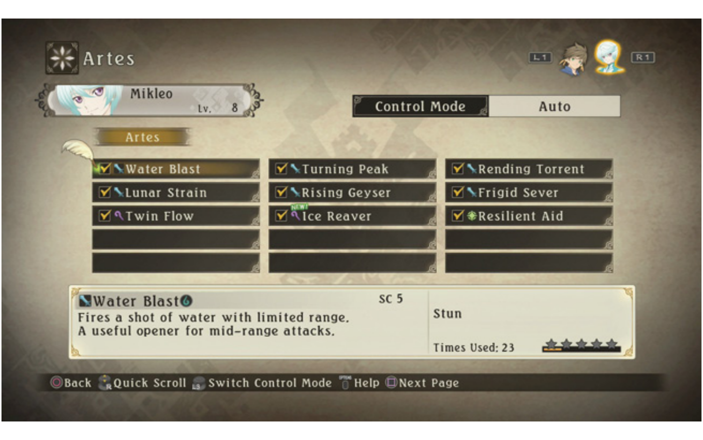
>
> Some Items, Such As Snacks Or Herbs, Can Only Be Used Outside Of Battle Through This Menu.

Artes



Here, you can view the martial artes sets acquired by characters – these sets are in relation to ◯ + Left Stick settings as well as the length of combos, and these sets cannot be changed. New artes are unlocked over time and correlate to your chosen Title (see Equipment). Click ⬇ to access hidden, seraphic, and mystic artes, which are tied to ✕ and are set manually by the player (if in Manual / Semi-Auto mode). This area also contains your blast and mystic arte information.

On each character's Artes screen, you can switch between normal artes and armatization artes with L2 and R2. You can view your armatization ◯ hidden artes and change settings for ✕ seraphic artes here. You can also view your Banish Blasts, Rejuvenation, and mystic artes here as well.

If you would like to read up on the differences between martial, hidden, seraphic, and mystic artes, please refer to "Artes" within the Battle section. The Artes menu is also accessible during battle.

Equipment

Here you can strengthen a character's stats by equipping them with items and titles. When selecting items, use the Left Stick or Right Stick to change the sort order. Press L1 or R1 to change characters and R2 to switch to the skill sheet, where you can check the equipped items' skills (you can find more a descriptive explanation about what these do in the Skills section). Leveling up characters will increase your proficiency with the equipped title and unlock skills if they are sealed. Press L2 to lock items, which will keep them out of the sellable list at shops so you never sell them accidentally.

The Equipment menu can be accessed and modified during combo through the Battle Menu.

Equippable items enhance different stats:
Weapons	Attack
Accessories	Arte Attack
Armor	Defense
Rings	Arte Defense
Footwear	Focus

> NOTE
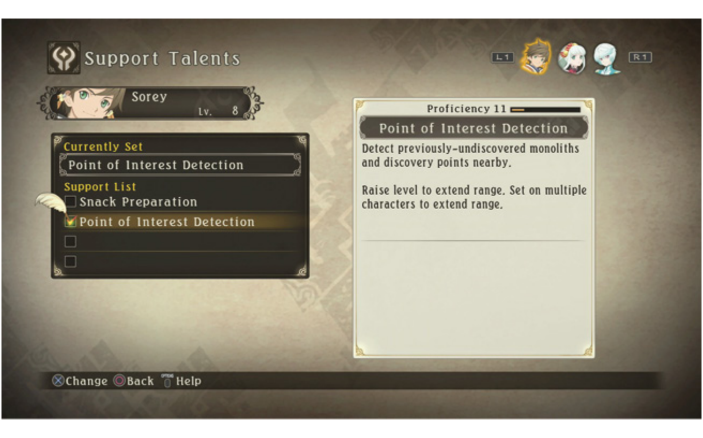
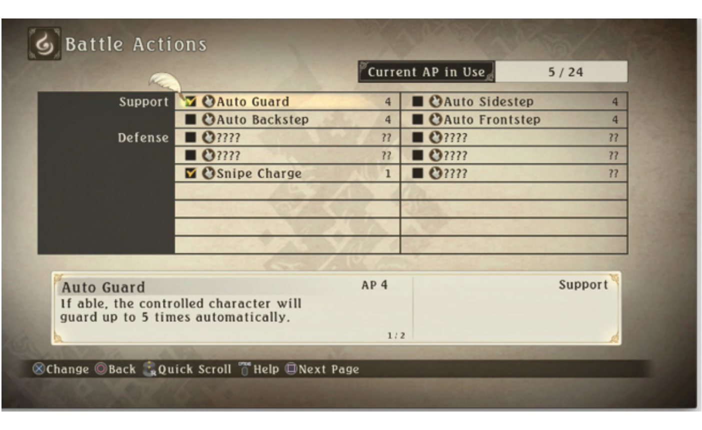
>
> There Are Some Exceptions, And Some Items Can Enhance More Than Just Their Standard Stat.

Support Talents



Every character has a special group of talents that can perform a variety of different, helpful abilities. Using them repeatedly will strengthen their talent, and new talents can be acquired by staying at inns. You can find more details in the Support Talents section.

Battle Actions



Here, you can set abilities used in battle that, generally speaking, apply to all party members. To set actions, you need action points (AP), which can be gained by leveling up, locating discovery points, and finding monoliths. Most new Battle Actions can be unlocked by meeting certain criteria specific to each action, which you can find by reading their descriptions, but some are unlocked as the story progresses.

You can view the Battle Actions menu during battle by pressing R2 while the Battle Menu is opened, but it cannot be modified.

> NOTE
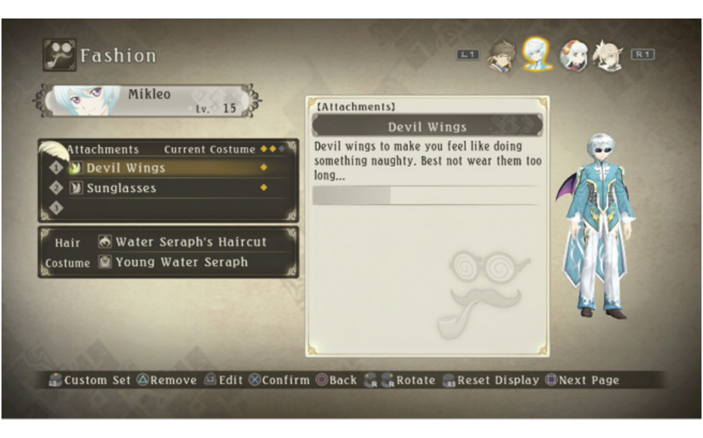
>
> Don't Just Assign Battle Actions Because You Have The Extra AP; Carefully Consider Each One. Some Battle Actions Can Be Very Useful And Have Little Drawbacks, Like Aerial Recovery. Others, Like Free & Free (Defaults Free Run), Are Only Useful Depending On Your Play Style.

Fashion



Fashion items can be found around the world or after story events and change your character's appearance. Each item is assigned a certain cost; you can only ever wear a maximum of three item costs, as well as a total of three attachments. Press L2 to customize their placement, size, or color. You can also change your hairstyle and costume.

Strategy

In this menu, you can configure what actions characters can take when their Control Mode is set to Auto. If you find that a party member is often KO'd or not as useful as they can be, go through your choices here to see if anything can be improved.

The Strategy menu can be opened and modified during combat through the Battle Menu.

Library

Here, you can view records and explanations about the game system and gameplay elements.

You unlock battle information by finding monoliths out in the world as well as by completing battles after certain mechanics have been unlocked.	View the discoveries you've found.	View information about skills you've obtained. Later, if you've found the normin associated with that skill, that normin will give you helpful tips about that skill.	View information about foes you've encountered. When enemies seem tough, you might uncover tactics and alternative ways of taking them on.	Read an outline of the story so far. Refer to this if you aren't sure where to go next, or if you need brushing up on the story.	View various kinds of data about the way you play.

System:

Save	Save game data (only available when standing on a Save Point)
Load	Load game file
Options	Change various settings (these are the same options listed when you start a new game)

Lord Of The Land Menu

You can access the Lord of the Land menu either with the Lord of the Land themselves, or through Save Points in areas where the Lord of the Land has been established. Fighting battles in those areas will raise the Blessing Level depending on the Grade earned within those battles, and will automatically be added to the Blessing Level when you touch a Save Point. Grade can also be earned by offering items to the Lord of the Land. As the Blessing Level goes up, you will gain access to new boons with various effects as well as increase the maximum allowable boons cost.

Save Point Travel	Travel to an unlocked save point. You can travel between save points within the same town for free, but it'll cost gald to move greater distances. Gald cost is cheaper in areas where a Lord of the Land is present. Note: Sometimes the story plot limits or prohibits the use of Save Point Travel.
Set Boons	Set boons within maximum allowable boon cost. Boons availability depends on Blessing Level, and largely have battle-related effects.
Set Normin	Once a normin has been found, you can set it to serve the Lord of the Land, making dropped items in that area more likely to have that normin's skill attached. However, doing this will increase the difficulty of the enemies in that area depending on that normin's skill group. As you raise your Blessing Level you can assign multiple normin to that area, which will in turn raise the enemy levels even higher. It will make that area more challenging, but then again, you'll also get a nice experience boost from battles while you grind for items.
Offer Items	Offer items to be converted to Grade.
Sanctify Equipment	Sanctify equipment at +10 or more to double the effects of the first skill--the item will also be given a new name. This does not cost gald to use.

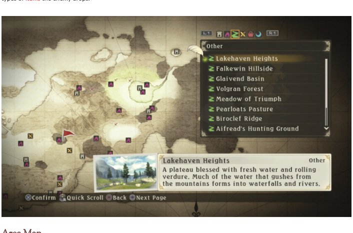
World Map

The world map can be accessed by pressing R3. Here, you can see an overview of the world and a detailed list of the locations within it, divided into Towns, Dungeons, Other, Crucibles of Malevolence, Shops, and Inns.

Press X on a town to see the available shop and inn and the goods they're currently selling. Press X on a dungeon or field to see the monsters you've encountered there, along with their level, the number of times you've defeated that enemy, and the types of items the enemy drops.



Area Map

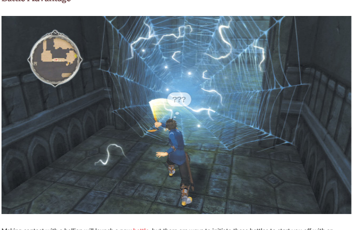
Click L2 to bring up a map of your current location. Press L2 again to zoom in and out, and change which floor to look at with the Right Stick. If you don't know what the icons mean on your map, press the button shown to bring up the Icon Guide. You can see your location name and current objective here as well.

Mini-Map

The mini-map in the upper-left corner of the screen gives you a close-up of your current place in the area map, as well as giving you the direction of map icons.

Map Actions

Battle Advantage



Making contact with a hellion will launch a new battle, but there are ways to initiate these battles to start you off with an advantage.

By sneaking up on hellions and hitting them with your sword with the button shown, or by using the other map actions below, you can begin these battles with an advantage. Sword hits can also take down certain types of roadblocks, like spider webs and hitting enemies weak to non-elemental damage will give you an advantage.

SILVER FLAME	WIND RUSH	SPECTRAL CLOAK	GIANT'S STRENGTH
Cast Silver Flame in the direction you're facing by pressing ↑. It will light torch-like objects and remove impure obstacles. If you use it to strike enemies weak against fire, you can begin the battle with an advantage.	Press → to teleport forward. This can be used to cross ravines and reach otherwise inaccessible areas, as long as there is ground in range. If you use it to strike enemies weak against wind, you can begin the battle with an advantage.	Press ← to become invisible. You'll only be able to walk, but you can use it to pass undetected by sight-sensitive obstacles and enemies. If you use it to touch enemies weak against water, you can begin the battle with an advantage.	Press ↓ to destroy some types of huge objects. If you use it to strike enemies weak against earth, you can begin the battle with an advantage.

Dangerous Encounters

Just as you can use the above techniques to get an advantage over your foe even before the battle begins, hellions can also get the advantage with what is called 'dangerous encounters.' If two roaming hellions are chasing after you and come together, they will team up together to strengthen their stats and increase the number of foes that appear. You can tell a dangerous encounter has occurred by the shadows that appear at their feet. When this happens even average foes can become deadly, so if you can, run—otherwise, get ready to go all out.

Current Objective

> NOTE
>
> Some Support Talents Work Better In Different Area Types.

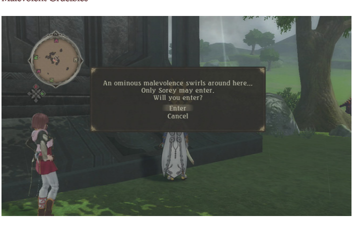
Towns

Towns are where you can find inns and Weaponsmiths. For the most part you won't find any hellions walking about, so always retreat to towns to heal up and upgrade your gear. These are also the places to go to find out about the latest gossip floating about the world.

Fields

While fields are also home to many a hellion, don't be surprised to find humans or other friendly creatures within them as well. Fields are also, generally speaking, the connecting points between towns and dungeons, so you'll probably find yourself journeying through the same fields on multiple occasions.

Malevolent Crucibles



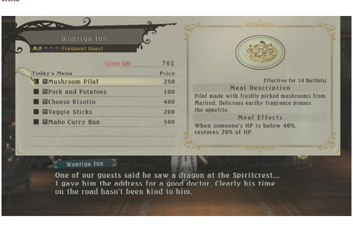
These ominous structures scattered across the continent were unsealed by Heldalf to further the venomization of hellions. Within them, hellions battle for superiority, weeding out the weaklings and leaving only the most powerful to roam the area. You can purify these places by defeating waves of hellions, but each Crucible will only allow a specific character or pair of characters to enter. If you are victorious, you'll purify the area and win some nice equipment; you can even enter again if you're looking for the items and the experience. After cleansing all eight crucibles, the last of which can only be accessed after clearing the game and exploring Hexen Isle, a Trophy will unlock.

Weaponsmiths

Weaponsmiths are shops where you can purchase things such as recovery and equippable items for use in battle, and sell any unwanted items for gald. A weaponsmith's rank goes up depending on the amount of gald exchanged when purchasing or selling items, which can result in the weaponsmith stocking more powerful equipment. Along with buying weapons, weaponsmiths are where to go when you want to use Fusion on your weapons and armor.

Refer to "Shops and Inns" in the Data section to see more specifics on available items.

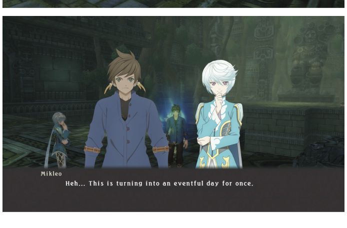
Inns



Besides recovering your HP, there are many advantages to staying at inns, such as:

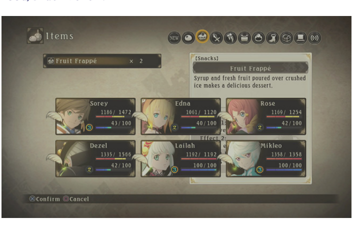
MEALS
When you stay at an inn you will be given a choice of meals. Meals will give you bonuses for a set number of battles; the bonuses gained, as well as their prices, vary upon the meal. As you stay at a specific inn frequently and increase its rank, more dishes will become available and you'll be served bigger portions, which increases the number of battles their bonuses last.
SKITS AND TALENTS
Some skits can only be triggered at inns. Certain skits can unlock new Support Talents or Sub-Events.
INITIAL SC RECOVERY
While items and battle mechanics can recover your SC, as you fight battle after battle your initial SC will begin to decrease, signifying your characters becoming tired. Staying at an Inn will reset your initial SC back to 100.

SKITS



Skits can be found at Save Points or Discovery Points by following the on-screen button prompt L3, or trigger automatically when you stay at inns or travel through the world. They usually appear at Save Points after storyline events, so be sure to check for them often. They're a great way to get to know character personalities and backstories, find out more specific information about gameplay and battle mechanics, as well as witness some general goofiness.

Food/Snack Benefit



Snacks can only be used outside of battle via the Items menu. Similar to Inn meals, they restore HP while also granting a special bonus or effect for the next battle, as well as recovering a certain amount of initial SC.

> TIP
>
> Because their bonuses only work for the next battle, it's a good idea to use them right before a boss battle, or other particularly tough encounters.

Collection Items

Discovery Points

Unique to each area are Discovery Points, indicating a place of note in that area. When you know a point is close by but cannot pinpoint its location, use the Right Stick to look around the area and try to look for some unique feature, or have a character use their Support Talent "Point of Interest" to pinpoint it on the map. At located Discovery Points, a L3 button prompt may appear at the bottom left of the screen, triggering a skit. You can increase your AP, necessary for setting battle actions, by locating Discovery Points.

Monoliths

Scattered throughout the world are stone monuments, or monoliths, written by persons unknown and detailing lost battle techniques. After finding one, you can check its teachings at any time in the System Book. For each one you find, you will gain AP, which is necessary for setting battle actions. When you find one, press ⊗ to investigate it further. The Support Talent "Point of Interest" will notify you if a monolith is close and pinpoint its location on your map.

Iris gems

Originally called Earthen Historia, Iris Gems contain memories of the past. They serve as guideposts on the search for the Lord of Calamity. Be on the look out for the purple stars that will lead you towards more Iris Gems and the answers they will give.

Treasure Chests

You can find treasure chests in towns, dungeons, and fields alike. Eventually treasure chests can respawn items in old locations after certain story conditions are met, so be sure to double back to old locations every once and a while. Some treasure chests are locked and need corresponding keys to open them—be sure to make note of their locations so you can open them later.

Herbs

Scattered throughout dungeons and fields are herbs, usually appearing as a sparkly plant or flower. Herbs are a one-time use item that can increase certain stats as well as recover your HP and initial SC. Which stats they increase are specific to the herb type. Herbs respawn after a certain amount of time has passed.

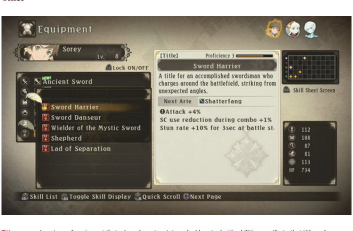
>
> Because herbs can recover HP and initial SC, it might be a good idea to save and use them as recovery items, similar to Snacks but for individual characters. However, if you'd rather get the stat boost sooner, go ahead and use them right away.

Normin

Normin are creatures who share a long history with the seraphim, and can enhance their powers. While there are 50 normin types, there are 120 skills to gain by combining their powers. While wandering the world you may stumble upon Normin (use the Support Talent 'Normin for the Win' to be notified when they're close), and if you talk to them they will offer to add their skill to a piece of your equipment with an open slot. They will then go to the Lord of the Land; refer to the Lord of the Land section to read up on what they do there.

EQUIPMENT

Titles



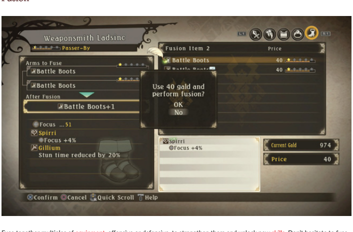
Titles are a unique type of equipment that raises character stats and adds extra battle abilities specific to that title and character. These stats will raise in proficiency as you level up; titles can be raised after passing certain plot points. While most skills are unlocked as the title rises in proficiency, some skills, called Scenario Skills, are added to titles after completing certain story events. Refer to "Titles" in the Data section for more details.

Which title you have equipped changes which arte that character will learn next, so keep an eye on this if there is a specific arte you're holding out for.

Proficiency

You can increase your proficiency in an equippable item by accumulating victories in battle with this item attached. Your proficiency in any one item can rise to a maximum level of 5.

Fusion



Fuse together multiples of equipment, offensive or defensive, to strengthen them and unlock new skills. Don't hesitate to fuse equipment you consider weak; it might just lead you to new skills and new opportunities. Refer to "Fusion Skills" in the Data section to learn what these combination of skills can create.

>
> Some skills will initially be locked, but don't let that deter you from creating them. These skills are unlocked as its item's proficiency raises, so just be sure to start using the item right away to acquire access to its skill.

Sanctification

After acquiring the boon "Sanctification", you can select "Sanctify Equipment" at any Lord of the Land site. This ritual, reserved only for equipment with a fusion level of 10, inscribes the item with the blessing of the Lord of the Land. Blessing an item doubles the effect of the skill in that equipment's first slot and give it a new name. Sanctifying equipment does not cost gald. Refer to the Sub-Event "Mythril" for more details, as well as "Shops and Inns" in the Data section to see which mythril items are available at each specific shop.

Mythril

As you raise the levels of each weaponsmith's shop, the smiths will drop hints about how you can obtain weapons made of Mythril. Each brother has some skill needed to craft Mythril equipment, and you'll have to earn the trust of all of them in order to gain these powerful items. Once you have raised all of the shop levels to at least two and a half stars, you will be able to bring the weaponsmiths the raw materials needed to craft Mythril equipment. This can be found in Aroundight Forest, but requires a special tool from the weaponsmiths in order to mine it. You only need to do this once, and after that the weaponsmiths will regularly stock Mythril equipment in their shops for you to purchase. Each shop will specialize in different types of equipment, so if you want a full set of Mythril gear, be prepared to shop around and spend a lot of gald!

Skills

As described before, equipment comes with skills that can increase certain stats, give you certain immunities, and much more. However, to fully take advantage of what these skills can grant you, instead of focusing just on an individual equipment's skills you should pay attention to how the skills of your equipment correlate with each other within the Skill Sheet. View the Skill Sheet in the Equipment section by pressing R2. Refer to "Skills" in the Data section for more information about specific skills.

Basic Skills

Appear as the white icons. There are 50 basic skills available that can be combined to create Bonus Skills. Each basic skills is represented by one normin.

Bonus Skills

Bonus skills appear as blue icons. Bonus skills are activated based on placement of basic skills on the grid, and there are three types:

Stack Skills

These are bonus skills activated by equipping multiple instances of the same basic skill. Stacking multiple bonus skills will give you a different skill at each stack level, and they are not all necessarily related. Here are the first six skills that can be unlocked through stacking:

- Stack 2: Anthemn - Stagger time lowered by 6%
- Stack 3: Blasst - Maximum BG +1
- Stack 4: Ekseed - No. of combos in normal state +1
- Stack 5: Aster - 2x damage on 10th, 20th, 30th (etc.) hit
- Stack 6: Aejis - Prevents Pertrify, your knockback chance halved

While stacks don't combine as you add more of the same skill, multiple instances of the same Stack skill will increase their effect. For example, if you have two Stack 3s, Blasst's ability will increase max BG by +2.

Try to stack as many skills as you can to see what you skills you can create!

G-Union Skills

G-Unions are bonus skills activated by vertically lining up all 5 skills from the same group. In general, this will result in a powerful effect relating to that skill group. For example, equipping all 5 Status skills will boost each of that character's stats by 20. Of the bonus skills, this is the hardest to trigger, but worth the effort.

E-Union Skills

E-Unions are bonus skills activated by placing 2 or more bonus skills in a horizontal line. They can be useful for fighting a specific enemy, since skill effects will pertain to a certain element. Since E-Unions only trigger when directly next to each other, you might get a bonus skill for creating a row of 5 basic skills, or you could remove the middle one and have two pairs, doubling their bonus effect.

Fight Style Description

Sorey is an orthodox sword-wielding fighter. His swift martial artes and high attack make him a great choice for the front-line, so charge in and use him to disrupt enemy casters and lay on the damage. With a little careful attention to his equipped stat-boosting effects you can maximize his punishing barrage with stuns, HP and SC regaining, and much more. Don't be afraid to use his hidden artes, as well! They take a little longer, but enemy martial artes won't stagger him.

Sorey has a variety of different attacks with varied elements in his arsenal, so take stock of the battlefield and choose the right arte for the situation. Whether you need to push enemies back to gain some breathing room, capitalize on an elemental weakness, or gather multiple enemies in close so you can hit them all at once, this Shepherd has the skills for the job.

Personal Description

Sorey is a human with a pure heart who grew up in an isolated seraphim village. He loves ancient ruins and the Celestial Record, and dreams of traveling the world to discover all of its historical secrets. As someone who always wants to help people in any way he can, Sorey takes on his role as the Shepherd quickly but with no less sense of duty.

Sorey

Recommended Tactics

Sorey is quick and efficient. Stack stun boosts and one or two other status effects to their maximum when fusing Sorey's equipment, and use his quick martial and hidden artes to incapacitate a field of foes within the first few seconds of a battle. These status effects are especially useful against foes that must be inflicted with ailments in order for attacks to do decent damage. If you're watching carefully, you can use a single multi-hit attack to stun or inflict ailments on multiple enemies by swiftly switching to a nearby target as soon as you notice that the first or second hit has already done its job. When you're choosing your next target, take a moment while the battle is paused to check out the weaknesses and resistances of each enemy on the field. If you've stacked your skills high enough and you're just looking to inflict a status effect, sometimes it won't matter, but it's always nice to do a little extra damage in the process.

Using Sorey to mount an offensive before your enemies have a chance to begin their own attacks is a simple way to take and hold a useful advantage throughout a battle. Keep your casters free to focus on offensive artes instead of wasting their BG on restorative artes by making sure a few of Sorey's fusion slots are reserved for HP-recovery or damage-negation skills (such as Gaine and Invalada).

Fight Style Description

Alisha has excellent reach due to her weapon—a spear that is taller than she is. Stabbing or sweeping gives her plenty of versatile options in battle, but the required lunges as she extends her weapon do tend to leave her open to counterattacks. Well-timed quicksteps and thoughtful use of attacks that involve movement are the key to keeping her in an advantageous position during battle.

Personal Description

Alisha is the princess of Hyland, but her political power is limited by the other elites in Ladylake. She still believes in the Seraphim and wants to save her country from the malevolence that plagues it. To serve her people as best she can, she took on the duties of a Hyland knight, and while her earnestness and pure-hearted nature are seen as a weakness to many, it is these traits that also give her the strength to fight for a better future.

Alisha

Recommended Tactics

Alisha generally manages to hold her own in battle against other humans, but because she cannot master the armatus, her capabilities are limited when it comes to stronger hellion battles. It's probably for the best that she doesn't stay with the party the entire game, since many of the more difficult battles are nearly impossible without the use of armatization. Still, this knight has a few tricks up her sleeve, and she can be a great help in battle once you know how to work around her limits.

While she has a tendency to be easily overwhelmed due to her slow recovery speed after attacking, she has some great moves that displace enemies and move her across the battlefield to combat this weakness. Spinning Top is incredibly useful when surrounded, delivering powerful blows all around that knock enemies down. Skewering Spear can drive through multiple foes in front of her, and Dragon Floret juggles even dangerous dragon-type enemies up in the air to leave them open to additional attacks from allies. Like Sorey, Alisha has a wide range of different elemental attacks, so take note of enemy weaknesses and be sure to utilize the best artes for the job.

Unless you are playing the Alisha's Story DLC, you probably won't get a chance to see her Mystic Artes, since unfortunately Mystic Artes are not introduced in the game until after Alisha leaves your party. However, if you are playing in New Game + mode or enjoying the Alisha's Story DLC, you will likely find her Mystic Artes incredibly useful. Because she cannot armatize, you will need to utilize her Mystic Artes fairly often to make up for the damage difference between herself and her Shepherd. Luckily, she has both BG3 and BG4 Mystic Artes, so you'll be able to use them multiple times within a single battle if you want to. Don't forget to equip her with gear that has stacked BG increase boosts so that she builds up her BG quickly. If you have any equipment with the Axcell skill to reduce the BG cost of Mystic Artes, that is very useful as well!

Fight Style Description

Rose's fighting style is swift and crafty. Her distinguishing characteristic is her ability to equip two weapons at once, and this can be an interesting factor to consider when fusing skills for her weaponry. Rose dual-wields daggers, allowing her to attack with a flurry of strikes.

She is an excellent close-combat fighter, and her strength in both physical attacks and offensive artes is bolstered by a powerful mastery of the battleground. Utilize artes that allow you to set traps for unwitting foes, and then stand back and watch the damage happen, striking hard once you've created an opening. In tandem with Sorey's, use Rose's aerial combos to juggle foes in the air and push the attack relentlessly, or to swat flying enemies out of the sky.

Personal Description

Rose is a member of the Sparrowfeathers, a successful traveling merchant guild, but this guise is really a cover for the assassin group she leads: Scattered Bones. Rose has the carefree personality of a nomad, and her bright demeanor reflects a fundamentally honest and forthright nature, even though she has to hide her true profession. Her strong sense of honor and justice gives her the resolve to stand by her convictions with all her strength. A naturally high resonance and unwavering sense of self make Rose an ideal Squire for Sorey.

Rose

Recommended Tactics

Rose is a match for Sorey in fighting speed and power. Stack skills on her twin blades to maximize status effects, and she'll be inflicting ailments left and right. Once she's dashed in and sliced up some openings, hang back and set traps such as Sleeping Dragon and Burrowing Dragon, and position Rose behind the traps to coax enemies right into them. Her speed and cunning nature is reflected in many of her artes, including Lightning Crash, which allows her to automatically circle around behind an enemy when in close quarters—an attack with built-in defense properties!

Her aerial combos are a sight to behold, and several of her airborne attacks can be unleashed one after another to smoothly lengthen combos. The nice thing about aerial combos is that they not only tend to stagger foes, but they also keep the assassin safely in mid-air for the duration of the combo, allowing her to avoid many lower-range attacks from other enemies. Use these skills to dart in close enough to strike, and distance Rose from her enemies when under attack, and this assassin becomes an untouchable wave of death on the battlefield.

Mikleo

Recommended Tactics

Even though he is a caster, Mikleo is just as comfortable getting down and dirty in close combat with his staff. Many of his martial artes involve improving on his staff strikes, imbuing his weapon with water-based properties to enhance the power of a physical attack. His seraphic artes, on the other hand, work best at long range. When capitalizing on his water-element attacks, keep to the edges of the battle zone and utilize ranged attacks that often can be positioned to hit multiple targets.

Keep an eye on Mikleo's SC, and be sure to defend and restore SC often. The water seraph has two very useful restorative artes that you will no doubt want to take advantage of during difficult battles to restore HP while also removing ailments and boosting defense. Sometimes waiting for the item meter to run down just takes too long when someone is low on HP and also afflicted with an ailment, so remember to keep Mikleo's SC high so you can rely on him when you're in a pinch.

Fight Style Description

What she lacks in speed she makes up in grace, timing her attack flows together. Lailah is vulnerable in close-combat, but possesses an impressive arsenal of ranged artes. She fights best when positioned away from the fray or dashing quickly in and out, casting powerful seraphic artes that set her opponents ablaze. She shines on the battlefield by overpowering enemies and relentlessly pushing her attacks once they're at a disadvantage.

Personal Description

A fire seraph, the Lady of the Lake is the Shepherd's Prime Lord. Like she has done with Shepherds before him, Lailah serves as Sorey's guide and advisor throughout his journey. An oath keeps her from divulging too much information about her past, so she'll say puns or unrelated things instead. She is kind and thoughtful, but not above teasing her friends. Her Divine Artifact is a sword.

Lailah

Recommended Tactics

Lailah excels at casting wide-area attacks that damage multiple targets and inflict status ailments—particularly Burn. Equip her with stacked Sheeld skills when possible, allowing her to cast seraphic artes uninterrupted even when under direct attack by enemies. Then, stay out of the line of enemy fire as much as possible, and use ranged attacks such as Photon Burst and Spirit Cage. When enemies get too close, Blitz Bomb and Flare Vortex will punish nearby foes, provided Lailah's casting isn't interrupted.

When faced with slower enemies that are easy to evade, or enemies that simply will not allow uninterrupted casting, Lailah's martial artes are useful for simultaneously dealing fiery damage and stunning enemies or boosting Lailah's stats. The idea is to stun nearby foes so that you can get out of range, or temporarily boost your stats if you can't escape fast enough.

Fight Style Description

Edna is an umbrella-wielding tank, able to take the brunt of enemy damage and keep control of the battlefield with defense-shattering heavy attacks. She can use her umbrella at close range, but is best suited at longer distances, with a good selection of artes meant to reach long-range enemies or toss close-range enemies across the battlefield. Her martial artes will do in a pinch or when you just need to unbalance your enemies, but her real power lies in her seraphic artes. Utilize seraphic artes that have a time-delay trigger tied to the number of hits, pummel your foes without mercy, and create openings for the rest of the party to continue racking up damage.

Personal Description

An earth seraph with a dry sense of humor, Edna is pessimistic and generally annoyed by all things, especially humans. Edna agrees to follow Sorey in order to save her brother, Eizen, who was corrupted by malevolence and became a dragon. She enjoys teasing Mikleo, as well as coming up with puns. Her Divine Artifact is a gauntlet.

Edna

Recommended Tactics

Edna wields her umbrella like both a baton and a shield, and indeed, it can be used to attack or defend. Her martial artes focus on stunning and boosting her stats (including stealing HP and SC). Her movement is a bit slow, but once she gets into the groove of a good combo, she can keep up a string of attacks against a single enemy for quite some time. To make up for her own slow speed, many of her seraphic artes aim to inflict Slow on opponents, giving her a chance to escape for long enough to cast another powerful arte. Many of her lengthier artes are worth the wait because of their high hit counts and wide ranges, allowing Edna to deal multiple blows to multiple enemies with a single attack. As also suggested for Lailah, stacking Sheeld skills to give Edna multiple Iron Stances during casting can be a huge boon in battle, so fuse wisely!

Since Edna knows how dangerous being afflicted with Slow can be, her restorative arte Healing Circle not only restores HP to nearby allies, but also removes Slow. Like Mikleo's restorative artes, this comes in very handy when you don't have time to wait for item meters and you need to heal up an ally that is also Slowed.

Fight Style Description

These powerful wind seraphs are versatile fighters that use pendulums like whips to keep enemies from getting too close. High attack and defense make these seraphs a powerful force in close quarters, as well as within the mid-range reach their pendulums afford. Quick and punishing martial artes at these ranges result in highly adaptable fighting styles. Their seraphic artes are slow and pack less of a punch, but tend to cover a large amount of distance in straight lines. These can be great for crowd control tactics with the right positioning.

Personal Description (DEZEL)

Betrayed and blinded, Dezel used Rose as a vessel for years, unbeknownst to her. Formerly allied with a band of mercenaries called the Windriders, he joins the Shepherd to gain power and exact his revenge. His Divine Artifact is a knife.

Personal Description (ZAVEID)

A cocky, careless, and vicious wind seraph with dubious allegiances. Zaveid has no problem killing hellions instead of purifying them, even if they were originally human, claiming that death is just another form of purification.

Recommended Tactics

These wind seraphs boast strong and fast martial artes, but their seraphic artes are slower and less powerful. When not armatized or facing an enemy with a wind element weakness, it's best to focus on dishing out damage with martial artes. Both wind seraphs boast easy-to-combo martial artes that stun and stagger enemies.

When you are dealing with single enemies or otherwise have the chance to cast seraphic artes without being interrupted, careful positioning can result in catching multiple enemies in ranged attacks that inflict Fatigue. One of their most useful seraphic artes is Horizon Storm, which takes a while to cast but results in a directional beam of pain in the form of a raging cyclone that pushes back every enemy in its path. If you choose to use a seraphic arte, make sure you have some Iron Stances or plenty of time to complete the casting without interruption, and aim carefully to make the most of the power you unleash.

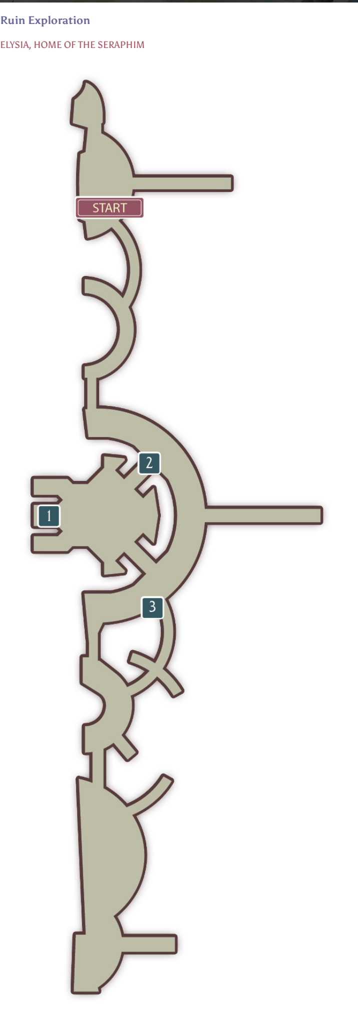
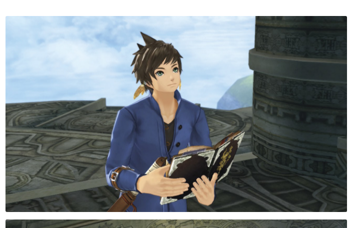
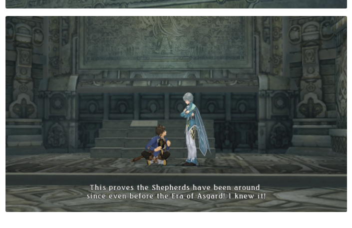
Ruin Exploration

ELYSIA, HOME OF THE SERAPHIM



It's a beautiful day in Elysia, and Sorey is on a mission to make some new discoveries! Head over to the star and check out the 1 mural on the wall. Sorey identifies the bas relief as a depiction of a Shepherd using his copy of the Celestial Record. Mikleo arrives moments later, acknowledging that Sorey has won this portion of their continual competition. As the friends discuss their findings, ominous clouds fill the sky and lightning flashes. Mikleo takes off in the direction he came from and calls for Sorey to follow him.





YOU CAN:

2 Head back the way you came.

Lightning strikes in front of you, obliterating the path back to the vines. Try the other direction.

3 Follow Mikleo.

Suddenly, the ground below Mikleo collapses! Sorey attempts to pull Mikleo up to safety, but they both wind up tumbling down into the depths of the ruins.

Mikleo calmly manifests his weapon, a staff, and uses the Twin Flow arte to cushion their fall and ensure a safe landing.

TIP

When other seraphim are shown following you around, you can initiate conversations with them. These are mainly used to keep track of quests and current goals, but many conversations also give you insight into the characters' personalities as you confront different situations together. Conversations with yellow stars are related to the current main quest. Those with white speech bubbles are related to side quests that you can choose to take on. If you're ever feeling confused or if you forget where you need to head next, pay attention to what your companion has to say about the situation—they'll steer you in the right direction.

ITEMS
A	Sage
B	Ancient Earrings
C	Apple Gel

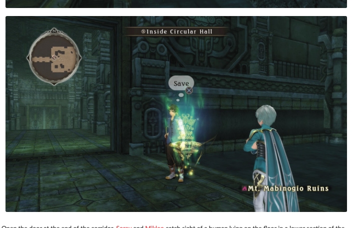
TIP

Many types of herbs grow in the wild. Gathering points for herbs are indicated by shining plants, and will naturally replenish over time. When used, each type of herb offers a specific permanent stat boost to a single character. Herbs also fully restore HP and SC when used, which can be helpful when exploring dangerous territory if you find yourself low on healing items.

TIP

Inactive save points appear as floating purple spheres. Coming into contact with an inactive save point will activate it, and the sphere will unfurl into a golden dragon symbol surrounded by a blue glow.

Take a moment to familiarize yourself with the menu options, and make sure to pick up the Sage that is growing to the left of the path that leads through the doorway. Activate the save point and save if you wish.



Open the door at the end of the corridor. Sorey and Mikleo catch sight of a human lying on the floor in a lower section of the ruins. Sorey can't leave someone who is in need of help, so Mikleo agrees to offer what help he can, although he's wary of getting involved with human outsiders.

TIP

Check your Synopsis to view the first entry, A Stormy Encounter. As you progress through the main storyline, more entries will be added detailing the events of Sorey's journey.

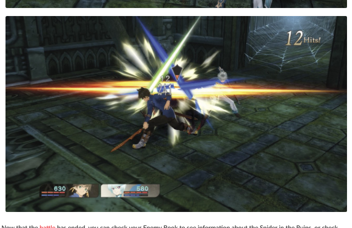
TIP

Map actions are special movements Sorey can utilize while traversing the world. The first map action you learn is to swing your sword. This can remove cobwebs and vines that are blocking your path, and it can also be used to start battles with an advantage if you use it to initiate battle.

Clear a couple cobwebs with your new map action and continue forward until you reach an F exceptionally thick cobweb. Attempting to cut through it will draw the attention of your first enemy, a Spider in the Ruins.

This is a simple tutorial battle, so try different combinations of martial artes combos and continue attacking until you've subdued your enemy. You can also check out the battle menu and familiarize yourself with the options in it. Mikleo will back you up in battle with his own attacks and healing artes, and you can even switch your controlled character to Mikleo to try out some of the seraph's moves.

After you've given the oversized spider a thorough beating, Mikleo realizes that it must be a hellion: a monster created by malevolence. As it flees, Sorey moves to follow it, but Mikleo stops him. The boys recall Gramps' lecture about avoiding hellions at all costs since regular folks don't stand a chance against them. Only the power of purification can work against hellions, a skill very few in the world can wield.



Now that the battle has ended, you can check your Enemy Book to see information about the Spider in the Ruins, or check your System Book for a refresher course on the new information you've learned.

The thick cobweb now looks normal, so cut through it and move forward. There's a treasure chest to the right as you enter the next room that holds a pair of Ancient Earrings. Beyond the treasure chest stands a stone Monolith. Approaching it will trigger Sorey's currently selected Support Talent, Point of Interest Detection (provided you didn't change it), and Sorey will speak up about the find. Check it out to learn about martial artes and increase your AP.

As you move near the next doorway, a spider hellion drops from the ceiling. There is only one type of enemy in this area. You've already seen that these spiders don't pose much of a threat, so you may as well get some practice in. The treasure chest at the far end of the room holds an Apple Gel, so grab that before proceeding through the doors and down the stairs.

TIP

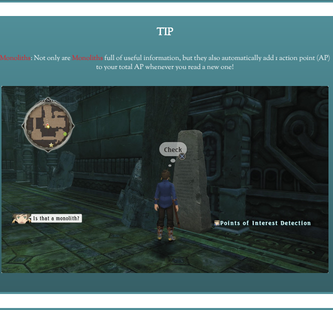
Encounters: Making contact with roaming hellions will launch a battle. If two hellions are very close to each other, the ground below them will be covered by a dark shadow, and getting caught by them will create a Dangerous Encounter which will be more difficult, but also more rewarding to complete. By using map actions, you can begin the battle with an advantage.

TIP

Support Talents: Be sure to set appropriate Support Talents while you are traveling. When exploring new areas, Point of Interest Detection and Treasure Hunt for the Win are talents that are particularly helpful, as it can be easy to miss these useful locations otherwise. Some talents are better suited for traversing dungeons, and some have increased bonuses within towns, so be sure to change things up when you're in different locations to maximize the benefits.

TIP

Monoliths: Not only are monoliths full of useful information, but they also automatically add 1 action point (AP) to your total AP whenever you read a new one!



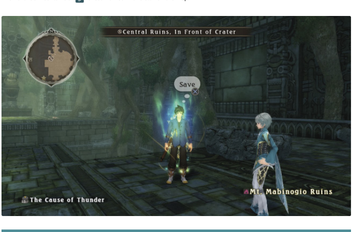
TIP

Encounters: You can spot sneaky foes lurking above you on the ceiling by adjusting your camera view. Ambushes from above can be dangerous, so keep aware of your surroundings. You can choose to fight hellions you can see, avoid the area around them to pass by undetected, or run away from them after they begin chasing you (provided you can move faster than they can).

The large room across from where the 2 girl lies contains a save point, a treasure chest with an Apple Gel, and a monolith about guarding. Check out all three, and fight your way through two more encounters with spider hellions.

Just across the gap, you can see the girl! So close, yet so far. There's nothing else to do down here for now, so continue forward up the stairs on the other side of the room. A hellion guards the small side room on the left that is blocked by a cobweb. If you choose to defeat it and open the treasure chest behind the cobweb, you will obtain an Ancient Circlet. Now is a good time to take stock of the new gear you've picked up and make sure you have the best items equipped. If the gear from the treasure chests has better skills than your currently equipped gear, swap it in.

The next room contains a 3 chest marked with a star on the map.



TIP

Your first skits, The Cause of Thunder and A Mysterious Monolith, are now available. When standing at the save point, the button prompt and skit title will appear in the lower left corner of the screen.

YOU CAN:

Open the chest.

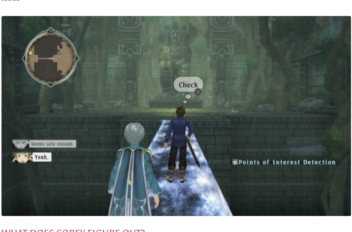
Sorey opens the chest to find a feathered glove. Mikleo snags it before Sorey can get too engrossed in his new discovery, promising to return it after they get back.

Move past the chest.

Mikleo grabs the treasure inside the chest stashes it away before Sorey can see it. He promises to tell Sorey what it was after they get back.

Head down the tiny path to the right of the chest to harvest Lavender from the herb gathering spot. Then, continue up the small staircase and check the monolith in the alcove to learn about Spirit Chain (SC). Loot the treasure chest next to it for a Life Bottle before heading to the star at the 4 end of the walkway to survey the drop. Sorey and Mikleo decide jumping is not an option, and Sorey causes dust to crumble off of the ledge by standing too close to the edge. Head back downstairs to the large room with the save point.

Notice anything strange between your side and the girl's side? Standing at the edge of the chasm, Mikleo figures out the secret.



WHAT DOES SOREY FIGURE OUT?

1 Yup, there's a staircase there coming up from below!

This is incorrect, and Mikleo teases his friend with a sigh.

2 Who would have thought that you could walk in midair here?

Mikleo is grudgingly impressed that Sorey came to a similar conclusion.

Either way, Mikleo uses his artes to ice over the invisible bridge so that you can now see and access the path across the chasm.

TIP

Stepping onto the bridge triggers Sorey's Point of Interest Detection talent, if it's active. "The Invisible Bridge" is your first Discovery Point!

Cross the bridge, but don't go to the girl just yet. Instead, head to either of the side staircases leading down and check out the mysterious closed door at the bottom. There is also a save point that you can activate. Do so, and then head back up to see to the girl.

Sorey wakes the girl, and Mikleo checks to make sure she can't see Seraphim, confirming that she's human. Against Mikleo's objections, Sorey invites her to rest at his home, even though she doesn't offer up her name. Sorey states that he just can't leave anyone who needs help, and that's his decision, regardless of how much Gramps will scold them later. The girl will follow you, but she does not join your party.

Head through the doors behind the statue to reach the star. Mikleo warns Sorey to keep an eye on her, concerned with his overly-trusting nature. Climb the stairs and exit the ruins.

A SKIT BECOMES AVAILABLE BASED ON THE DIALOGUE CHOICE YOU JUST MADE:

An Incredible Bridge (Discovered by Mikleo)

This is the base skit about the bridge.

An Incredible Bridge (Discovered by Sorey)

This version of the skit ends with Mikleo teasing Sorey about his unusually sharp intuition that day.

On the opposite side is a herb gathering point where you can collect Rosmarin. Continue to the left and you'll find a Life Bottle in the grass. Head back to the Sacred Tree and talk to Mikleo with the crossed arms! Here you'll meet another treasure chest that holds an Ice Pia. As to have is another herb gathering point. On one offers Rosmarin. Continue south and at the place where the cliff opens meets a tall wall is a treasure chest with a Saffron.

Don't go up the stairs just yet; continue past them between the rock wall to get to a treasure chest holding a Life Bottle. Backtrack to the stairs and head up. Talk to Mikleo and Rose at the top of the stairs to trigger an event. Take a right and check out the monolith next to the Mt. Hieliorgan Rock entrance to learn about difficulty settings.

Traveling far enough south will trigger a conversation between Sorey and the girl all about the Celestial Record. Sorey introduces his siblings, Elysia, and the girl mentions that the rumours were apparently false—the village here is Elysia, not Canidan.

Head along the path to the village's boundary stone, and stop to check out the grass's grazing near the path. This Discovery Point ("Horned Dwarf") is accompanied by the info. The Excess Dwarf.

If you wish, you can take a left before approaching the star to check out Rose Patch and Hoodrith to the archway to the south. You can activate the save point there and learn about wagering from the monolith.

Head to the ⑥ village entrance. Mikleo goes on ahead to report to Gramps, while Sorey rounds up the villagers for an introduction. Unfortunately, the entire village is seraphim and the girl can't see any of them.

Speak with the villagers and they'll get in a mix, and then make a few stops before heading to see Gramps. Activate the save point halfway up the hill. Upon entering Gramps' home is pretty unusual all when Lenne arrives to tell his side of the story. Eventual, sealed it's that the girl must know Elysia as soon as possible.

You can talk to the villagers and the girl again if you want. There's an ill-mood around and learn more things to say. Once you're ready, head to the ⑧ exit to the Shepherd Path. Before you go, talk to the room, Mikleo Lenne, and anyone else back from the village to the south to the Shepherd Path.

You can speak to the villagers again if you want; the first element to be gathered here are things to use. Once you're ready, speak to the girl and she'll follow Sorey into his home for dinner. Hello Zephyr, the also confesses that she believes that Seraphim and the Shepherd legends are true. She tells Sorey that the Sacred Blade Pinnibel (and its shell will be held soon, and Sorey is determined to find it.

Soon before leaving the village, Mikleo has a hunch that the intruders is in the tunnel around the ruins. Approach the tunnel and enter it to trigger a battle with the Hellion. Sorey and Mikleo draw their weapons and battle begins.

Follow the tutorial instructions to assign your first hidden art, Heavenly Sword. Use it liberally during the battle, and don't forget to block when you run out of TP. This hellion is weak against water, so between Mikleo's arts and Sorey's new Heavenly Sword art, you should be able to defeat it quickly. Once it's down, it's time to head back to the village to report. Interrupt the hellion's cutting. Dust the wizard to get up close to the enemy and make sure that you're defending whenever you're not attacking. Once you deplete the hellion's health, it proceeds to devour Seraph Flower before Sorey and Mikleo's attacks can interrupt it. Keep attacking it, and it will soon be forced to flee. Before the hellion retreats, mentioning that the "Lady Lezmin" was getting loose. Gramps reveals that the strange creature was human who became a hellion after being corrupted, and Sorey is stunned by the knowledge that humans can become hellions.

Before you go, talk to the same conclusion, and he refuses to let Sorey run off on his own. When you gain control of Sorey again, he will acquire a new title: "Lad of Separation".

The forest is a quiet, tranquil place at this time, protected from hellions by the power of Gramps' domain. There's only one path through the forest that is open to you, since you cannot break through the boulders yet. Cut through vines with your map action as you continue along. A treasure chest to the right of the path contains a Life Bottle. Further down, a treasure chest to the left of the path contains Battle Boots. Continue past the boulders blocking the side paths. Ignore the vines to the left in favor of moving forward to pick some Chamomile. Beyond the herb gathering spot, the paths are blocked by more rocks. Backtrack and cut the vines you previously passed, and then continue following the only available path. Head to the 1 exit and leave the forest.

TIP

The skit To the Outside World is now available.

Welcome to Lakehaven Heights! Make use of the Save Point just ahead. As you continue along the path, you'll see roaming wolves and coiled snakes. Though they seem like wild animals, they're actually hellions! Your party members (in this case, Mikleo) will give you tips on how to battle a certain type of hellion the first time you encounter one.

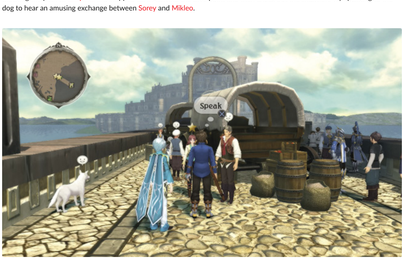
Snag a Life Bottle from the chest on the right of the path, and then check out the signage next to the path as it turns left. Right behind the sign is a rock that you can walk out on—do so for a nice view and a Discovery Point, "Natural Lookout Point". First Trip to the Land Below is the skit that goes with it. Make sure to check this out now, as the skit will become unavailable after you obtain more party members.

Cross the stream and examine the monolith on the other side. Following the path alongside the stream, Mikleo and Sorey discuss the map within the Celestial Record. You can now access the World Map by pressing R3 outside of battle.

TIP

The World Map is very useful. Here you can see the towns, dungeons, fields, Malevolent Crucibles, shops, and lores that you have already visited. You can even check information about creatures you've encountered in a particular area, or the current stock of a particular shop!

Blocking the path to Ladylake is a stopped cart. Activate the save point and then check out the situation. Try speaking to the dog to hear an amusing exchange between Sorey and Mikleo.



Speak to the girl with the star over her head. She introduces the caravan members as the Sparrowfeathers, a merchant guild, and the man next to her introduces himself as Eguille, the captain. The girl's name is Rose, and if you speak to her again shortly after (the option isn't available anymore after you walk away from the Sparrowfeathers), she'll offer to buy Alisha's Royal Knife for 1000 gald. There are a few different ways to solve a plot progression puzzle later on, and one of the options doesn't require you to sell anything. If you do sell something, you'll have a chance to get it back later in the game..

SELL THE ROYAL KNIFE?

Yes, sell the knife.

Rose will give you 1000 gald. You'll have to do an errand for the Sparrowfeatherslater in order to get the knife back.

No, don't sell the knife.

You'll have another chance to sell the Sparrowfeathers something later, if you decide to do so.

Walk away from the caravan to overhear an interesting tidbit: Alisha is actually a princess! Sounds like she made it back to the city alive, but the hellion could still be on her trail. Speak with the knight to the left of the cart to do your entrance paperwork. While you're talking, the cart gets fixed up and clears the way. The Sparrowfeathers head on in, and Sorey and Mikleo are free to enter the city.

TIP

Before you enter Ladylake, head South and cross the bridge there. Just after the bridge, turn right and head up the hill. There is a Discovery Pointhere, "Beautiful Butterfly". If you are here with just Mikleo, a skit is available. You can come back later if you don't want to go out of your way, but the skit is available while your party is only Sorey and Mikleo.

After the initial awe at the size and density of the bustling city, Sorey and Mikleo decide to search around town for clues about where they can find Alisha. Backtrack toward the entrance before beginning your exploration. Next to the gate is a small area with a treasure chest which holds an Apple Gel.

Explore the city as much as you'd like. The shop is closed for now, but you can enter the Shaorune Inn and activate the save point there. Stop at the waterwheel and examine it to unlock a Discovery Point and its accompanying skit, and then do the same at the entrance of the Lady of the Lake Sanctuary. These skits are only available while your party is only Sorey and Mikleo. As you walk around, you'll overhear the townspeople chatting and gossiping. Pay attention to their comments and use them to guide you.

They'll tip you off to new side quests and difficult optional [illegible].

HEAD TO ANY OF THE STARS ON THE MAP TO FURTHER YOUR INVESTIGATION.

In the alley next to the inn, a merchant is selling his wares.

A hellion that looks like a goblin lingers behind the merchant, but since normal people can't see hellions, there's nothing Sorey and Mikleo can do in such a crowded area.

An elderly man and a young boy are standing near the market.

When you approach them, you overhear the old man chastising the boy for stealing and telling him that it's wrong. The boy, unfortunately, pays no heed and runs off after insulting him.

You can continue following this story by going to the star in the alley toward the lower part of town. There, the boy is alone. When Sorey speaks with him, the boy's hellion form is revealed—the same goblin-looking hellion that you spotted earlier near the inn! He laughs and says that Mikleo looks tasty, so Sorey and Mikleo beat a hasty retreat. You cannot confront the boy/hellion again, so continue on and forget about him.

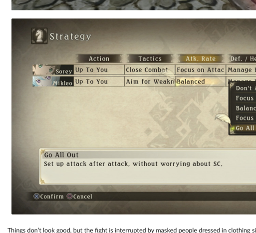
At the area to the left of the market, a small crowd has formed.

Onlookers are cheering and goading two tiger-like hellions that are fighting. Presumably, like the boy, these also seem like normal people to the rest of Ladylake's populace. However, Sorey and Mikleo can see that they've been corrupted and turned into hellions. They decide it's best not to get too close.

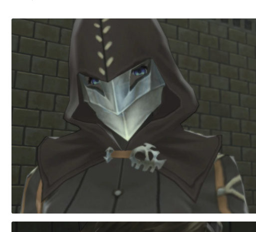
In the Noble's District, there is a star in front of Alisha's House. If you choose to go directly there and ignore the starred scenarios throughout the rest of the city, the other scenes will no longer be available after you trigger the one at her house.

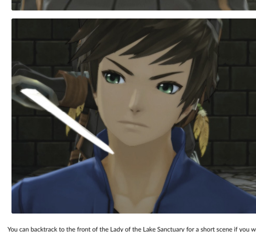
As you enter the Noble's District, immediately look to the right and collect Saffron from the gathering point. Head down the first path to the left to get to Alisha's house. A dog growls and barks at something as you approach. Enter the yard to see the dog from the caravan barking at the fox-like hellion you encountered in Elysia. The dog chases the fleeing hellion, and the hunt is on.

Follow the dog back into the central district. It manages to corner the hellion in an alley near the Sanctuary. If you let the dog out of your sight for too long, it will prove to be no match for the hellion on its own, so follow it closely! Prepare yourself for another battle, except this time the hellion is slightly stronger than before. Whittle down the fox-like hellion's health. This time around he has almost twice as much HP, so it will take a little longer than the previous battle. Luckily, he's still weak against water, so create some openings for Mikleo to rack up the damage by stunning your foe with martial artes and commanding Mikleo to attack. It's also a good idea to set Mikleo's strategy options to "Aim for Weakness" (Tactics) and "Go All Out" (Atk. Rate) for this specific battle. Once you manage to get his hit points low enough, the wily hellion will turn the tables, attacking Sorey and Mikleo with his flames.

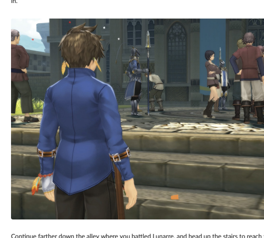


Things don't look good, but the fight is interrupted by masked people dressed in clothing similar to the hellion's outfit. They hold both Sorey and the hellion at knifepoint, and the leader addresses the hellion as "Lunarre," a subordinate of what is apparently an assassins' guild. The interlopers subdue the hellion and drag him away. As they leave, one of the masked assassins tells Sorey, "The assassination order was a mistake. Princess Alisha will no longer be our target." Sorey doesn't quite trust them, but he does take their advice to heart when they suggest he hurry to the pedestal where the Sacred Blade is kept if he's really worried about Alisha.





You can backtrack to the front of the Lady of the Lake Sanctuary for a short scene if you wish, but the guards won't let you in.



Continue farther down the alley where you battled Lunarre, and head up the stairs to reach the back entrance of the sanctuary. A member of the Sparrowfeathers is granted access since he's part of the festival staff, but Sorey is turned away for not having the proper clearance. There are two ways for you to enter the sanctuary:

CONVINCE THE GUARD.

Speak to the guard and show him Alisha's Royal Knife.

He will let you in after seeing that you have such an important token from Princess Alisha, but you must enter weaponless.

Ask the Sparrowfeathers merchant to help you bribe the guard.

Speak to Rose and Ayn Taffryn on the nearby landing. They offer to get you in… for the price of 1000 gald. Unfortunately, the town shop isn't open yet, so if you didn't sell them the Royal Knife earlier, there's no other way to get gald at this point in the game. If you select to think it over, you can still go to the guard and show him the Royal Knife. Otherwise, of the four items listed, you can only sell two to the Sparrowfeathers.

Your options are to sell:

- Gramps' Pipe - Rose recognizes that it's worth a lot of money, and promises the settle up later since she doesn't have enough on her to properly pay for it—later, you'll get the Fashion accessory "Ten Gallon Hat". In the meantime you'll earn 500 gald. You can eventually buy the pipe back later in the game.
- Royal Knife - They accept this for 1000 gald, and you will need to complete an errand for the Sparrowfeathers later to get it back. You'll also earn 500 gald.

The merchant greases the guard's palm, and you're in! You have to leave your weapons with the guard. Luckily, there's already a perfectly good sword inside the sanctuary.

Head inside. It's pretty crowded, but since no one can see Mikleo, the seraph takes a nice front-row spot for himself. You can go down the steps to move toward Alisha yourself, or step out by Mikleo to be spotted by the princess. She'll introduce you to Lady Maltran, and Sorey will explain that Alisha is being targeted by assassins. Alisha firms her resolve to continue fulfilling her duties as a princess and a knight of Hyland, and Sorey and Mikleo are impressed by her bravery.

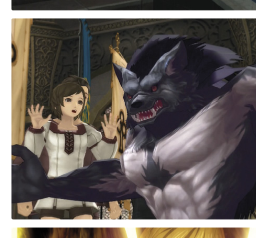
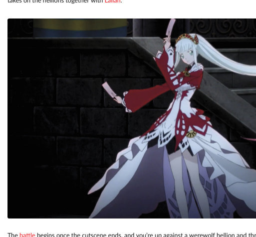
Head back into the main room to see a lady seraph lying in front of the pedestal. Maltran introduces Alisha to the crowd, and the princess gives a speech. They light the sacred flame and ask for the Lady of the Lake's blessing.

Angry townspeople start a riot within the sanctuary, and the guards use force, making the situation worse. The malevolence causes people to turn into hellions, and Sorey and Mikleo ask the Lady of the Lake to help them purify the hellions. Fires spread inside the sanctuary, and Mikleo starts putting out the normal flames, but he's unable to douse the flames tainted by malevolence. During the commotion, Alisha hears Sorey speaking to the seraphs and realizes that he can communicate with them—and that they really do exist.



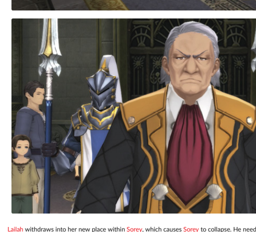
The Lady of the Lake, Lailah, explains that the power of purification is not hers to use as she wishes. It is tied to the sacred blade that houses her soul. She warns Sorey that taking up her sword means taking on the mantle of the Shepherd and becoming her vessel. It is a great burden, and is not a decision to make lightly because of the weight of the responsibility involved. He tells her that his dream is for humans and seraphim to coexist peacefully, which is why he will gladly become the Shepherd. Smiling, Lailah forms a pact with Sorey, and Sorey removes the sword from the pedestal.

Pact in place, Lailah can now purify the malevolence-tainted fires. Mikleo continues his work with the regular fires, and Sorey takes on the hellions together with Lailah.

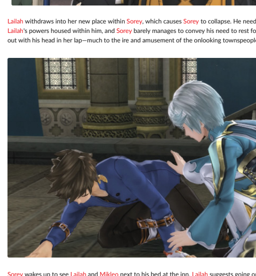


The battle begins once the cutscene ends, and you're up against a werewolf hellion and three hellion oozes. Lailah tells Sorey to focus on the werewolf; the hellion is weak against artes, so attack liberally. Use Sorey to attack the werewolf while Lailah keeps the oozes at bay, using the Battle Command "Spread Out" or the Strategy Action "Split Up and Attack." Whether Sorey defeats the werewolf or Lailah defeats the oozes first, come together to finish off the last of the hellions.

Sorey and Lailah purify the sacred flame, and the man who became a Werewolf Hellion is restored to his normal human form. Chancellor Bartlow enters, intending to gloat at Alisha's failure to keep her festival riot-free, but Alisha proudly declares that the trouble has been quelled thanks to the new Shepherd. The tip of the political iceberg rears its ugly head.



Lailah withdraws into her new place within Sorey, which causes Sorey to collapse. He needs to sleep for three days to adjust to Lailah's powers housed within him, and Sorey barely manages to convey his need to rest for three days to Alisha before passing out with his head in her lap—much to the ire and amusement of the onlooking townspeople.



Sorey wakes up to see Lailah and Mikleo next to his bed at the inn. Lailah suggests going on a walk through the town. The innkeeper promises Sorey a free meal upon his return as the group heads out. Sorey gains the title "Shepherd".

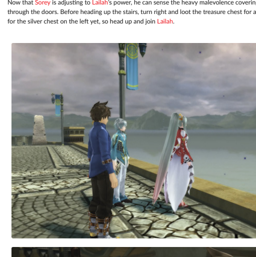
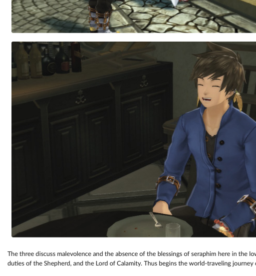
Now that Sorey is adjusting to Lailah's power, he can sense the heavy malevolence covering the town. Follow Lailah and head through the doors. Before heading up the stairs, turn right and loot the treasure chest for an Amber Staff. You don't have a key for the silver chest on the left yet, so head up and join Lailah.





The three discuss malevolence and the absence of the blessings of seraphim here in the lower world. Then, Lailah speaks of the duties of the Shepherd, and the Lord of Calamity. Thus begins the world-traveling journey of the Shepherd!

Before you head back to the inn, explore the plaza to the left and inspect the Monolith there to learn about Seraphic Artes. In the far corner, gather some Chamomile. You'll find a copper chest near the stairs, but since you lack a key for this chest too, ignore it for now. Then, head back to the Central District. Sorey asks Lailah about the previous Shepherd, but Lailah took an oath to gain the power of Purification, so there are certain things she cannot talk about. This is the beginning of Lailah's many paper-thin topic changes to avoid sensitive subjects, so you'd better get used to it!

Head back to the inn and speak to the landlord. He serves Sorey a delicious hot meal for free, and then gives him some items from Alisha: his belongings, his sword that was confiscated outside the sanctuary, a letter, and a new outfit based on the traditional garb of Shepherds. Sorey tries on his new clothes and reads the letter from Alisha before deciding that he needs to thank her in person.

> TIP
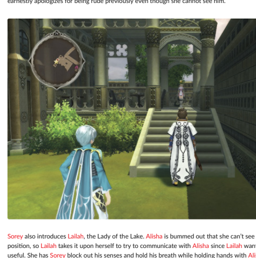
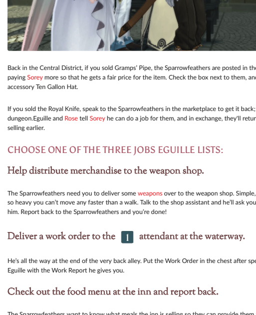
>
> You can now access [illegible]'s shop! Buy new [illegible] and supplies, and sell or fuse your unwanted gear. The inn is also available now—you won't need the healing at the moment, but you can take advantage of the inn meals and their [illegible] benefits, or catch some inn skits.

Check out "Shops & Inns" in the Data section for more information. Head to Alisha's home in the Noble's District. The guard on duty tells Sorey that Alisha is on the terrace. Head in and up the stairs on the right to speak to the princess. Alisha overhears Sorey's half of some bantering with Mikleo and asks if there are seraphim there with them. Sorey introduces Mikleo, and Alisha earnestly apologizes for being rude previously even though she cannot see him.



Sorey also introduces Lailah, the Lady of the Lake. Alisha is bummed out that she can't see them, and she feels powerless in her position, so Lailah takes it upon herself to try to communicate with Alisha since Lailah wants to tell her she's important and useful. She has Sorey block out his senses and hold his breath while holding hands with Alisha, and is able to let Alisha hear both Lailah and Mikleo's voices through Sorey. Lailah tells Alisha that as he grows in power, he'll be able to help seraphim and humans communicate, for those humans who have resonance. With both parties energized, Sorey and the seraphs set off.



Back in the Central District, if you sold Gramps' Pipe, the Sparrowfeathers are posted in the marketplace and they will insist on paying Sorey more so that he gets a fair price for the item. Check the box next to them, and you'll acquire the fashion accessory Ten Gallon Hat.

If you sold the Royal Knife, speak to the Sparrowfeathers in the marketplace to get it back; you'll need it in the next dungeon. Eguille and Rose tell Sorey he can do a job for them, and in exchange, they'll return the knife he probably regrets selling earlier.

CHOOSE ONE OF THE THREE JOBS EGUILLE LISTS:

Help distribute merchandise to the weapon shop.

The Sparrowfeathers need you to deliver some weapons over to the weapon shop. Simple, right? Except that the weapons are so heavy you can't move any faster than a walk. Talk to the shop assistant and he'll ask you to put them in the chest next to him. Report back to the Sparrowfeathers and you're done!

Deliver a work order to the 1 attendant at the waterway.

He's all the way at the end of the very back alley. Put the Work Order in the waterway after speaking to him, and then return to Eguille with the Work Report he gives you.

Check out the food menu at the inn and report back.

The Sparrowfeathers want to know what meals the inn is selling so they can provide them with the merchandise. Talk to the inn keeper and he'll tell you the menu. Memorize the menu, and when you talk to the Sparrowfeathers again, click on the correct dishes:

1. Salmon Rice Ball
2. Doria
3. Pot au Feu
4. Cabbage Roll
5. Miso Stew

Once you're ready, head back to the area where you had your discussion with Lailah. Here you'll meet your first 2 Turtley! These little dudes are great at mapping out areas, so if you have a chance to buy the Adventure Map from a Turtley, make sure you do!

After buying the map, head down past the Turtley and talk to the 3 worker with the star above his head. A group of men think their coworker might still be down in the waterway somewhere. Looks like it's time for a rescue mission! Head to the star on the map to enter the underground waterway.

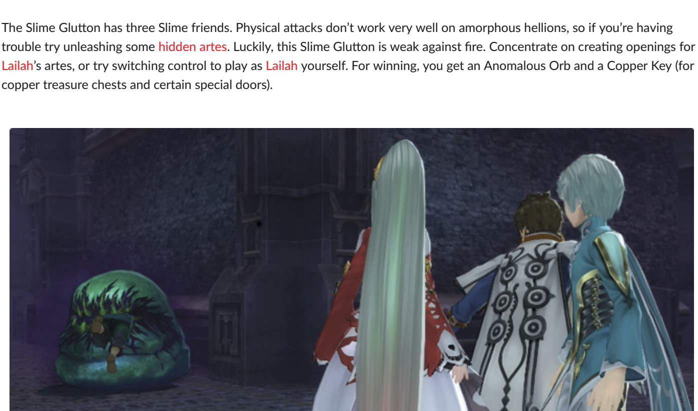
First, activate the save point to the right upon entering the Aqueduct. Then, head down the stairs to the star. A slime hellion appears to be eating a human, and Sorey warns Mikleo to stay back. Mikleo isn't fond of being treated like he's helpless, but this battle is just Sorey and Lailah.

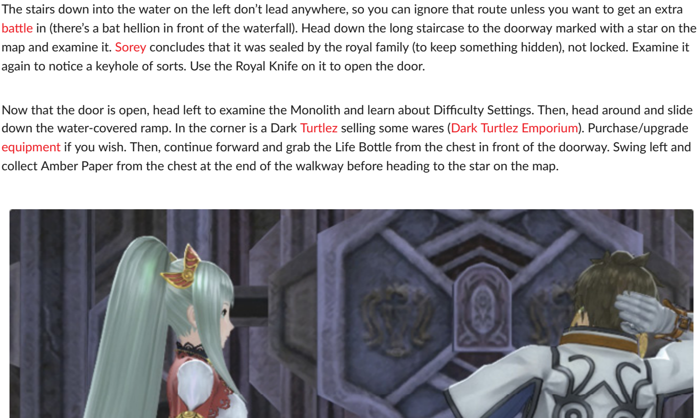
The Slime Glutton has three Slime friends. Physical attacks don't work very well on amorphous hellions, so if you're having trouble try unleashing some hidden artes. Luckily, this Slime Glutton is weak against fire. Concentrate on creating openings for Lailah's artes, or try switching control to play as Lailah yourself. For winning, you get an Anomalous Orb and a Copper Key (for copper treasure chests and certain special doors).



The worker regains consciousness and thanks Sorey for his help before returning to Ladylake on his own. Mikleo is angry that he's not being allowed to fight, and Lailah explains that the only way for Mikleo to gain the power of purification is to form a contract with her and become a sub-lord. Sorey thinks Mikleo isn't thinking about his own personal dreams, and is against the water seraph becoming a sub-lord. They're both stubborn and refuse to budge, so Mikleo takes off, saying he'll wait for Sorey back at the inn.

The stairs down into the water on the left don't lead anywhere, so you can ignore that route unless you want to get an extra battle in (there's a bat hellion in front of the waterfall). Head down the long staircase to the doorway marked with a star on the map and examine it. Sorey concludes that it was sealed by the royal family (to keep something hidden), not locked. Examine it again to notice a keyhole of sorts. Use the Royal Knife on it to open the door.

Now that the door is open, head left to examine the Monolith and learn about Difficulty Settings. Then, head around and slide down the water-covered ramp. In the corner is a Dark Turtlez selling some wares (Dark Turtlez Emporium). Purchase/upgrade equipment if you wish. Then, continue forward and grab the Life Bottle from the chest in front of the doorway. Swing left and collect Amber Paper from the chest at the end of the walkway before heading to the star on the map.



Follow Lailah up to the monument and speak to her again. She explains the significance of the altar and why it's important for Sorey to discover certain things on his own through the progression of his journey as a Shepherd.

Lailah takes a jewel from the altar and hands it to Sorey. This gem is an Earthen Historia. It stores a memory within it, but strangely, Sorey says he cannot see anything when he looks at it.

Before leaving, take a moment to check the Discovery Point, "Altar of the Sacred Blade" (if you did this before talking to Lailah, go back up and you will be able to access a skit now that she is back in your party: The Sacred Blade Altar).

Head back, but hang a left instead of going through the door where you entered (you can't get back up that water-covered ramp anyway). Approach and examine the door marked with the star. It's sealed! Only one wielding the Silver Flame can open it, and in the past, hopeful Shepherds were stuck down there if they were not able to make a contract with the seraph bound to the Sacred Blade.

> MAP ACTION
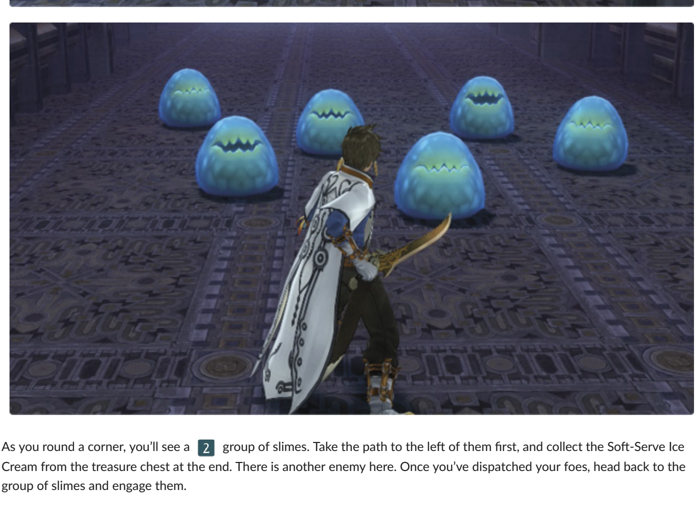
>
> Silver Flame: Press (↑) to cast Silver Flame. This fire will cleanse malevolence-tainted webs, light torches, and allow you to begin battles with an advantage against hellions that are weak to fire if you use it to initiate battle.

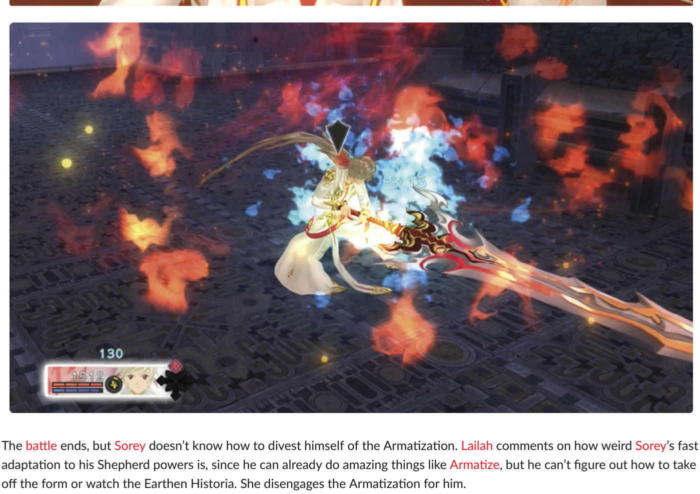
You now have access to the map action Silver Flame. Face the 1 torch pedestal to the right of the door and press (↑) to light it and unlock the door.

Head through the open doorway and up the stairs. Take a right when a side path opens up. In front of two treasure chests is an enemy. Defeat the hellions and then collect two Apple Gels from the treasure chest and an Amber Tiara from the bronze treasure chest. Then, continue on the path.



As you round a corner, you'll see a 2 group of slimes. Take the path to the left of them first, and collect the Soft-Serve Ice Cream from the treasure chest at the end. There is another enemy here. Once you've dispatched your foes, head back to the group of slimes and engage them.

You're quickly surrounded by even more slimes. They're not particularly tough, but make sure to maneuver around them so that you don't get caught by a conga line of staggering attacks. Fight your way through them (they'll keep spawning) until Lailah tells Sorey that now is the time to use a new power. She speaks her true name and tells Sorey to use it to trigger a new power. Follow the tutorial directions and press L1 to Armatize. Sorey gets a fiery new look and is able to wield the Sacred Blade while in this fused form. Demolish the slimes—they're no match for the power you now wield.



The battle ends, but Sorey doesn't know how to divest himself of the Armatization. Lailah comments on how weird Sorey's fast adaptation to his Shepherd powers is, since he can already do amazing things like Armatize, but he can't figure out how to take off the form or watch the Earthen Historia. She disengages the Armatization for him.

Head up the stairs and past the stairs to the right to examine a Monolith about Armatization. Then, backtrack and climb the next set of stairs. In the corner of the room at the top of the stairs is another Monolith, this one about Weaknesses and Resistances. In the opposite corner of the room is a bronze chest containing a Void Ring. Light the two torches to open the way forward. Head right (to the left is a door that you cannot open yet) and pick up the Sage next to the 3 ladder before letting the ladder down and descending. Turn left and ascend the stairs to reach the exit.

Sorey thinks that Mikleo probably went off by himself to investigate a nearby ruin. Lailah panics, thinking of the danger, but Sorey assures here that Mikleo wouldn't put himself in unnecessary danger, and decides that first he needs to return Alisha's royal knife and they'll keep an eye out for Mikleo along the way. Mikleo ducks out of sight once they start moving; presumably he was listening to their conversation. The worker Sorey saved and a group of his coworkers all thank Sorey as you head back to the Central District.

Return The Royal Knife

Head to Alisha's house in the Noble's District. Lady/Knight Maltran is there speaking with Alisha, and Lailah is a little unnerved that Maltran seems to be able to see her. Follow Alisha to the terrace to continue speaking with her. Sorey returns the Royal Knife to Alisha. Alisha can now hear Lailah when she's inside Sorey and they're holding hands due to the increase in his powers. Lailah tells them about how humans and seraphs would work together to bless lands and keep the malevolence at bay, but now there is no seraph to bless the area. Sorey and Alisha's next tasks are to find a seraph to bless the area, something pure to enshrine for the blessing, and humans to support the seraph with their prayers and devotion. Alisha has an idea of who the human should be; a priest named Breunor. The two set off, and Lailah secretly leaves a letter on the table in Alisha's terrace.

Head to the sanctuary to catch up with Alisha and speak to her. It seems Father Breunor is out somewhere in the town. She also tells Sorey and Lailah about a water source in the Galahad Ruins that is said to be incredibly pure and is probably free of malevolence—except that lately that area has been unsafe because of beast attacks, probably hellions. Alisha asks to join them, and agrees to join as Sorey's Squire. Lailah guides them in the process, and Sorey gives Alisha a true name in the ancient tongue. They set off together, and Lailah once again leaves a letter behind. As she does, you get a glimpse of Mikleo watching them through a sanctuary window.

In the Fashion menu, you can equip cosmetic items that you have collected to customize your team. Keep an eye out for these special items in treasure chests or through main and sub events, and make sure your party always looks sharp! You can also purchase special cosmetic items by checking out the game's Downloadable Content available through the PlayStation®Store or STEAM®. Once purchased and downloaded, check the Downloadable Content section of your Items inventory to turn your DLC into in-game items.

Leave the city and take a right. Cross the bridge and go up the hill, but hang a right and make almost a u-turn to reach a treasure chest containing Sunglasses. Activate the save point at the abandoned town, and then continue down and to the left. Activate another save point at the river, then cross it and check the Monolith for information about Elements and Status. Continue following the path, but avoid the purple and yellow boss hellion roaming the hillside. Along the way, among a cluster of three rocks, is some Sage. Activate the save point at the Entrance to Galahad Ruins and save before heading into the dungeon.

Use Silver Flame to clear the webs of malevolence. Dead ahead is a Monolith about Weaknesses and Resistances.

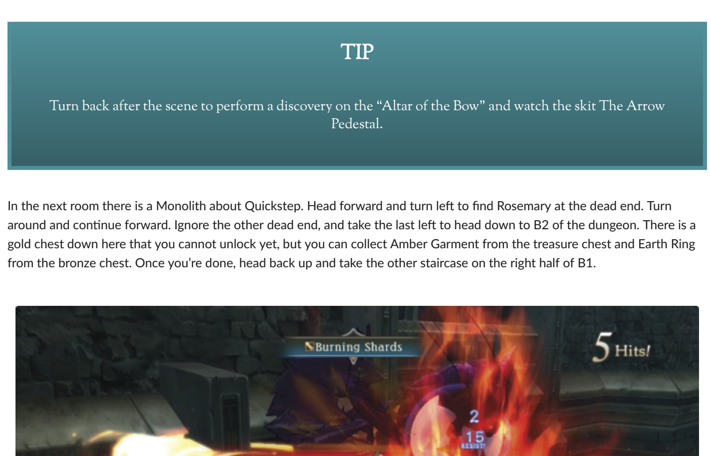
Explore the right branch first to discover a Monolith about Targeting and a Mango Sorbet in a treasure chest. Then, head back and take the left branch. After you turn the corner, go straight to the chest at the end of the hall for a Life Bottle before backtracking and heading to the star.

A beautiful bow is on display in the middle of the room, and Lailah identifies it as a Divine Artifact. These are what are required for seraphs who wish to make Sub Lord contracts. They must also be of the correct elements; the bow is a Divine Artifact of water, like Mikleo is a seraph of water. Sorey wants to move on and Lailah explains to Alisha that Sorey doesn't want Mikleo to become a Sub Lord. Alisha is confused, and compares it to her desire to become a Squire, but Sorey doesn't think that Mikleo wants to become a Sub Lord to fulfil his own dreams—Sorey doesn't want Mikleo to be tied to that for Sorey's sake. They move on, and you get a glimpse of Mikleo following the group. Mikleo reaches out to the bow...

TIP

Turn back after the scene to perform a discovery on the "Altar of the Bow" and watch the skit The Arrow Pedestal.

In the next room there is a Monolith about Quickstep. Head forward and turn left to find Rosemary at the dead end. Turn around and continue forward. Ignore the other dead end, and take the last left to head down to B2 of the dungeon. There is a gold chest down here that you cannot unlock yet, but you can collect Amber Garment from the treasure chest and Earth Ring from the bronze chest. Once you're done, head back up and take the other staircase on the right half of B1.



Back down on B2, head forward to the bronze doors and open them. The chest at the back of this little area holds an Apple Gel. Backtrack and continue heading toward the star. Activate the save point, but don't approach the star just yet—continue forward and around the corner to collect Saffron at the dead end. Now, save if you wish and head to the star for a battle.

You begin Armatized and facing three Giant Centipedes, but Lailah's element isn't very effective against these hellions. Beat 'em up and a cutscene will interrupt with more of the same hellions swarming the group. Then, from behind them, Mikleo casts Twin Flow. They're weak against water! Mikleo is carrying the bow Divine Artifact and immediately asks Lailah to form a Sub Lord contract. Sorey is still against it, but Mikleo tells Sorey he doesn't understand Mikleo's feelings—Mikleo shares Sorey's dream of a future where humans and seraphim live in harmony. Alisha can now hear Mikleo and tells Sorey to hurry up and answer his friend as she holds off the encroaching hellions. Sorey finally relents and the two young men reaffirm their friendship. Lailah performs the rite (or a shortened version of it, since they don't have time) and the seraphs retreat into Sorey and out of harm's way in the nick of time.

Now, back to battle! Press L1 to Armatize with Mikleo and get a new form, complete with a shiny new bow weapon (which Mikleo will auto-aim at your selected target). Unleash several water attacks and finish off the hellions. Sorey is now able to de-armatize at will, and Alisha can now see and hear Lailah and Mikleo. Unfortunately, Sorey isn't looking so hot. Mikleo earns a new title: "Sub Lord Friend".

Take some time to set artes and titles if you wish. Then, head forward and take the right path to check out a Dropped Items Monolith and to open a chest with an Amber Circlet in it. Backtrack and explore the left path for a chest with Devil Wings, and then head to the star to check out the I waterfall.

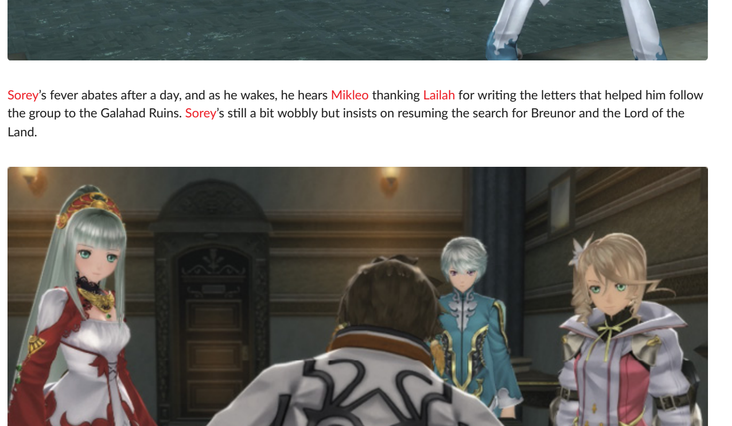
Lailah confirms the water isn't tainted, and asks Mikleo to freeze some of the water for them to take back. Just after he does so, the Earthen Historia suddenly shines and plays its memory. It is of someone writing the Celestial Record. Lailah tells them that there are many Earthen Historias scattered throughout the land, and Sorey gets excited before collapsing with a fever (due to the new contract with Mikleo, and the powers that came with it). Lailah suggests resting at the inn.

Save when the game prompts you to do so.

Sorey's fever abates after a day, and as he wakes, he hears Mikleo thanking Lailah for writing the letters that helped him follow the group to the Galahad Ruins. Sorey's still a bit wobbly but insists on resuming the search for Breunor and the Lord of the Land.

Search For Father Breunor

LADYLAKE, THE AQUAPOLIS



Let's do this one first since it's in town. Head to the star in the alley that loops around behind the inn. Father Breunor is there, speaking with a townsperson. She insists on paying the church for his guidance, and he tries not to accept it, but she insists to quell unsavory rumors of her relationship with Father Breunor.

Alisha introduces Sorey, who gets down on his knees and asks Father Breunor to help them keep Ladylake safe by leading the townspeople in support of the seraphs. Father Breunor kneels and readily agrees, and Alisha also kneels to request for his aid. He'll be waiting in the sanctuary.

Get ready for battle!

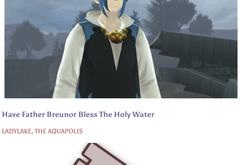
Resistance

Orobonno is resistant to Earth and Wind, but you have neither of those powers yet, so just focus on using what you do have. Armatized water mortal arts can keep it off balance while Lailah and Alisha attack, but both fire and water Armatized attacks do equal amounts of damage. Orobonno attacks are mainly close range, so have the seraphim attack from a distance with their seraphic arms. For a more tactical approach, control either Lailah or Mikleo yourself. Orobonno tends to focus attacks on one target, so if you get caught taking damage, switch to another character and have your previous character heighten defenses. Upon victory, you earn another Anomalus Orb and Windmaster Talisman Gale.

After the battle the hellion's purified form is revealed to be a seraph! Lailah explains what happens to seraphim that become corrupted by malevolence: eventually they turn into dragons. The seraph, Uno, is horrified that he became a hellion and destroyed a bridge. Sorey asks him to become Ladybake's Lord of the Lake, but the seraph is reluctant because of the strong malevolence in the area. They overhear the joyous chatter of the workers and the knights, and Uno agrees to give it a shot, commending Lailah on her choice of Shepherd. Alisha urges the group to return to Father Breunor, and as the scene ends, you see a spy listening in, dressed in clothes similar to that of the Hyland politicians.



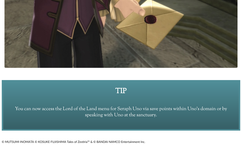
Have Father Breunor Bless The Holy Water

LADYLAKE, THE AQUAPOLIS

Head back to the Lady of the Lake Sanctuary. Activate the save point and speak with Father Breunor. Lailah will melt the ice, and Father Breunor will exclaim that it's like a miracle. He cannot see the seraphs, but he earnestly pledges to protect the water and continue to pray to Seraph Uno for his blessing. Seraph Uno blesses the land, and notices that there is still a very strong malevolent presence within his new domain.

They are interrupted by the spy from earlier who mocks them for talking to thin air. He extends an invitation to Sorey from Chancellor Barthlas. Sidling him to come meet for a discussion regarding the well-being of Ladybake. Sorey agrees to go to Rounsfahl Palace, but Alisha is worried about dragging him into Hyland's dirty politics.

With the blessing of Ladylake now restored, Alisha receives the costume "The Pride of a Knight: Alt. Color".



TIP

You can now access the Lord of the Land menu for Seraph Uno via save points within Uno's domain or by speaking with Uno at the sanctuary.

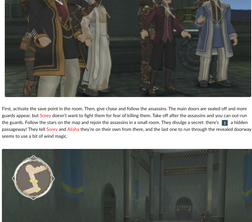
Activate the save point, check out the bookshelf next to Mikleo for the "Rountabel Palace Bookshelves" discovery point and a cute skit, and then speak to each of your party members. Finally, speak to the guard at the door. Sorey is called for his audience, but Alisha is held back for a separate meeting about a different matter. Follow the guard and enter the hall where Bartlow is waiting.

The big shots are all gathered. They are suspicious of the friendship between Sorey and Alisha, and want to find out if they're plotting something together. The council members threaten to denounce Sorey as a fake Shepherd if he doesn't become their puppet. They also try to bribe him, and also threaten Alisha. Sorey refuses, Alisha barges in, but Bartlow orders the guards to stop them before they can leave.



Fight all of the Chancellor's Pawns that continue to spawn. The seraphs will comment on how strong Sorey has become—regular humans are no longer a match for him.

Alisha warns Bartlow not to bother the Shepherd anymore, but all the council members can think of is how screwed Hyland would be if he helped Rolancia against Hyland. The window blows open, and the assassin/ guild Scattered Bones enters the room. Apparently, Bartlow had hired the assassins to kill Alisha, but the guild has their own pride and decided that the job was so low they would fulfill Alisha's pleads for them not to kill Bartlow; terrible as he is, because Hyland still needs him. The guild is impressed and leaves Bartlow and the others with a warning and some rough treatment. Bartlow calls for more guards, and the Scattered Bones tell Sorey and Alisha to follow them to escape.

First, activate the save point in the room. Then, give chase and follow the assassins. The main doors are sealed off and more guards appear, but Sumia doesn't want to fight them for fear of killing them. Take off after the assassins and you can run right through the guards. Follow the stairs on the map and rejoin the assassins in a small room. They divulge a secret there's [A] hidden passageway! They tell Sorey and Alisha they're on their own from there, and the last one to run through the revealed doorway seems to use a bit of wind magic.

Grab the Rosemary in the pot and then activate the door mechanism hidden in the water fountain without water flowing in it.

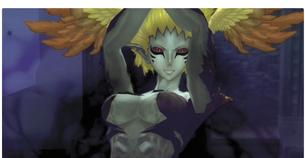
Even Alisha didn't realize there was a passageway leading into the Vivia Subterranean Aqueduct! Activate the save point and shop at the Dark Turtlez Emporium if you wish. Follow the left path to reach a Monolith. Head back and along the path to the right, stopping to get a Life Bottle from the open jail cell on the left of the path. Check the cell for a Discovery Point: "Ancient Underground Dungeon", and a skit: The Underground Dungeon. The two cells ahead contain Lavender (left) and a treasure chest holding Anthem Ribbon Tie (right). Follow the path to the left and pick up Verbena in the cell along the left, as well as a Monolith. The next cell holds a chest with an Apple Gel. The cell at the end of the walkway holds a chest with an Elven Crown. Continue exploring, but ignore the last cell on the right—it's empty. Head down the stairs until you reach the star.



A boss hellion! An Echidna, accompanied by three Lamia. Armatize and use water attacks to keep the hellions still while Alisha and Lailah lay in on the damage (make sure to hold off on your hidden artes if she starts to charge a seraphic artes), or just attack as Sorey and use a constant barrage of martial artes to interrupt her spells and capitalize on her weakness to physical attacks. Stay out of the way of her Screwdriver attacks when she winds up like a corkscrew to knock back everyone in her path. You get another Anomalous Orb for defeating her.

After the battle, Sorey realizes that they're in part of the Aqueduct ruins, and is excited that Ladylake was built over such an extensive old ruin.

Light the torch with Silver Flame before proceeding onward (if you forget to do this, you'll have to backtrack because the exit door won't open until you light both torches). When you reach a door, light the torch next to it and proceed through. Things should be getting familiar! Follow the path and drop down the ladder, and then head left to return to town. (The real question is, how did the Scattered Bones members make it out without using Silver Flame to open the door?)

As they exit, Sorey falters. They decide to head to the inn to rest. Alisha tells them she has decided to go to Marlind, the city decimated by a plague. Sorey decides they can all go together since Alisha will need their help to get there anyway. Alisha's title "Princess Disciple" levels up to "Patriotic Princess".

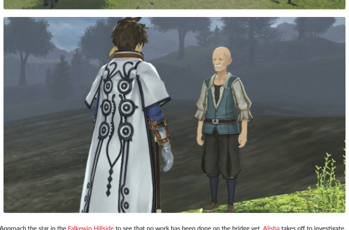
Griflet Bridge

Shop, eat, etc. if you wish. Then, head to the Griflet Bridge. You can't fast travel there right now since the save point is greyed out in the menu, so you'll have to travel on foot.



Approach the star in the Falkewin Hillside to see that no work has been done on the bridge yet. Alisha takes off to investigate. At the save point, the skit: Fixing the Bridge, becomes available. Head over to speak with the old man staring out at the river with a star above him. His name is Neif, a representative from Marlind. He's trying to get medical supplies back to Marlind, but the bridge is out. He asks Sorey to take the medicine over, but Lailah stops Sorey from agreeing. Neif apologizes for treating a Shepherd as a messenger, and thanks him and the seraphim. Sorey tells the man that he'll search for a solution. They decide to search for an earth seraph who can help them build a strong foundation for the bridge—they've been trying to fix it but the foundations for the columns keep getting washed away. Lailah mentions that an earth seraph is said to live on the Rayfalke Spiritcrest.

Speak to Alisha and Sorey will tell her the plan. Alisha decides to stay at the bridge to help those there. Sorey and Mikleo tell her to leave the rest to them, but as they finish talking, Neif approaches and warns them not to go to Spiritcrest because there is a legend of a dragon who lives there. They discuss the legend of the Eight Serpents, dragons who betrayed the seraphim. Sorey says they need to go, regardless, and thanks Neif for his advice.

Save if you wish, then head up the hill.

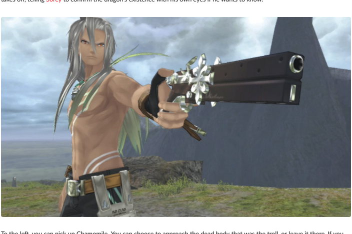
Enter: Zaveid and his spirit-shooting gun. He shoots himself in the head with it and a swell of wind magic power suddenly engulfs him. He shows off with a mystic arte, and then shoots the troll to kill it. Sorey, Mikleo, and Lailah are appalled that he killed the hellion. Zaveid approaches the now human body saying that death is a salvation too, for some. He tells Sorey that if he wants to save people, he'd better get powerful enough to win against strong hellions like the troll. He teases them and warns them about the dragon, saying that if they're not careful they'll be killed and eaten. He's surprised to hear that they haven't come to kill the dragon—apparently that is Zaveid's goal, although he decides that he's not ready to battle it yet. Instead, he's going to test Sorey.

Be careful—Zaveid's fast attacks can stun. If he gets in range to attack, block or dodge with a quickstep. Armatize and lay into him until a cutscene interrupts. He backs off, and Lailah agrees that there's no reason for seraphs to fight each other. Zaveid takes off, telling Sorey to confirm the dragon's existence with his own eyes if he wants to know.



To the left, you can pick up Chamomile. You can choose to approach the dead body that was the troll, or leave it there. If you approach it, Sorey will bury it and put a grave marker with stones over it. If you don't, you'll bury it later on your way down the mountain.

Continue up the path, ignoring the right branch. Around the curve, stop at the Monolith on the right to learn about Switching Seraphim. Continue your climb and activate the save point. Use it to save if you wish, and check out the skit: "The Mysterious Seraph". Keep going until you reach the star.

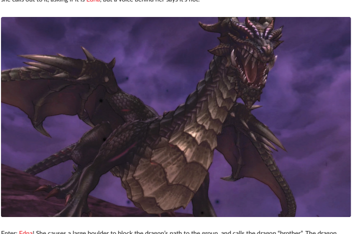
Suddenly, a strong domain appears. Lailah suggests they flee, but before they can, a dragon appears. Lailah wasn't sure if the legend was true, since there wasn't a dragon there the last time she travelled there. Distressed, she calls out to it, asking if it is Edna, but a voice behind her says it's not.



Enter: Edna! She causes a large boulder to block the dragon's path to the group, and calls the dragon "brother". The dragon breaks through, and Edna tells them to run. Don't bother trying to win the battle, just choose the Escape/Flee option and get the hell out of dodge.

Lailah embraces Edna happily, and Edna asks Sorey what he needs her for. Sorey asks her to lend her power to help rebuild the bridge. She refuses, saying she hates humans and that she can't leave her brother, Eizen, alone. Lailah explains that there's no known way to purify a dragon; you can only kill it. Sorey encourages Edna to move away from the mountain at least, for her safety, but she takes off.

Take a moment to check the Monolith to the right if you haven't already. Head down the path to see Edna staring at the grave Sorey dug. If you didn't dig the grave, you do so now and Edna approaches when it's done. She's moved, and after Sorey offers to help her search for a way to save Eizen, she finally relents and agrees to join the party. She makes the Sub Lord contract with Lailah, saying she hates humans, but not Sorey. However, he must promise to help her find a way to save Eizen. She also pulls out a Divine Artifact (gauntlet) and hands it over.

Head down the mountain to trigger a skit. Seems like Edna's going to keep the party pretty lively with her deadpan humor and merciless teasing.

The leader of the assassins' guild appears.

Lailah recognizes Dezel and mentions that he used to run with a mercenary group; she's surprised he's with a group of assassins now.

Defeat her in battle, or escape from the fray?

- If you defeat her, the wind seraph, Dezel, appears and spirits her safely away.
- If you flee, or are defeated, she collapses due to a negative impact from her makeshift bond with Dezel, a wind seraph who suddenly materializes and spirits her safely away.

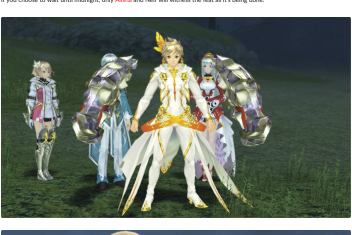
Continue onward to the next star once you are ready to leave this area behind for a while—once you progress the storyline at the bridge, you will be unable to return across the river until bridge repairs have been started. Speak with Neif, who will leave to call Alisha over. While he's doing so, you have a choice to make:

Will Sorey use his Shepherd powers in full view of all the onlookers?

If you choose to get started right away, most of the onlookers will be terrified at the display of inexplicable power.

Will he wait for the cover of night to create the new foundation for the bridge?

If you choose to wait until midnight, only Alisha and Neif will witness the feat as it's being done.



Either way, Neif will tactfully handle the situation, demonstrating a refreshing depth of understanding and gratitude, and offer to take on the task of overseeing bridge repairs so that Alisha can accompany Sorey to Marlind right away. He also gives Sorey a small amount of medicine, and earnestly professes his thanks multiple times.

Dispatch the two Hound Dogs that attack as you enter, and then explore the dark town and begin the cleansing process.

Before moving into the town proper, look behind you to see the ominous head of a Hell Hound hovering in the air just off the path. Burn away this malevolent effigy with a flash of Silver Flame.

Head to the Wontiga Inn, the first building on the right, and activate the save point within. Stay at the inn to trigger a skit about Fusion, in which Edna will learn how to use the Fusion support skill from Lailah.

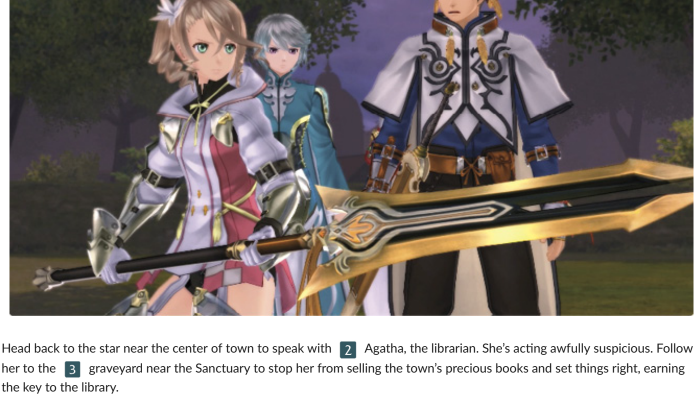
Outside the weaponsmith is a Monolith extolling the virtues of Fusion, entitled "When the Going Gets Tough". Take stock of your equipment and make any purchases or fuse your gear as needed.

Activate the Save Point (Near Southern Entrance) on the path, and take a right toward the Southern Entrance to burn away another Hell Hound head.

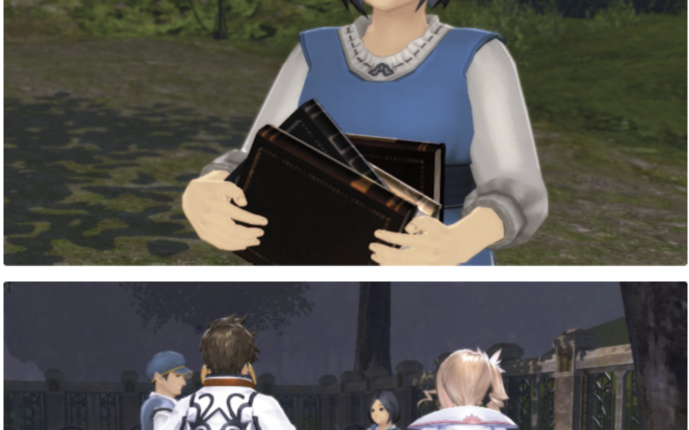
Head back and continue past the Save Point, but stop to climb the stairs on your right and buy a new map (Adventure Map: Town of the Woods) from the 1 Turtlez on the balcony.

The clearing at the end of the path contains another floating Hell Hound head, so take care of that before following the path left and heading to the Sanctuary. Inside the Sanctuary, Alisha and Sorey hand over the Plague Medicine they brought, and the situation seems grave. Leave the Sanctuary to see the dark form of a dragon-shaped hellion against the cloudy sky. It lands in the clearing by the Great Tree.

Head over to the star on the map. It seems that the Drake is feeding off of the city's malevolence. It catches sight of the party, and the group takes shelter in the Sanctuary. They form a plan of attack: first, weaken it by purifying the town's malevolence, and then find a way to bring it down from the sky.



Head back to the star near the center of town to speak with 2 Agatha, the librarian. She's acting awfully suspicious. Follow her to the 3 graveyard near the Sanctuary to stop her from selling the town's precious books and set things right, earning the key to the library.



You've already taken out three of the floating Hell Hounds, so move on to the remaining two. One hangs in the air at the northern part of the clearing around the Great Tree. The last hovers near the Dumnonia Museum. Once you're done purifying them with Silver Flame, activate the save point in front of the museum and head in.

This battle is tough, but with Edna's help you can bring the animated suit of armor to its knees. Use Edna's ranged attacks to his head to remove it, and you can begin boring down at 50 of the mantle scattered across the combined. Once found, mantle can be assigned to areas in order to increase the chances of item drops with their particular skills attached. This is very useful for fusing, so if you want to get the most out of your equipment, make sure to set mantles before farming for item drops.

Use Lailah's Taming Dragon are good choices). Also, the Drake uses a lot of powerful hidden arts that will leave you vulnerable if you're using your earthen arts, so always allow yourself the chance to guard or dodge.

After the battle, the purified Drake is restored to his former self. Seraph Rohan. The ashamed seraph agrees to become the area's Lord of the Land using the city's Great Tree as a vessel, but a powerful nearby hellion is preventing him from expanding the blessed domain. For now, rest at the inn and regain your strength.

After the battle, you'll be given the option to remain with Seraph Rohan. The ashamed seraph agrees to become the area's Lord of the Land using the city's Great Tree as a vessel, but a powerful nearby hellion is preventing him from expanding the blessed domain. For now, rest at the inn and regain your strength.

After the battle, the enemy is revealed to be... a normie? These cute little guys are very useful, and now that Rokki is back to his normal self, you can begin hunting down all 50 of the mantle scattered across the continent. After the battle, Alisha's Mercy "Lance Pierce", "Lance Feeder", and "Lance Duelist" increase in rank. Follow Rokki to the entrance of the museum as he recalls his sad story of becoming a hellion. He'll want to be left alone, so leave the museum for now. Edna tells you to go to the base of the great tree, where the party waits as she goes back to talk to Rokki alone.

After talking to Edna, Artak offers to help you purify the Drake. The weapon shop is closed for now, but the inn is open if you need to heal. Otherwise, head to the house at the edge of the large clearing. There, from the roof, Mikleo and Sorey smatter and take aim at the circling Drake. With Artak's power boost, the arrow strikes true and brings down the young dragon.

You've managed to bring it down, but now you've got to take it out. Unfortunately, this hellion is resistant to the elemental powers of your current seraphs, so this will be a tough battle. You begin the battle armatized with Mikleo, but you'll want to split up and use all armatization mainly for healing. Hitting foes with their resistance uses more of your SC and increases their chance to guard, so you'll want Edna and Sorey to lay in with their Non-Elemental artes (or better yet, Sorey's wind-martial arte Top-Tier) and right-trigger a Power Combo to negate its resistance. When it's in flight, try to knock it down. Use hitting artes and Power Combos to keep it grounded. Also, the Drake uses a lot of powerful hidden artes that will leave you vulnerable against seraph or dragon-type enemies, use those liberally (Sorey's Tribunk and Earth Dragon Fang, Alisha's Dragon Point, and Lailah's Taming Dragon are good choices). Also, the Drake uses a lot of powerful hidden artes that will leave you vulnerable if you're using your earthen artes, so always allow yourself the chance to guard or dodge.

After the battle, the purified Drake is restored to his former self. Seraph Rohan. The ashamed seraph agrees to become the area's Lord of the Land using the city's Great Tree as a vessel, but a powerful nearby hellion is preventing him from expanding the blessed domain. For now, rest at the inn and regain your strength.

Mercenaries For Hire

In the morning, the Spearwielhunters arrive in town, bringing with them the shipment of Plague Medicine from Nerf. Rosy passes on a message from Nerf about mercenaries who may be able to help Marlind while reinforcements are being gathered from the capital, and Sorey and Alisha decide to ask them to protect the city while they hunt down the nearby hellion.

Head over to the star on the map. The mercenaries just finished talking over of some hellionized wild dogs, and Sorey asks for their help. The leader, Lucas, sets a price of 5000 gald for the job. If you don't have enough, you can come back after selling some items. Once you agree to the price Lucas will accept the job and return 2500 gald. Now you can leave the city! Before leaving Marlind, check out the Great Tree--now that the Lord of the Land is restored, you can find the Discovery Point "Flowers of the Great Tree." You'll want to find it now while you can still catch the dirt.

TIP

Eavesdropping on Townsfolk: If you're looking for a new dungeon to explore, or when you want to take on a challenging boss hellion for some extra experience and gald, swing by a town and listen to what the locals are saying. They'll say you will to earn side quests and difficult optional battles.

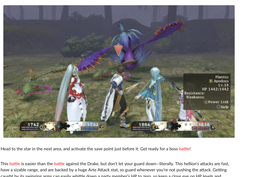
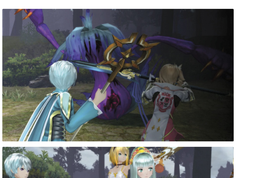
In the Eastern corner lies the remains of a building, which you can check for a Discovery Point("Husk of an Ancient Structure") and a skit. You can explore some of the other paths, but you'll have to come back again later once you have Edna's max action unlocked to clear the boulders. If you collect the treasure chest holding an Elixir, you'll catch a skit about the mysterious substance. That information might be useful in the future...



Head to the star in the next area, and activate the save point just before it. Get ready for a boss battle!

This battle is easier than the battle against the Drake, but don't let your guard down--literally. This hellion's attacks are fast, have a sizable range, and are backed by a huge Arte Attack stat, so guard whenever you're not pushing the attack. Getting caught by its swinging arms can easily whittle down a party member's HP to zero, so keep a close eye on HP levels and administer gels or restorative artes as needed. It's resistance to Water and Fire will make Edna the better sample to have in battle, but it is also weak to Non-Elemental artes and has extremely low Defense stats. As long as Alisha or Sorey consistently hit it with a Power Combo from their martial artes, the resistance shouldn't be too much of a problem.

Take out the smaller hellions first, as these little plants all feed power to the boss hellion through their Power Link. Focus on staying out of the way of the Evil Plantoam's attacks, and command your allies to spread out, minimizing the chances of more than one ally being attached by the boss before you've had a chance to defeat the smaller plants.



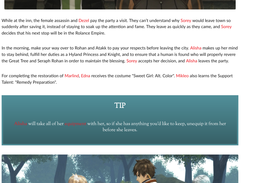
TIP

Hellion is afraid to part ways with Sorey, so this is your last chance to have her on the party for a very long time.

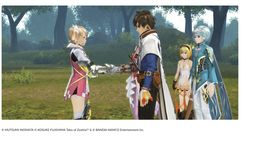
Once you defeat it, Sorey will turn to the rest of the party in relief, unable to see the hellion's final attack. Mikleo and Alisha move to protect Sorey, and are swatted aside by the Plantoam. Sorey armattizes with Lailah to deal the finishing blow, but Alisha was almost killed by the last attack. Armed with the knowledge that Sorey is physically suffering from her inadequacies as a Squire, Alisha doubts her place at Sorey's side.

Mikleo titles "Staff Wielder", "Water Master", and "Water Caster" increase in rank.

MARLIND, THE CITY OF THE GREAT TREE



Head back to the town and speak to Lucas again. Take some time to explore the town now that it's restored, and then rest at the inn once you're done collecting Items, checking out Discovery Points, and configuring Lord of the Land Menu options.



While at the inn, the female assassin and Dezel pay the party a visit. They can't understand why Sorey would leave town so suddenly after saving it. Instead of staying to soak up the attention and fame. They leave as quickly as they came, and Sorey decides that his next stop will be in the Rolance Empire.

In the morning, make your way over to Rohan and Atalik to pay your respects before leaving the city. Alisha makes up her mind to stay behind, fulfill her duties as a Hyland Princess and Knight, and to ensure that a human is found who will properly revere the Great Tree and Seraph Rohan in order to maintain the blessing. Sorey accepts her decision, and Alisha leaves the party.

For completing the restoration of Marlind, Edna receives the costume "Sweet Girl: Alt. Color", Mikleo also learns the Support Talent: "Remedy Preparation".

TIP

Alisha will take all of her accessories with her, so if she has anything you'd like to keep, unequip it from her before she leaves.

A Meeting On The Battlefield

MARLIND, THE CITY OF THE GREAT TREE

Make your way 1 toward the Southern Entrance as a rider approaches. The weary Hyland knight passes on a warning that the Rolance Empire has started a war! Rolance troops are attacking at the border. Sorey stealthily uses a restorative arte to give the messenger the strength to bring his warning back to Ladylake, and then heads back into town as the rider leaves.

At the news of war, Lucas and his men begin their preparations to offer their services to the Hyland troops. Approach 2 Lucas, and Sorey requests his help to evacuate the townspeople instead of sending his men to war.

Before speaking to him again, there are two purple stars available on the map. If you haven't approached them already, head first to the purple star to give 3 Neif the Key to the Library that you got from Agatha. This is also the start of the "Blue Valkyrie" Sub-Event, and you can now find the skit "Alisha and Maltran" at a save point.

Neif offers Sorey the Iris Gem that the village has. Collect it from the 4 sanctuary's dais.

Speak to either the 5 man near the Great Tree or the 6 group of kids in town to learn that there are "sparkling stones" in the Bors Ruins.

Head back to the Bors Ruins and collect the 7 Iris Gem there. It'll be next to the Discovery Point: "Husk of an Ancient Structure," marked by a purple star.

FALKEWIN HILLSIDE

Commander General Landon stops the crowd and calls out the Shepherd. He forces Sorey to fight for Hyland, using the threat of Alisha's execution to blackmail him into agreeing.

Before heading to the battlefield, speak with Rose, Eguille, Neif, and some of the Marlind townspeople. They give Sorey a pep talk and promise to go directly to Ladylake to petition for Alisha's release. You can head back across the bridge if there was anything you forgot to do in Rayfalke or Ladylake, or even in Elysia—Gramps won't be there, but you can chat with the other seraphim or rest at Sorey's House for free. Make sure you are satisfied before heading to Glaivend Basin, as there will be no coming back to the Hyland portion of the continent for quite some time once you head into battle.

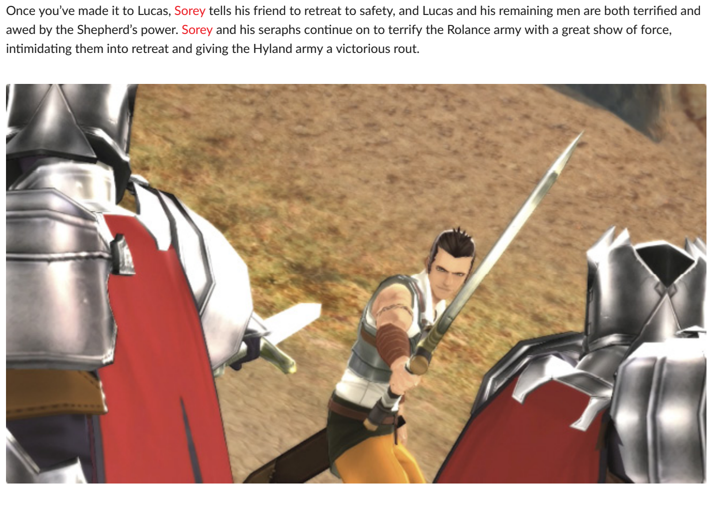
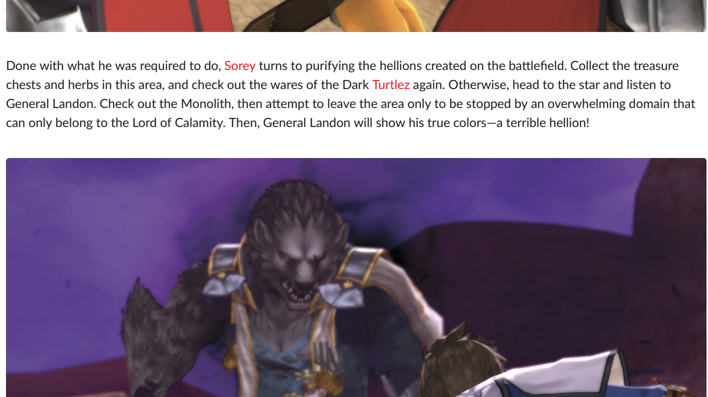
Head to the command tent to speak with General Landon. Then, head to the star to see what's happening with Lucas and his mercenaries—there is a Dark Turtlez right outside the camp if you need any last minute items or fusions. Things look dire, and Sorey wastes no time in heading out to save his friend.

You can take out the first couple waves easily enough, but the later waves may become overwhelming in numbers. Keep your guard up—the soldiers may have greater numbers, but their attacks are simple and easy to watch out for, and the pauses between attacks are fairly generous. When the crowd starts to become cumbersome, armatize with Mikleo to push them back and dole out quick damage to the whole lot if they're clustered together, or armatize with Lailah to beat back a wide swath of enemies if they're surrounding you.



Once you've made it to Lucas, Sorey tells his friend to retreat to safety, and Lucas and his remaining men are both terrified and awed by the Shepherd's power. Sorey and his seraphs continue on to terrify the Rolance army with a great show of force, intimidating them into retreat and giving the Hyland army a victorious rout.



Done with what he was required to do, Sorey turns to purifying the hellions created on the battlefield. Collect the treasure chests and herbs in this area, and check out the wares of the Dark Turtlez again. Otherwise, head to the star and listen to General Landon. Check out the Monolith, then attempt to leave the area only to be stopped by an overwhelming domain that can only belong to the Lord of Calamity. Then, General Landon will show his true colors—a terrible hellion!

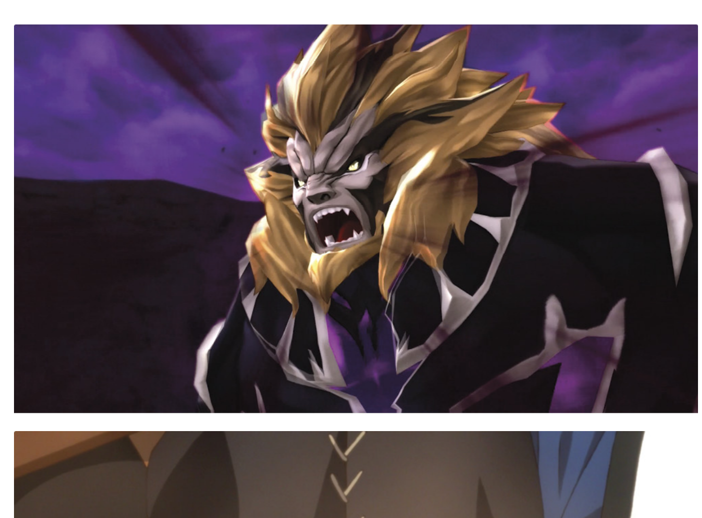
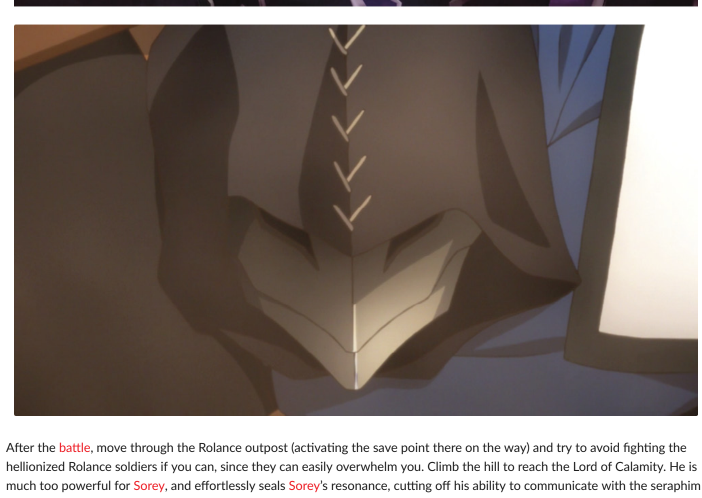
Keep an eye out for the enemy's attack indicators: he usually either performs a close slash or leaps up to bodyslam into the ground. The slash is easily interrupted, quick though it is—since it's a martial arte, use your hidden artes at this time to completely negate its damage. His bodyslam, a hidden arte, is more difficult to stop. You'll have to counter it with an attack that will knock him up into the air, or time a Quick Evade. Keep out of close range and you should be able to avoid most of his attacks. He is resistant to all of your seraphim's elements but weak to Non-Elemental artes, so when you go on the offense have Sorey start up a Power Combo to negate the resistance for your party members. Armatize if you are having trouble inflicting damage, and once you are halfway through his HP, a Mystic Arte tutorial will commence. In normal state, combo and then follow the on-screen button directions to unleash Sorey's first Mystic Arte. As soon as you're successful, the battle will resume. Keep using Sorey's physical attacks to whittle away at General Landon's HP, and once you get his health very low, try to finish him off by unleashing another Mystic Arte to earn a Grade bonus.

For defeating General Landon, Sorey's titles: "Sword Harrier", "Sword Danseur", and "Wielder of the Mystic Sword," increase in rank. You can now use his Mystic Arte, "Bolt Tempest," at any time.





After the battle, move through the Rolance outpost (activating the save point there on the way) and try to avoid fighting the hellionized Rolance soldiers if you can, since they can easily overwhelm you. Climb the hill to reach the Lord of Calamity. He is much too powerful for Sorey, and effortlessly seals Sorey's resonance, cutting off his ability to communicate with the seraphim and use their powers. He leaves Sorey on the battlefield after imparting that his name is Heldalf, and sets waves of hellionized soldiers on the weakened Shepherd. Luckily, the assassin leader appears and saves Sorey's life, throwing both of them over the edge of the cliff and into the waters below.

Unlikely Allies

VOLGRAN FOREST

Sorey and the female assassin are carried downstream and wash up in front of Lamorak Cave in the Volgran Forest. Her mask slipped off in the escape, and Sorey can now see that it's actually Rose. He picks her up since she's still unconscious, and starts to look for someplace safe they can go. Head to the star, where Rose wakes up. She points Sorey toward nearby ruins where the Scattered Bones have been hiding out.

Once there, you're greeted by other Sparrowfeathers, who are apparently also Scattered Bones members. The group scares off some kids who have turned to banditry, and Rose warns Sorey that the guild will take him out if he guides the people astray.

Follow Rose to the ruins entrance to meet Mayvin, an explorer. He encourages Sorey to uncover the mystery of this ruin, and then takes off.

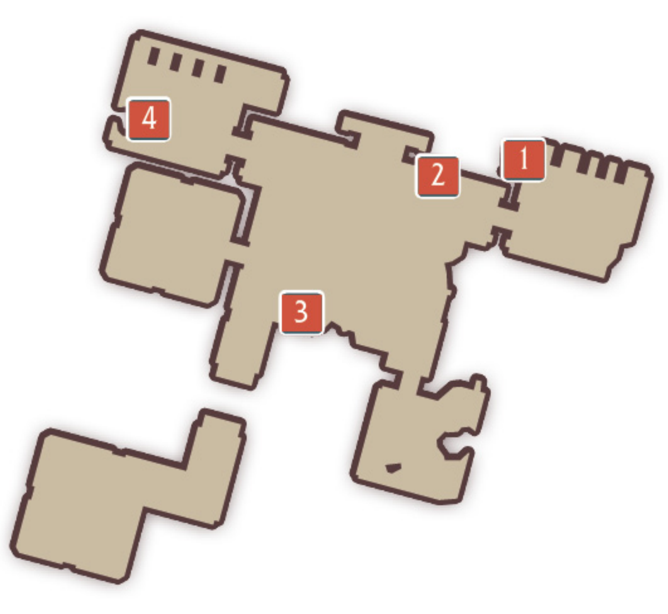
Down in the ruin, inspect your surroundings and activate the Save Point. The hideout even comes equipped with a store, thanks to the guild's double-identity, so if you need to restock or fuse equipment, take the time to do so. Then, head to the star and rest in the bed. After waking, Sorey's resonance is restored, and the seraphim are once again able to communicate. Rose freaks out after Sorey uses himself as a channel to let her hear the seraphim; apparently she's terrified of the supernatural.

Speak with Dezel in the main hall to learn a little more about the wind seraph. Then, head to the exit ladder for a short scene in which the seraphs warn Sorey not to go blindly into danger. For now, the party decides to explore this ruin before doing anything else.



Head to the semi-circular door and Rose will join the seraphs around it. Once she does, the assassin blocking the north-west doorway will move, allowing you to enter. Explore it and start pushing buttons! And by that, step on the four floor switches. One is 1 near the bed you slept in, another is 2 near the semi-circular door, another is 3 across the room from the semi-circular door, and the last is in the 4 room that was previously blocked. You can speak to the seraphs and Rose if you wish, or you can skip the conversations and just open the door. Rose decides to tag along, and where Rose goes, so does Dezel.

Head into the ruin and activate the save point. Rose is busy pulling levers ahead of you, and manages to lock you in. Investigate the closed door and Rose will move on to check out the next room. While you're waiting, check both doors and the two walls without doors. The seraphs mention that Rose would be a good match for Sorey as a Squire, and then you have an opportunity to speak to them individually. Choosing to speak to one of them will cause Rose to activate a trap.

Once you have spoken to all three seraphs, the door will open and the party will sense a malevolent domain. A dragon-type hellion is attempting to attack Rose, and Dezel is fending it off. Rose doesn't know what's going on and is pretty freaked out.

Take a few swings and Rose will interrupt the battle—in the meantime, focus on using Sorey's arte True Fang, since it might be the only wind arte your party has at the moment. As the first arte of a martial arte set you can start a Power Combo right from the onset, which will cut its resistance to all of the other elements. Otherwise, play on the defensive until a cutscene triggers. Mikleo will talk Rose through the situation, explaining that they'd like her to join Sorey and help support him. Rose steels her resolve and focuses very hard, and after a moment she is able to see and touch Mikleo—and she's also able to see Dezel and the hellion. She agrees to form the Squire's Pact while Sorey, Mikleo, and Edna buy them time.

Try to avoid the heavy overhead Head Splitter attack, as it can break through your guard and stun you. Also watch out for Binding Breath, which will inflict status ailments if it hits you. Both of these attacks are hidden artes, so while Sorey's True Fang is useful, make sure it doesn't leave you vulnerable. If you see the "!!" indicator, don't guard, but Quick Evade instead. Interrupt any seraphic arte so that it does not gain the benefits of Rock Satellite—however, this hellion has the special ability "Iron stances while casting +3," so it might take more hits than normal to break its casting. Your attacks may not cause much damage unless you armatize, so suit up and focus on getting the hellion's HP down below 10,000.

Rose will join you, armatized with Lailah, and Dezel will toss Sorey his Divine Artifact, having made a Sub Lord pact with Lailah. Armatize with Dezel and let loose with his wind attacks—on top of the added element boost, your hidden and seraphic artes will now easily overpower the Dragonewt's artes. Continue evading and slowly but surely you'll whittle down the Dragonewt's HP. Don't forget to use restorative artes if you are low on health or are afflicted with an ailment—or you can just use items, if you prefer.

After the battle, the Dragonewt is revealed to be Oysh, a seraph. Rose collapses due to the shock of her new powers and knowledge, prompting Edna and Lailah to reveal why Dezel joined the group and why Lailah allowed it. Without Rose to use as a vessel, Dezel would have soon become a hellion, and Dezel wants to avoid corruption. He also desires the power of the armatus to help him get his revenge.

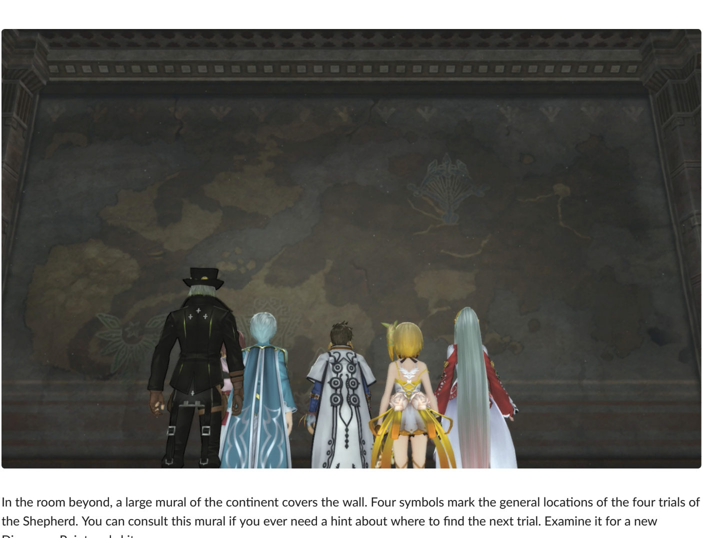
For gaining a new Squire and a seraph of each element, Sorey gains the costume: "Regular Clothes: Departure". It looks just like his starting costume, but adds a new musical theme during battle.

MAP ACTION

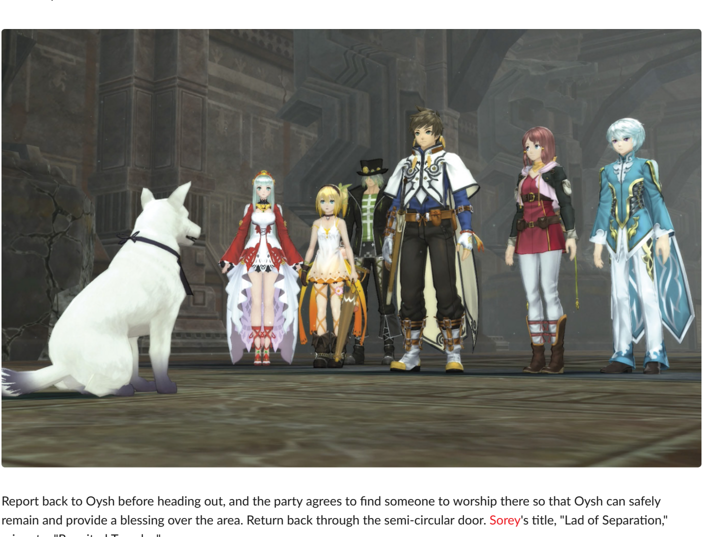
You can now use Wind Rush by pressing . This will teleport you forward a short distance, allow you to pass through some gated areas, and start battles with an advantage if you use it to initiate battle with an enemy weak against wind. You can use this map action as long as a wind seraph is in your party.

Speak with everyone, leaving Dezel for last. When you talk to Dezel he will acquire the title "Wind of Vengeance," and Oysh and Rose will awaken. After Rose rejoins the party, examine the corridor for a Discovery Point, "Dragon Corridor," and the accompanying skill, Legend of the Dragons. Return back through the doorway and head down the western path by using your new map action, Wind Rush, to cross the gap. Continue forward into the narrow corridor and use Wind Rush to reach the I floor switch on the right at the middle of the corridor. Before continuing on, you can go up the side chamber to reach the upper section of the Volgran Forest—there's a normin and a silver treasure chest up there, which you'll be able to open soon. Return to the Tintagel Ruins and head back to the narrow corridor; turn right, then go through the doorway on the left to reach the middle chamber. You'll approach an Iris Gem and collect it. Trigger the K switch in this room, and then move across and navigate to the circular room where J another switch lies. Step onto this one, and then head up the stairs and back to the Dragon Corridor.

Each triggered switch caused a platform to extend, and with Wind Rush you can now reach the other end of the corridor. The copper chest at the end holds a Silver Key. You can now open up all those silver chests you left behind, but for now, head forward.



In the room beyond, a large mural of the continent covers the wall. Four symbols mark the general locations of the four trials of the Shepherd. You can consult this mural if you ever need a hint about where to find the next trial. Examine it for a new Discovery Point and skill.



Report back to Oysh before heading out, and the party agrees to find someone to worship there so that Oysh can safely remain and provide a blessing over the area. Return back through the semi-circular door. Sorey's title, "Lad of Separation," raises to, "Reunited Traveler."

In the morning, the party regroups. Make your way to Lastonbell and enter the city.

At the gate, you meet Sergei, captain of the Platinum Knights. After some creative storytelling, they manage to pass through the checkpoint. Once you're out of the cutscene, look up at the belfry above you for a Discovery Point and skit. Explore the area, and make sure to purchase a new map from the Turtlez in the southern part of town. You'll be able to overhear news about the church making and selling Elixir, and news about Cardinal Forton and some shady church dealings. Head into the Sanctuary for an encounter with Sergei, who apparently wasn't quite as gullible as he'd seemed.

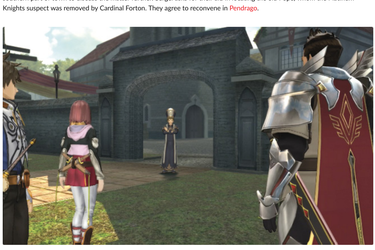
Although Sergei is only a human, he's quite skilled. He is able to use some powerful artes, including Lion's Howl, Tornado Drive, Sonic Thrust, Sword Rain, and Dragon Swarm. His attacks are pretty fast, so if you're not sure if you'll have time to land a hit first, play it safe by guarding and then counterattacking. His powerful strokes leave him open to attack just after he extends his arm. If you're having trouble breaking through his press of attacks, throw him off balance with Heavenly Torrent. While you don't have your seraphim to help you in this battle, remember that you still have your mystic arte and Blasts at your disposal.

After the battle, Sergei confirms his suspicions that Sorey is the Shepherd. Surprisingly, he asks for Sorey's help. They are interrupted by the shady priest from earlier, and Sergei decides to move the conversation elsewhere. Head to the star in the southern part of town to discuss the matter further. Sergei asks for their aid in locating the old Pope, whom the Platinum Knights suspect was removed by Cardinal Forton. They agree to reconvene in Pendrago.



Across from the Sanctuary, a seraph stands with a purple star over his head. He asks Sorey to search for Sindra, the seraph that acts as the Lord of the Land in this area, and suspects that she may be near a subterranean lake in Cambria Caverns. This is the beginning of the "Rejuvenation of Lastonbell" Sub-Event.

Check out the inn, and activate the save point there. Upon returning to the town, if you sold Gramps' Pipe in Ladylake, you can now buy it back from the old man standing across from the seraph beneath the belfry for 5000 gald. Head toward the West Gate for a short conversation with the Ayn twins about a potential new hideout: Malory, the Patrisul Forest—this is the beginning of the "Scattered Bones Business" Sub-Event. Before leaving, you can speak to the soldier at the gate to start a side quest about three murders by a serial killer during moonlit nights—this is also part of the "Rejuvenation of Lastonbell" Sub-Event.

Rose and Eguille take off to check out the area, leaving Sorey free to chat up the rest of the guild. Once you speak to everyone in the clearing, the Ayn twins arrive with their new creation, the Mabo Carry Bun. Rose and Eguille return as well, deciding that Malory is not a suitable location for their new hideout. The guild members discuss Scattered Bones business, investigating an organization that appears to be scamming families. Tasks assigned, the guild members leave—Rose acquires the costume "Scattered Bones Boss," as well as the title "Unfruitful Blossom."

You can explore the area, but you won't be able to get through all of it without Edna's Map Action, so it's recommended that you wait and return later. When you have the necessary map actions, you can fight the optional boss King Peacock, who is necessary to defeat in the Tribute, the Princess' Sub-Event. For now, return to the Meadow of Triumph and head to Pearlvale Pasture on the Western side of the area.

The never-ending rain has ruined a once fertile area for crops. Now, only hellions roam the wide expanse of pastoral fields that were once diligently tended by farmers.

Atop a hill is another dark structure, Malevolent Crucible: Kalasutra. To the northwest is Gaferis Ruins, another of the unmentioned ruins Mayvin mentioned, but you'll need Edna's Map Action unlocked in order to get through it. To the southeast is Pendrago.

Head south to Rolance's capital city and get out of the rain before everyone in your party catches a cold.

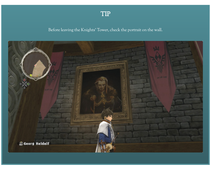
As you enter the city, you'll be able to spot Sergei and his men to the right of the inn. Head up the stairs behind the fountain to the Knights' Tower. Sergei and Eisen are in a heated exchange with Cardinal Fortan. The enemy escapes, but it's now even clearer to the party that the Cardinal is bad news.

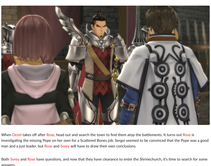
Head to the Knights' Tower to continue the discussion with Sergei. On your way, don't forget to pick up a new map from the Turtles in the Eastern Quarter.

TIP

Before leaving the Knights' Tower, check the portrait on the wall.



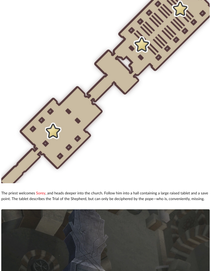
Within the tower, Sergei warns Sorey and Rose of the Cardinal's watchful eye. The party learns that Sergei's brother, Boris, was investigating the Cardinal and hasn't returned. After the conversation, head to the inn to learn more about the Rotara Empire.



When Dezel takes off after Rose, head out and search the town to find them atop the battlements. It turns out Rose is investigating the missing Pope and now has left a message for Sergei. Sergei seems to be convinced that the Pope was a good man and a just leader, but Rose and Sorey will have to draw their own conclusions.

Both Sorey and Rose have questions, and now that they have clearance to enter the Shrinechurch, it's time to search for some answers.

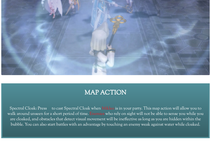
PENDRAGO SHRINECHURCH



The priest welcomes Sorey, and heads deeper into the church. Follow him into a hall containing a large raised tablet and a seer priest. The tablet describes the Trial of the Shepherd, but can only be deciphered by the pope—who is, conveniently, missing.

Just inside, a priest is quizzing a group of children. The party learns that the Shrinechurch is dedicated to Mazeldea, who supposedly extends his blessing across the entire Glenwood continent.

Suddenly, a strong domain rush Sorey off from the seraphim. It looks like the priest and the children have all been turned to stone. Head back to the Shrinechurch entrance for your first encounter with Cardinal Fortan.



She asks Sorey to join forces with her, and tells Sorey and Rose that Pope Maxanta actually fled and abandoned his people. Things look dire, but just as Cardinal Fortan is about to attack, Mikleo manages to break through Fortan's domain and transport them all outside the Shrinechurch.

MAP ACTION

Spectral Cloak: Press ▲ to use Spectral Cloak when ▲ icon is on your screen. This map action will allow you to walk through certain objects. Use Spectral Cloak to enter the Shrinechurch. Once you enter the Shrinechurch, you will be attacked, and defeated. But defeat means nothing, as you will be transported back to the area you were in before you were knocked out. Maxanta quickly re-fled you, deeming a group of Platinum Knights to be too conspicuous.

Sure, the Cardinal is bad news, but Sorey and Rose have other things to worry about. Head back to the Shrinechurch and enter the Shrine of Mazeldea. Inside, the party learns that Maxanta has been kidnapped by the Cardinal, and that the Cardinal has been using the Shrinechurch to turn people to stone. Sorey and Rose vow to rescue the Pope, and head back to the Knights' Tower to report to Sergei.

PENDRAGO, THE BLESSED CAPITAL

Head back to speak with Sergei again at the Knights' Tower. Rose splits off from the group as you enter to speak with Ejolfin. The party decides that finding Pope Maxanta is still their top priority since they need him to relay the contents of the inscriptions to the Shrinechurch, and Rose returns with a potential lip regarding the Pope's whereabouts. He may be hiding in Ladylake Castle in Rotara Empire. Sergei gives Sorey and Rose the Pope's Seal, which will help them get into the castle, and his friends will seek out Mawaba quietly on their own, deeming a group of Platinum Knights to be too conspicuous.

Sergei gives Sorey two very important things at the close of the conversation: a new arte, and a pass that allows the group free travel within Rotara. Exit the Knights' Tower and Sergei will teach Sorey how to wield the Lion's Heal. Once you set and execute the arte, Sorey will successfully learn it. Afterward, Sergei will return to the tower with a Rotaran Travel Pass, as well as information that a rockslide has barred the path to Gustaden. They'll have to pass through Cumbre Caverns instead. Before leaving the Knight's Tower, check out Hellraft's portrait again—there's a new old waiting for you.

Save Point Travel is unavailable within the city, so once you're ready to leave town, head to the front gates. You'll have to use your new Spectral Cloak map action to pass through the gates unnoticed by the hellion guarding it. Return to the Meadow of Triumph and enter Cumbre Caverns, the dungeon at the southwest corner of the map. If you've already activated all the save points in the Meadow of Triumph, fast travel to the South Ridge save point to save yourself a few minutes.

TIP

The Spectral Cloak only lasts for a handful of seconds, and once you're a walk, so now is carefully to get past the hellion. Try entering it by the southeast end of the entrance from the front gates—that should give you enough time to get through the doors.

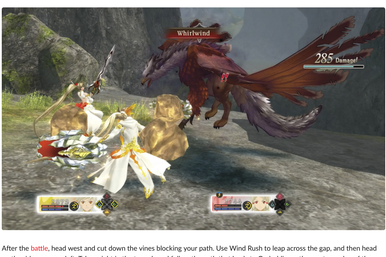
Immediately upon arriving in Biroclef Ridge, you're thrown into a boss battle with a Griffin. Stay clear of its fiery breath, whirlwind, and claw attacks by avoiding standing in front of it—these attacks are unblockable hidden artes, and can be dodged by moving behind the Griffin. You can also interrupt or capitalize on these attacks with your hidden and seraphic artes, which makes armatization particularly useful. Make sure that your active seraphs are Lailah and Edna, and armatize to capitalize on its elemental weaknesses. Between your two armatized forms, you should be able to interrupt any of its powerful attacks with your own. If you're having trouble staggering the Griffin and find yourself taking too much damage, use Rock Satellite while earth armatized and don't be afraid to get in close when you need to stop it from spewing flames or a whirlwind. When you're not armatized, play defensively—the Griffin has extremely high Attack and Arte Attack stats, so it won't take many hits to bring you down.



After the battle, head west and cut down the vines blocking your path. Use Wind Rush to leap across the gap, and then head up the ridge on your left. Take a right in the tunnels and follow the path that leads to Gododdin on the western edge of the map.

TIP

As you head up the ridge, a skit becomes available: Life on the Frontier.

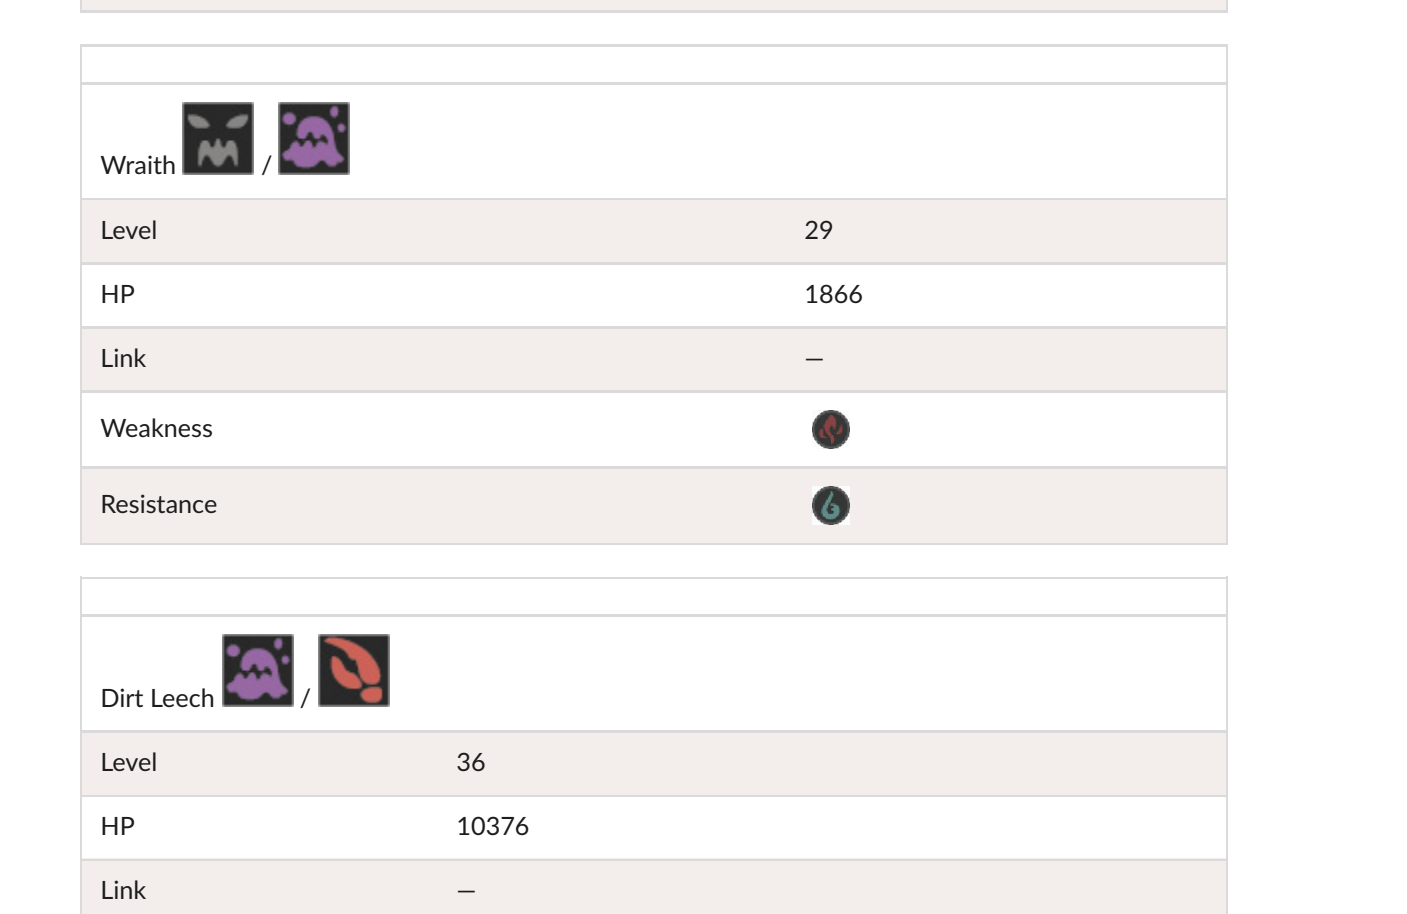
Before you enter Gododdin, you can also explore Biroclef Ridge a bit more. Just below the town lies Yder Cave, and Sorey will need to search its depths in order to recruit the local Lord of the Land, but this particular Sub-Event is not available at the moment. This optional dungeon is home to a sneaky Boss Hellion, a Discovery Point, and quite a bit of treasure. Come back after unlocking the Giant's Strength map action in order to get past all of the boulders blocking your path. While it is possible to explore much of the cave without the Giant's Strength map action, navigation will prove more challenging, and many treasure chests you cannot reach. If you decide to explore it anyways, activate the Western Area save point so you can later Save Point Travel directly to the boss hellion.



Refer to "Rejuvenation of Gododdin" Sub-Event in the Optional Contents section for more information.

The village chief, Slenge, greets Sorey when they arrive. The party splits up to search for clues. You can speak to them individually if you'd like to hear what each of the members thinks is suspicious or of interest. As you approach the cave entrance at the back of the village, Sorey and Rose overhear the villagers' suspicions that the outsiders are here to take the village chief away. Slenge reassures them that as long as they keep the outsiders from entering the Pureland (whatever is beyond the cave entrance), they have nothing to worry about. He retreats into the cave, and Sorey is shocked to notice malevolence in the area.

The Turtlez is here in the village, so make sure to purchase a new Adventure Map. Then, make your way over to the blocked off entrance to gain Edna's map action.

With the rocks cleared, enter the cave behind the village and discover what Slenge is really up to. The large cavern is a warehouse holding many cases of fake Elixir. They determine that Slenge is either Pope Masedra or a conspirator, since the fake goods are being distributed with an official church seal, and all the profits from the sales are coming to Gododdin.

MAP ACTION

Giant's Strength: Press when Edna is in your party to use the earth seraph's strength. You can clear certain breakable boulders (breakable objects will display a "!!!" message when you stand in front of them) and open new paths. Furious that they've snuck into the warehouse, a villager corrupted by malevolence attacks! This should be easy enough to dispatch without armatization. Use elemental martial artes so that you don't waste damage that can be resisted.

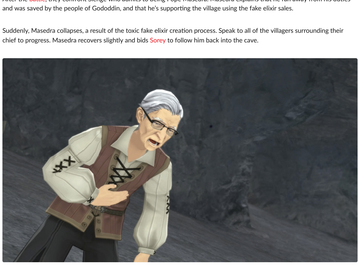
After the battle, they confront Slenge who admits to being Pope Masedra. Masedra explains that he ran away from his duties and was saved by the people of Gododdin, and that he's supporting the village using the fake elixir sales.

Suddenly, Masedra collapses, a result of the toxic fake elixir creation process. Speak to all of the villagers surrounding their chief to progress. Masedra recovers slightly and bids Sorey to follow him back into the cave.



Continue deeper into the Pureland. Masedra is waiting at the entrance to Igraine, the Shrine of the Fire Trial. The pope recites, from memory, the contents of the inscription in the Shrinechurch. When you are prepared to face the first of the Shepherd's trials, enter Igraine.

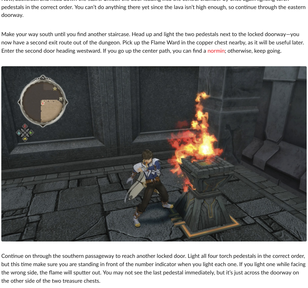
Head right since the path left is inaccessible at the moment. To open the next door, set the two torch pedestals alight using Silver Flame. Make sure to light them in order based on the number of markings on their bases.

Ignore the stairs for now and continue forward, again lighting the torch pedestals in the correct order to open the next locked door. Light the 1 torch behind the statue and lava will begin spilling out into the chamber below. Looks like you'll need to raise the lava level a bit more before the floating tiles will align and let you access the middle area.

Now, backtrack and head down the stairs. Unlock the door leading into the central chamber by once again lighting torch pedestals in the correct order. You can't do anything there yet since the lava isn't high enough, so continue through the eastern doorway.

Make your way south until you find another staircase. Head up and light the two pedestals next to the locked doorway--you now have a second exit route out of the dungeon. Pick up the Flame Ward in the copper chest nearby, as it will be useful later. Enter the second door heading westward. If you go up the center path, you can find a normie; otherwise, keep going.



Continue on through the southern passageway to reach another locked door. Light all four torch pedestals in the correct order, but this time make sure you are standing in front of the number indicator when you light each one. If you light one while facing the wrong side, the flame will sputter out. You may not see the last pedestal immediately, but it's just across the doorway on the other side of the two treasure chests.

At the second statue, light the torch 2 to bring the lava to the correct height. Check out the Discovery Point "Large Rock of Vermillion Ore" to the right, then head back down the southeast staircase.

Continue forward through the doorway ahead as you exit the staircase. At the door leading into the central cavern, light the torch pedestals in order to open the way forward, and make sure you are standing in front of the number indicator when you light each one.

Now you can travel across using Wind Rush! Light the four torch pedestals on the middle island in the correct order to activate the center elevator. Head down and activate the save point before entering the Shrine Great Hall. If you picked up the Flame Ward while in the shrine, equip it to Rose or Sorey before proceeding.

This is the shrine of Musiphe, one of the five lords. Mikleo and Sorey read the black tablet, which instructs them to touch all the other tablets in order to obtain a great power. Suddenly, a hellion appears with a domain strong enough to block Sorey's connection to the seraphim!

Unless you have equipment or food effects protecting against the Burn status ailment, you begin the battle afflicted with Burn. This battle is just Sorey and Rose, but luckily you don't have to do much to survive the first half. While your other party member distracts the hellion, run around and touch all of the four black tablets as quickly as you can. Once you do, the seraphs return, Burns are healed, and if anyone was knocked out they'll be revived for the second half of the battle alive at 1 HP. Salamander now has a pack of Power Linked Blazen Wolves with him, so take them out first. Since Edna and Dezel will only trigger the Salamander's resistance, armatize with Mikleo while keeping Lailah out as your second seraph to maximize your overall attack damage. Keep your distance from the Salamander's powerful attacks, and you'll be able to slowly but surely whittle his health down. Salamander have a special ability to prevent staggering while it has over 70% health. Concentrate on lowering his health from safe distances, rather than taking advantage of arte balancing until the special ability is nulled. Beware its powerful yet varied unblockable hidden artes and avoid accidentally charging its seraphic artes. While un-armatized, try fighting as Mikleo to take advantage of his water artes and trap the Salamander in a Power Combo, all at a safe distance with your seraphic artes.

Sorey is unable to purify the hellion because it is actually a seraph in disguise! Ekseo, the protector seraph of fire, tells Sorey he passed the test of strength and is worthy of the power of Musiphe. However, he must brand either himself or Lailah on the face in order to receive it. Sorey falters, and Lailah tells him not to bear the burden by himself. They armatize and enter battle again, neither willing to let the other be branded. Follow the tutorial to unleash your first armatized mystic arte, Flamberge.

Ekseo is satisfied that Sorey has passed both of his tests, and Sorey acquires the spiritual power of fire, a strength which allows him to withstand more powerful domains than ever before. They'll need all four of the spiritual powers in order to confront Heldalf, so it's time to search for the other shrines. Lailah's title "Prime Lord" raises to "Scything Crimson", and she also gains a scenario skill that heals all Burn effects upon armatization. While armatized with Lailah, you can now use the mystic arte Flamberge as long as you have at least 48G.

Back in Gododdin, Maxedra tells Sorey that Forton wasn't always the way she is now. For now, Sorey needs to report back to Sergei in Pendragon. As the group leaves, they are watched from afar by Heldalf and a young girl.

TIP

Before leaving the room, don't forget to examine the Monolith by the entrance.

TIP

Heldalf is inside another shrine at this point in the game. If you choose to confront him here and you defeat him (this may be possible if you are playing with New Game + data), it will trigger the game's Normal ending. For more about the different ways you can trigger this secret ending, please check "Alternate Endings" in the Sub-Event section.

PENDRAGO, THE BLESSED CAPITAL

You can't warp directly back to Pendrago, but you can get as far as the Pendrago Entrance save point in Pearlsets Pasture. At the entrance of the capital, you'll meet two Platinum Knights who explain that Cardinal Forton is forcing them to disband. Head to the Knights' Tower to speak with Sergei and the Platinum Knights. Although they are upset by the news that Pope Maxedra abandoned them, Sergei rouses the knights with an impassioned speech and restores morale. Sorey and Rose convince Sergei to let them handle Forton while Sergei instead works on improving his political reach, as the knights would be no match for Forton.

Resistance

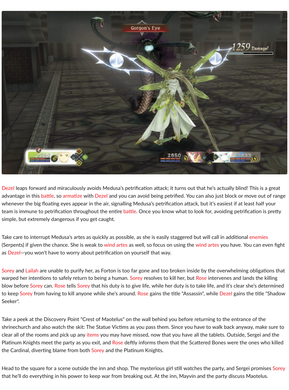
Head to the room containing the Sacred Inscriptions, and as you pass by the tablet a hidden door behind the monument swings open. Continue onward into the depths of the shrinechurch.

In the first room lies the Red Iris Gem. Tva (which unlocks Lailah's Tortured Soul title, as well as an Earthen Historia scene) and a Small Red Tablet. The tablet acts as a key to unlock red doors. Open the red door and take the first right, and continue through the next red door before you. Go right again, then left, and then continue through another red door to reach the next map area.

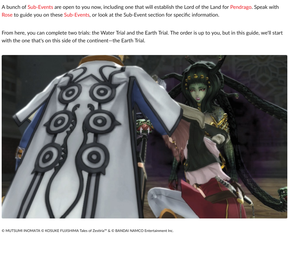
Head to the large room at the very back, the central room in the southwest area of the map, and collect the Small Yellow Tablet there. Exit through the yellow door and continue northeast through another yellow door, but don't head up through to the previous map area just yet.

First, detour to the eastern-most room to collect the Small Blue Tablet, and then exit that room through the blue door.



Head all the way to the opposite side of the map and return to the previous map area through the passage at the northwest end to get to the room containing the final Small Green Tablet. Along the way, stop by the central room with the blue door to grab its treasures and herb.

Now that you have all four tablets, a new accessible doorway symbol appears on your map in the center of this area. Activate the save point, and then head into the Innermost Great Hall to confront Cardinal Forton.



Inside, the group encounters a group of people that have been turned to stone, including Sergei's brother, Boris. A voice from the other end of the hall interrupts their horror, and it's time to face Cardinal Forton's hellion form.

Dezel leaps forward and miraculously avoids Medusa's petrification attack; it turns out that he's actually blind! This is a great advantage in this battle, as amulize with Dezel and you can avoid being petrified. You can also just block or move out of range whenever the big floating eyes appear in the air, signalling Medusa's petrification attack, but it's easiest if at least half your team is immune to petrification throughout the entire battle. Once you know what to look for, avoiding petrification is pretty simple, but extremely dangerous if you get caught.

Take care to interrupt Medusa's artes as quickly as possible, as she is easily staggered but will call in additional enemies (Serpents) if given the chance. She is weak to wind artes as well, so focus on using the wind artes you have. You can even fight as Dezel—you won't have to worry about petrification on yourself that way.

Sorey and Lailah are unable to purify her, as Forton is too far gone and too broken inside by the overwhelming obligations that warped her intentions to safely return to being a human. Sorey resolves to kill her, but Rose intervenes and lands the killing blow before Sorey can. Rose tells Sorey that his duty is to give life, while her duty is to take life, and it's clear she's determined to keep Sorey from having to kill anyone while she's around. Rose gains the title "Assassin", while Dezel gains the title "Shadow Seeker".

Take a peek at the Discovery Point "Crest of Mastelus" on the wall behind you before returning to the entrance of the shrinechurch and also watch the skit: The Statue Victims as you pass them. Since you have to walk back anyway, make sure to clear all of the rooms and pick up any items you may have missed, now that you have all the tablets. Outside, Sergei and the Platinum Knights meet the party as you exit, and Rose deftly informs them that the Scattered Bones were the ones who killed the Cardinal, diverting blame from both Sorey and the Platinum Knights.

Head to the square for a scene outside the inn and shop. The mysterious girl still watches the party, and Sergei promises Sorey that he'll do everything in his power to keep war from breaking out. At the inn, Mayvin and the party discuss Mastelus.

A bunch of Sub-Events are open to you now, including one that will establish the Lord of the Land for Pendrago. Speak with Rose to guide you on these Sub-Events, or look at the Sub-Event section for specific information.

From here, you can complete two trials: the Water Trial and the Earth Trial. The order is up to you, but in this guide, we'll start with the one that's on this side of the continent—the Earth Trial.

TIP

If you've played past Tales of games, this area's name may ring some bells! Considering that the entire Zestiria story happens on a single continent that seems to have no contact with any lands beyond their own land mass, and that past games' Alfread legends indicated that he was a pirate who sailed to new lands from someplace far away... Well, you can decide for yourself if it's merely a coincidence.

ALFREAD'S HUNTING GROUND

Activate the save point and stock up on supplies if you need to. Then, break your way through any boulders in your path as you explore this new area. You can challenge a new Malevolent Crucible for Rose if you wish.

For now, head to the ruins entrance where Masvin is resting. Enter and unlock its secrets!

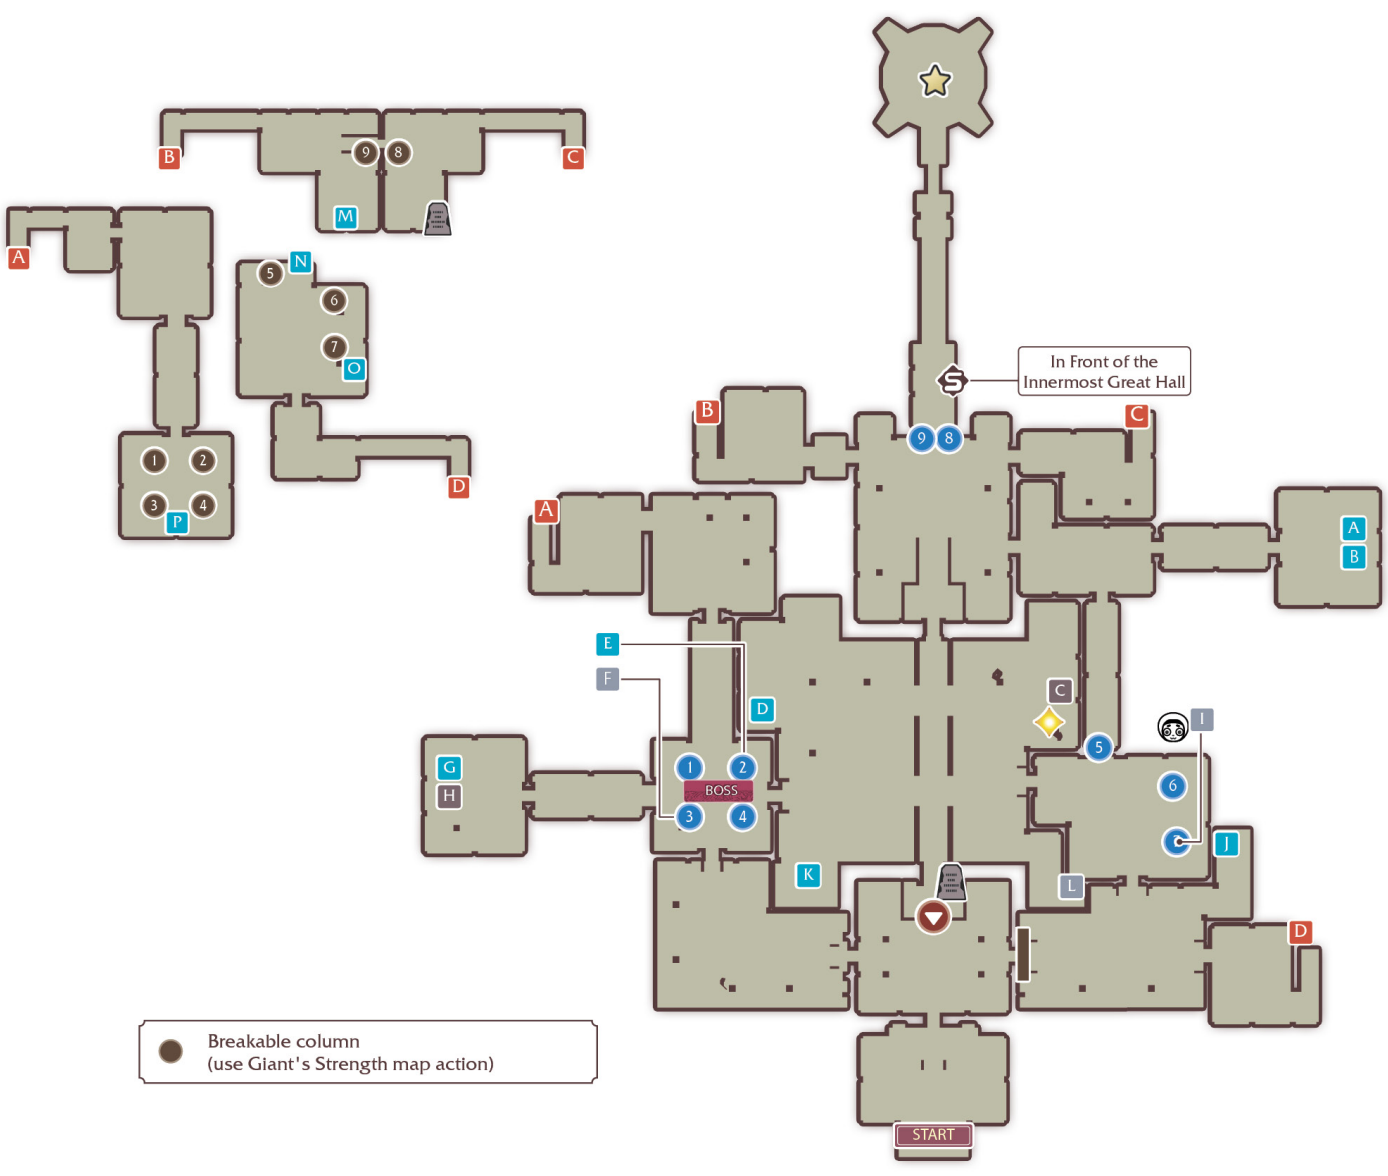
MORGAUSE, SHRINE OF THE EARTH TRIAL



Pawan, once an impressive Shepherd before he became a seraph, greets you at the entrance. Edna tries to manipulate Pawan's lecherous personality to get the spiritual power faster, but when it doesn't work she displays a frankly disturbing amount of intimidating presence and scares off the Minotauros. Find it and quell it, and then head to the shrine's altar to meet up with Pawan again.

The Minotauros is now terrified of you and will run away if you come near it. It will run back and forth across the courtyard between the two great rooms, but simply walking up to it won't be enough. Use Mikleo's Spectral Cloak to approach it and this time it will stay and fight.

The Minotauros is weak against wind artes, so use Dezel as your main seraph in this battle. Most of its attacks are martial and hidden artes that damage the immediate area in front of it and they have a high chance of leaving you stunned while inflicting a good chunk of damage. Try to get behind it, otherwise overpower its artes while giving yourself the chance to guard and dodge. Throughout the battle, the Minotauros will attempt to call Boar hellions to its side; interrupt its call if possible, otherwise quickly take them out so you can go back to focusing on the Minotauros.

During the battle, the party realizes the Minotauros is one hellion composed of the collected souls of abandoned children. After purifying it, Edna apologizes for scaring them and the freed souls can finally be at peace. With the boss successfully defeated, head to the alter.

You can head down the northwest and southeast stairwells and break the columns on the bottom floor if you want to access the raised treasures in the eastern and western treasure rooms, but if you're in a rush you can skip the treasures and normin. The only bottom level columns you need to break in order to progress are the northernmost pair that you can reach if you head down the southeast stairwell, breaking the [5] column to open up the pathway to the altar. Once you reach the barred doorway leading to the final northern corridor, head down the northeast stairwell to break column [8]. This partially lowers the doorway; head back up and to the opposite stairwell and break column [9]. Now that the doorway is clear, head into the corridor and activate the save point along the way to the Innermost Great Hall. Here you can catch the skit: Sympathy for the Hellions to find out more about the children that made up the Minotauros.

Pawan bestows the spiritual power of earth onto Edna and Sorey, and you can now use the earth armatization mystic arte, Earth Revolution. Edna's title "Grown-up Child" raises to "Shattering Orange" and she gains a scenario skill that cures Slow upon armatization. Head to the exit by taking the direct route up the stairs and across the bridge so that you can check out the Monolith at the end before jumping down into the beginning room.

With the Earth Trial completed, the party is ready to take on the Water Trial. But to get there, you'll need to return to Hyland.

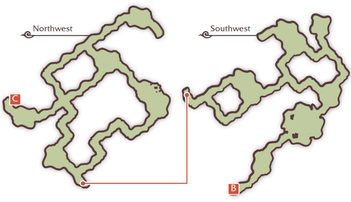
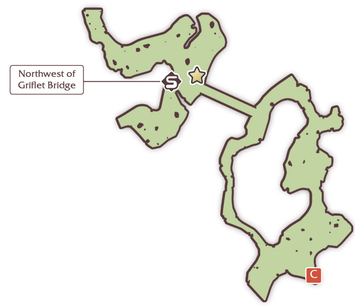
BORS RUINS

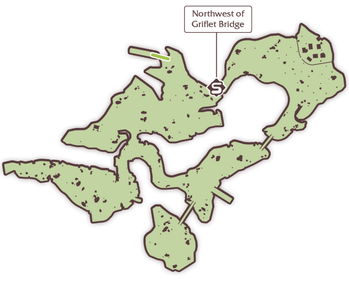


FALKEWIN HILLSIDE



Now that you can destroy all the boulders, clear this area to collect treasures, examine discovery points, and find normin. Then, continue on through until you reach the Griflet Bridge in Falkewin Hillside. Alisha is there, and you can ask her for advice on where to look next. She'll tip you off to the location of the next shrine in Lakehaven Heights. Head over the bridge for another scene with Alisha, and continue to Lakehaven Heights on foot if you want to hear some interesting conversation tidbits.

LAKEHAVEN HEIGHTS



Alternatively, you can just warp directly to the Near Great Morgan Falls save point in Lakehaven Heights if you're in a hurry. The hidden entrance you're looking for is now marked on your map, a cavern obscured by the waterfall! Use Wind Rush to cross the gap and enter Lefay, Shrine of the Water Trial.

TIP

You're probably able to take on the optional boss in this area at your current level, if you wish, near the waterfall and in Abandoned Kylle.

TIP

If you are here on your second playthrough using New Game + save data, you are probably high enough level (party level 45-50 is recommended) to try battling your Shadow party members from the previous playthrough. In Lakehaven Heights, at the center of the map, inspect the black stone with a circle on it to trigger the arena battle against the Shadow members. Defeating all seven will allow you to regain all of your equipment from your previous playthrough (with the exception of the special equipment that can be fused with anything). The level of the Shadow members depends on the equipment that was equipped when the NG+ data was created.

The Water Trial

LEFAY, SHRINE OF THE WATER TRIAL

Altul, a protector seraph, welcomes Sorey and his group into the shrine of Amenoch. Their conversation is interrupted by the cries of an angry hellion, Asura, who is looking for his sword. The task in this trial is to discover why he became a hellion.

The most difficult portion of this trial is navigating the shrine, which is filled with puzzle rooms that require careful use of the Spectral Cloak map action. This action will only last for the amount of time it takes to cross two floor tiles, so you'll need to plan your movements in great detail. If you get caught in the gaze of an eye, you'll be instantly transported back to the pool of water at the entrance. Study these maps closely and you should be able to clear the area without a problem, but remember that one wrong move can send you all the way back to the beginning.

The first floors provide you with clearly marked floor tiles that show which areas are visible to the eyes, but as you proceed higher, those markings are not available, so you'll have to scan your surroundings diligently before moving.

As you progress, you will need to make sure to open the special treasure chests marked on the maps in this guide. These chests contain journal entries of a past Shepherd who was once a swordsmith. As you read Asura's story, Sorey will learn why he became a hellion. An earnest Shepherd, overwhelmed by his perceived inadequacies, created a marvelous but dangerous sword.

Once you reach the raised dais, step on it to be transported up to the top floor, and activate the save point before continuing onward to battle Asura.

Armatize with Edna and exploit Asura's elemental weakness. His artes can be difficult to interrupt, so it's safer to block or evade when he starts casting, rather than attempting to stop him. He hits hard and has a special ability that extends the amount of time you're stunned, so use restoration artes like Fairy Circle (and items if you don't want to use your BG) to keep your HP high. If battling close range becomes overwhelming, take control of Edna and lay your earth artes on him from a safe distance. Once you whittle away most of his health, a cutscene will appear and Altul will aid Sorey. Now you can finish Asura off. Though you can defeat him like any other hellion, you can now use the mystic arte Aqua Limit while armatized with Mikleo to have a fitting end. When you defeat Asura, Mikelo's title "Sub Lord Friend", raises to "Piercing Azure."

Head back and allow yourself to be transported back to the entrance where Altul is waiting. Asura's drive for power corrupted him, and Altul, his Prime Lord, took the sword for safekeeping. He offers the sword to Sorey, but Sorey declines, passing the second test. At this point, Lady Maltran steps in. She takes the weapon and reveals that she has been a hellion all along, working for Heldalf and trying to incite war while using Alisha as a puppet for her own political manipulations.

The party is concerned with what this revelation will do to Alisha, who has looked up to Maltran for most of her life. Now that you have the spiritual power of water and this new information, you can stop by Ladylake for some scenes with Alisha and Maltran in the Noble's District. Once you're ready to proceed to the next trial, head back to Rolance territory and enter Westronbolt Gorge, where you can now handle the powerful malevolent domain enough to travel normally.

Part 3: The Trials of the Shepherd

Guinevere, Shrine of the Wind Trial

The Wind Trial

GUINEVERE, SHRINE OF THE WIND TRIAL

There's a save point immediately in front of you when you enter the square. You might want to use it.

In front of the shrine, a human falls from the top of the structure, and Sorey armalizes with Dezel to save him. The man is unconscious, but alive. Following him down is Dullahan, a powerful hellion, with Zaveid hot on its heels. Looks like Zaveid has been doing some training of his own at the shrine. Sorey intervenes before Zaveid can kill Dullahan, and Dezel tries to figure out how Zaveid can kill on his own. Edna and Zaveid seem to know each other, and once again Zaveid insists on a battle.

Zaveid is still a tough opponent. Make sure to evade his powerful seraphic arties, which have predictable attack areas, but can damage anyone near him. Try to have your party spread out so that his attacks effect as few members as possible. Watch out for his mystic arte, which can easily take out any of your party members. After the battle, Zaveid pops back up and agrees to let the group attempt to quell Dullahan. Dezel grills him about how he's able to kill hellions, and Zaveid explains how his gun provides him with the energy to do so, albeit at a cost. He takes off, and you're free to deal with the guy you saved and then head up the tower.

It turns out that the man was trying to kill himself as a sacrifice to the gods. He doesn't believe that Sorey is the Shepherd. You can choose from three options:

1. Try to convince him of the truth.

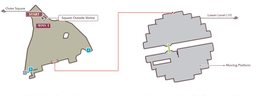
Well, at least you got him to go back to the guards.

2. Show him an example of the Shepherd's power.

Edna will help put on a display that scares the crap out of the guy.

3. Leave him alone.

Well, if you don't want to bother, you can let him believe what he will.



Approach the side of the shrine to trigger a cutscene where the party notices that the stairwell leading to the top is broken. They decide that route would leave them vulnerable and is not worth the risk. Collect the nearby chest and herbs, and head to the front door. The first few floors are simple enough; find the glowing green tiles on the floor that will take you up to the next level. Soon enough, however, things get more complicated.

Starting on the central levels, there are large walls or doors that can be moved by activating wind symbols using Wind Rush while standing next to them. These wind switches control the doors, but remember that when you move a door, it slides either up or down, and will then block part of another floor. You'll have to do some backtracking to make it all the way up.

On the eastern edge of the 9th floor is a save point and a doorway leading outside. Activate the save point and head out to traverse the final portion of the shrine's exterior. Outside the doorway, the group meets another former Shepherd-turned-protector-seraph, Wardeil. He tells them that they need only reach the top of the structure, and then he will decide how he feels about them and if they are worthy of the spiritual power.

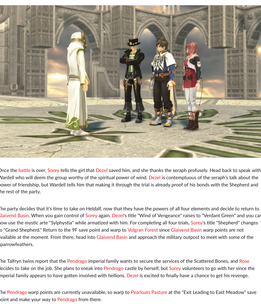
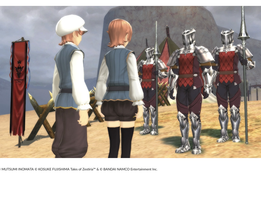
Continue up the stairs until you reach the top. At the star, a figure appears to be standing at the edge of one of the walkways. It's a girl who has come up here to commit suicide. Approach her and the group will talk to her. Suddenly, Dullahan appears, and his approach knocks the girl off the ledge. She hangs on, dangling by her hands, and Dezel and Sorey race past Dullahan to save her while Mikleo and Rose distract the hellion. The girl admits to not wanting to die, and Sorey gives her some words of encouragement. Dezel grudgingly approves of her new resolve, and the team regroups to face the hellion.

Dullahan is an Undead Hellion, which means that he will gradually recover 25% of the damage he receives. This will prolong the battle, but you can block this ability by inflicting him with a status ailment. Luckily, Dullahan staggers, takes on ailments, breaks concentration easily against his two element weakness--Non-Elemental and Fire--making Sorey, Rose, and Lailah ideal for this battle. Throughout the battle, he'll try to call in assistance from various hellions within the Shrine--it's a hidden arte, so break it with your own powerful hidden arte or a seraphic arte if you can. If Dullahan succeeds, it's a good time to armalize with Lailah to take down the enemies around you with your powerful Fire area-of-effect artes. Focus on offense while keeping an eye on your party's health, and you'll bring the headless horseman down.





Once the battle is over, Sorey tells the girl that Dezel saved him, and she thanks the seraph profusely. Head back to speak with Wardeil who will deem the group worthy of the spiritual power of wind. Dezel is contemptuous of the seraph's talk about the power of friendship, but Wardeil tells him that making it through the trial is already proof of his bonds with the Shepherd and the rest of the party.

The party decides that it's time to take on Heldalf, now that they have the powers of all four elements and decide to return to Glaivend Basin. When you gain control of Sorey again, Dezel's title "Wind of Vengeance" raises to "Verdant Green" and you can now use the mystic arte "Sylphstyle" while armalized with him. For completing all four trials, Sorey's title "Shepherd" changes to "Grand Shepherd." Return to the TP save point and warp to Volgran Forest since Glaivend Basin warp points are not available at the moment. From there, head into Glaivend Basin and approach the military outpost to meet with some of the Spaniowfeathers.

The Taffryn twins report that the Pendragn imperial family wants to secure the services of the Scattered Bones, and Rose decides to take on the job. She plans to sneak into Pendragn castle by herself, but Sorey volunteers to go with her since the imperial family appears to have gotten involved with hellions. Dezel is excited to finally have a chance to get his revenge.

The Pendragn warp points are currently unavailable, so warp to Pearlsalts Pasture at the "Exit Leading to East Meadow" save point and make your way to Pendragn from there.

In front of Pendrago, Zaveid is waiting. He tells the group, mainly Dezel, that they should leave this target for him to eliminate. Dezel furiously refuses, and Zaveid once again faces the party in battle. This is Zaveid at his most powerful, though the strategy against him is not so different than when you fought him at the Wind Trail. Keep your party spread apart and have your seraphim attack from a distance. Dezel wants this battle to be personal and will yell at you if you take him out of the fight, but feel free to switch him out since his wind artes will only trigger Zaveid's resistance. Zaveid likes using Quick Evades against your powerful moves to give him an SC bonus, so always be ready to put your guard up against his seraphic and martial artes..

Zaveid admits defeat and gives Sorey his gun, Siegfried, telling the Shepherd to use it if he can't stop Dezel from killing to get his revenge. The gun (and its last bullet) has the power to stop malevolence from binding with people. Zaveid seems to care a lot about the party, especially Dezel's path of vengeance. Dezel's titles "Chain Nemesis", "Wind Guardian", and "Whirlwind Caster" increase in rank.

LUNARRE

Resistance	—

Stock up on any equipment you may need, and then stay at the inn to wait until night has fallen. Speak with Rose, who will direct you to do some investigation in the town before any castle infiltration gets underway. Head toward the entrance gate and Lunarre will drop in. This is the first time Rose has been able to tell that Lunarre is a hellion, so she's quite shocked. The battle commences—Lunarre has grown powerful since you last fought him, but this battle is straightforward. Guard and dodge his attacks, keep his artes broken, inflict staggers against him, and you'll bring him down.

Before Lailah can purify Lunarre, a strong presence and a voice interrupts. Suddenly, there are multiple Lunarres! The four Lunarres have all of his battle moves with a third of his health. Use your area-of-effect attacks to take them all down and try to keep them spread apart so they don't overwhelm you.

Chase after Lunarre, the mysterious voice taunting Rose all the while. The party figures out that the job offer was a trap all along, and Dezel reveals that the owner of the voice is the target he's been hunting for so long.

There's only one path to follow, so head through the Eastern Quarter and finally over to the entrance to the Pendrago Shrinechurch. In the plaza before the shrinechurch, a major battle will be fought, so make sure you're prepared.

Lunarre stands waiting, but disappears as the party approaches. In his place stands the girl who was watching the party from afar. Dezel is overcome with hatred for the girl; who he says turned his friends into hellions and destroyed the Windriders. Rose is confused, and the mysterious girl is delighted by the fact that Dezel has kept it a secret. The girl recounts the events of Dezel manipulating Rose into recreating the Windriders as an assassins' guild, the Scattered Bones. Rose is shocked by hearing how Dezel used her for so long, but before the party can retreat, the girl turns into a hellion and they are thrown into battle.

The hellion, called Fuseface, is not particularly strong, but can overwhelm you by quickly unloading its artes. It also likes to use powerful unblockable hidden artes that can take you down if you're not careful. However, Fuseface's artes only affects the area in front of it. Since it's rooted to the ground and cannot turn around, get behind it so you can easily avoid all of its attacks. Attack freely from this position and keep an eye on your ally's health.

A cutscene interrupts once you have done enough damage, and Dezel forcefully armatizes with Rose to try and kill the girl before Lailah can purify her. He rushes forward to attack, and when Sorey moves to use the gun, the girl suddenly appears before him—but wait, if she's there, then who is Dezel trying to kill? The girl multiplies, and Sorey must battle them without Rose and Dezel.

The girl will keep spawning clones until all of her dialogue is finished, so just focus on taking as little damage as possible while beating on the clones. If you find it overwhelming, armatize with Lailah and use her wide range to keep them all at bay.

Eventually, another cutscene will interrupt. Dezel is just about to land his attack when the hellion reveals a form within it that stops Dezel in his tracks. A series of flashbacks occur, of Dezel and another wind seraph traveling with the Windriders. A Rolance prince asks for the Windriders to work solely for Rolance, and for Rose to become engaged to him. Rose is thrilled, and all seems well. Then, the prince is revealed to be a hellion, the girl shows up on the scene, and Eguille is dragged away before Rose's eyes. The girl tells Dezel's friend that it's all because of Dezel. His friend protects Rose after she attacks the prince and becomes tainted by the malevolence, and the girl tells Dezel that his blessing is a curse that can only bring pain to those around him.

The flashback ends and the armatized Rose and Dezel are speared clean through by the hellion. Sorey armatizes with Mikleo and knocks down the girl's real form behind all of the clones. The girl, however, simply gets up again, de-armatizes Rose and Dezel and then grabs Rose. Sorey cannot purify the hellion without endangering Rose's life.

Just focus on defending and move out of the way of its straightforward attacks; your artes have been momentarily disabled so you can't fight anyway. This time, Fuseface has moved back so you can't get completely behind it, but you can get close enough to avoid most of its attacks. After a short while, Dezel will tell Sorey that there's a way to save Rose. Dezel will become one with the bullet in the gun to break the bond and free Rose. Follow the prompt and armatize, and then press L1 to fire the gun.

Dezel apologizes to Rose, and they have a heartfelt conversation while he saves Rose's life and frees her from the malevolence.

The girl approaches the party as Rose regains consciousness, taunting them and trying to lead them down a dark path. She introduces herself as Symonne and then takes off when Zaveid approaches. The party separates to grieve in their own ways. You can speak to each character, scattered throughout the city, or you can head directly to the inn or the front gates to rest.

In the morning, Zaveid announces that he has to settle a score with both Eizen and Maotelus, and wishes to join the party. He shares his suspicion that Maotelus has become tainted and is now tied to Heldalf. Sorey is still preoccupied with his grief, so Rose shares Dezel's parting words with the party to snap them out of their daze. Zaveid joins as the party's new wind seraph, and a wealth of new skits are available now. One of these skits, "A Promise Between Men," which you can find at any save point, grants Edna the title "Sentimental Sister". You also get some new Support Talents: Rose learns "Luring", Mikleo learns "Windstepping", and Zaveid learns "Point of Interest Detection". Zaveid will automatically have the same gear and settings equipped as Dezel.

GLAIVEND BASIN

Head up the ridge to confirm that Heldalf isn't here. Zaveid mentions feeling a strong malevolence when he was leaving Guinevere on the way to Pendrago. Warp to the Morgause, Shrine of the Earth Trial save point in Aifread's Hunting Ground. The group is searching for the Lord of Calamity, and begin their search in the Glaivend Basin. You can follow the story there, and eventually travel to Aifread's Hunting Ground...or you can just skip Glaivend Basin and go straight to the Hunting Ground.

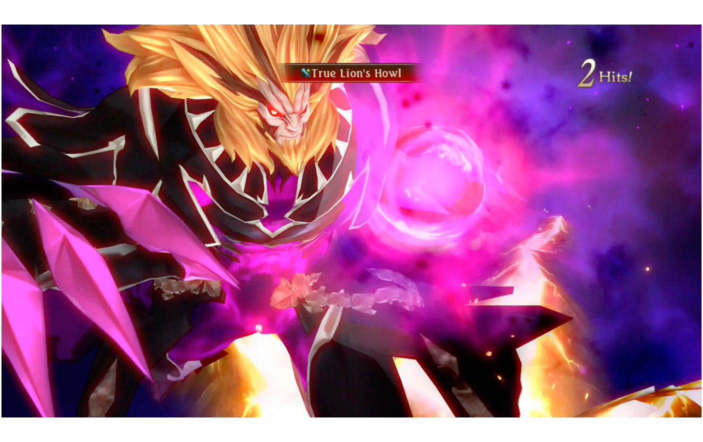
Approach Heldalf and a battle will begin. Stay away from his claw swipe, and try to keep behind him to avoid his powerful Mystic Arte which will knock out anyone it catches. Use your sidesteps to stay out of the way of his rush attacks that catapult him forward, and armatize to lay on the damage. Heldalf is weak against Earth so take advantage of your Earth artes and keep Edna on the field. However, prioritize survival over assault. Once you have whittled away a portion of his health, a cutscene will appear.

Heldalf taunts Sorey, and the rest of the party is very suspicious. Lailah warns Sorey to be very sure that this is what he wants to do, and Heldalf summons Symonne. She takes everyone but Sorey and Lailah hostage, and the two are thrown back into battle alone.



Focus on defending and evading for now. The goal of this battle isn't to defeat Heldalf, so just bide your time. His attacks are slow yet powerful and have predictable charge times, so balance your attacks and dodges. Eventually, a cutscene will appear where Sorey uses armatization to pull Lailah out of harm's way. After some more battling, another cutscene prompts. You can trigger this cutscene faster by using Sorey's Lion's Howl against Heldalf—turns out the arte was originally Heldalf's, and using it against him will trigger his mystic arte to knock both you and Lailah down. At this point, Heldalf plans to murder Rose while holding Sorey and Lailah helplessly in his clutches. Fortunately, Rose is crafty, and she armatizes with Lailah to get the seraph out of danger and then free Sorey. Rose takes Symonne hostage, but Heldalf just blasts both of them away without a care for Symonne's safety, and Symonne easily accepts Heldalf's actions. Symonne laughs before passing out, which releases all the other seraphs.

Heldalf asks Sorey to join forces with him, but Sorey refuses. Heldalf retreats and the party realizes that Maotelus has been using all of the continent as a vessel. The party decides their next stop should be to search for Mayvin and to visit Lohgrin in Zaphgott Moor.

It is possible to defeat Heldalf at this time, but if this is your first playthrough, it's unlikely. If you defeat him, you'll trigger the alternative ending. Check out "Alternative Ending" in the Sub-Event section for more information.

The Zaphgott Moor is a huge expanse that will take some time to explore. There are several optional bosses in the area, as well as another Malevolent Crucible. Trizolde Cave lies to the northeast, Lohgrin is to the northwest, and at the southern tip lies the path to the Plitzerback Wetlands.

You'll need to face a difficult battle at the ruins that were once Horsa in order to collect the Iris Gem as part of "The Forton Sisters" Sub-Event. It's tricky without Dezel to guarantee safety from petrification, but it's not impossible. Be sure to block or dodge whenever you see the eyes materialize. Also, try to keep your party spread out or have your seraphim fight with the tactic "Engage at Range", so that when she uses her Gorgon abilities, it will inflict the least amount of allies possible.

As you enter, Mayvin greets the party. Rather abruptly, Lailah addresses Mayvin directly. Zaveid also addresses him by the title Storyteller and asks for his assistance. Mayvin, the current Storyteller of Time, tells them to collect all of the Earthen Historia and agrees to help them once they have done so.

Activate the save point and listen to the merchant and townspeople in the northern part of the town to hear about a rampaging elephant in the area. This is the start of the area's Lord of the Land quest. Buy a new map from the Turtlez, too. You can explore the upper level if you'd like, but the door to the tower is currently locked.

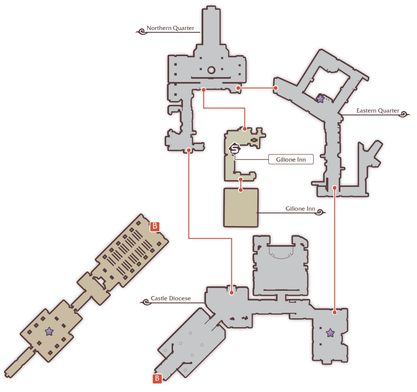
Before you leave Lohgrin, stock up at the shop and sleep at the inn if you need to. You can also speak with the green-robed seraph by the southern door to finish the Sub-Event "The Perfect Curl".

Now that you need to find all of the Iris Gems, there are people scattered all over who can give you tips about where to find them. If you haven't already picked up the ones mentioned in this guide, backtrack and do so now. Also, check out the Sub-Events section as many of them will give you Iris Gems. Remember, be on the lookout for purple stars in towns and fields, which indicate an Iris Gem Sub-Event. Conveniently, your map now shows you where you can find these purple star events. Rose also keeps track of all active story events (main and Sub-Events) you're currently on, so talk to her whenever you need help.

There are 16 Iris Gems total: five Red, six Green, three Yellow, and two Purple. When you collect all Iris Gems, you'll get a save point skit "The Earthen Historia Completed", which means you can go back to Mayvin.

When you collect 8 or more Iris Gems, the save point skit "The Riddles of the Iris Gems" becomes available. Watching it will give Mikleo the title "Peas in a Pod." If you have been collecting Iris Gems along the way, you might have already triggered this skit, otherwise keep an eye out for it now.

PENDRAGO, THE BLESSED CAPITAL



IMPORTANT NOTE! Some Iris Gems only become available after talking to Mayvin; these Iris Gems will be covered in the next few pages. Refer to Rose or the Sub-Event section in Optional Contents for specifics on previous Iris Gem locations and requirements.

Return to Pendrago to hear a tip about a merchant in Westronbolt Gorge as part of the "Gem Merchant Zod" Sub-Event. In the Eastern Quarter, you can find another group of merchants who will tip you in about a Iris Gem in the Gaferis Ruins, which can be found in B3 near the optional boss.

Head to the Knights' Tower to see the citizens in an uproar about a series of murders going on at night. Rest at the inn to wait until nightfall, and then head to the Pendrago Shrinechurch to apprehend the culprit and collect an Iris Gem; this is part of the "Sergei, the Peacekeeper" Sub-Event.

The wetlands are full of powerful hellions, including two optional bosses. The Malevolent Crucible here is quite challenging, so it's recommended that if you intend to clear it, you do so as the final task in this area. By then, your party should be powerful enough to handle it.

Head all the way down to the southern portion of the map and loop around to pass through Abandoned Rodine in order to reach the Arctus Ruins on the western side of the map. As with the Horsa battle, make sure you are prepared to deal with petrification attacks if you decide to challenge Euryale in Abandoned Rodine. This is also part of "The Forton Sisters" Sub-Event.

The second optional boss, Legendary Wyvern, is not available until later in the game. Refer to the "Zaveid" Sub-Event in the Optional Content section for more information.

MAYVIN

Return to Lohgrin and tell Mayvin what you've found. Mayvin takes the group to the top of the tower ruins, unlocking the door there. Behind it lies a massive stone monument. Mayvin uses it to show Sorey and his party a special Earthen Historia that records the Dawn of Chaos.

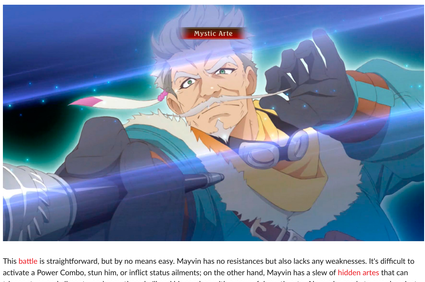
With the power of the monument, you can actually move around within the memory. Move out of frame once the dialogue ends in order to progress through the different scenes.

Shepherd Michael founded Camlann and then the village was occupied by Heldalf and the Rolance army. The villagers speak of a nearby shrine to Maotelus that the Rolance army has turned into a fortress. Heldalf abandoned the village and the Hyland army ravaged it.

Muse and Michael resemble Mikleo so much that the entire party picks up on the apparent relationship. As the story draws to a climax, Muse and Michael are left in a destroyed shrine, Maotelus became a hellion, and Michael used the malevolence of a tainted infant Mikleo to curse Heldalf into becoming the Lordof Calamity.

Zenrus arrives with some seraphim and they sadly survey the scene. Selene, a villager, gave birth prematurely to the human child, Sorey. Mikleo was revealed to be Muse's child, who gave him over to Zenrus' care and sacrificed herself to seal off Camlann so that the malevolence would not reach Elysia. Zenrus saved both children and raised them in hopes that they would one day become the Shepherd and his Sub Lord.

After the Earthen Historia recording ends, the party reflects and searches for Mayvin. Activate the save point and head across the way to challenge the Storyteller in battle. Be prepared for a difficult fight! Mayvin intends to test the party's strength and resolve to back up Sorey's answer: to save Heldalf, by taking his life.



This battle is straightforward, but by no means easy. Mayvin has no resistances but also lacks any weaknesses. It's difficult to activate a Power Combo, stun him, or inflict status ailments; on the other hand, Mayvin has a slew of hidden artes that can trigger stuns and ailments, and sometimes he'll end his combos with a powerful mystic arte. Always be ready to guard against these, and dodge when he throws his unblockable hidden arte. Attack whenever possible, go on the defense when you must, and always switch out your seraphim before they are knocked out to keep them all healed and ready for armatization.

Once you bring his HP down, Mayvin asks Sorey why he hasn't finished him off with the spirit gun. He speaks of the fact that hesitation will ruin Sorey's good intentions, so he'd better get used to making these difficult decisions if he wants to succeed at his goal. The party wavers, and Mayvin unleashes a Mystic Arte that takes out everyone. He tells Lailah that he's disappointed, but Lailah and the rest of the group rally back and stand tall again. The seraphs all give their support to Sorey, and they enter battle again.

Follow the prompts to use the gun, but before the attack lands Mayvin collapses. He has violated his oath, and is no longer immortal. The group exchanges heartfelt farewells with Mayvin, and they bury him in the Moor, marking his grave with his silver pipe. With new resolve and determination, the party sets their sights on Elysia to find the road to Camlann.

Sorey's title "Reunited Traveler" raises to "Vigil-Keeper", and Lailah's tiles "Paper Nemesis", "Fire Guardian", and "Flame Caster" raise to their highest ranks. Sorey also earns the costume "Shepherd's Outfit: Trial", which changes the music in battle when worn.

Return to the Monolith in Lohgrin to find the Discovery Point "Mysterious Monolith". You can now use this Monolith to re-watch all records of the Iris Gems in chronological order.

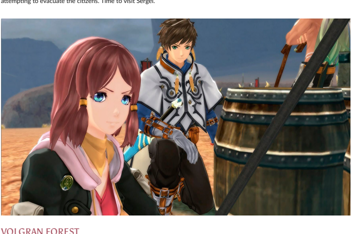
The War-Torn Battlefield

GREAT CAMELOT BRIDGE

Despite the party's determination to go to Elysia, if you head over to a save point, you'll realize that you won't be able to warp anywhere passed the Great Camelot Bridge; you'll have to walk for now. Head over to the Bridge, and at its centerpoint, the group overhears some merchants talking about war breaking out again in Glaivend Basin. Looks like the plans to return to Elysia will have to be put on hold.

GLAIVEND BASIN

Since you won't be able to warp directly to the Basin or anywhere here in Hyland, Volgran Forest will be the closest available save point. Enter the Basin near the Rolance outpost. Near the outpost, the party overhears Rolance soldiers discussing the skirmish casualties. While the rest of the army is reaching for an all-out war, the Platinum Knights seem to be back in Lastonbell attempting to evacuate the citizens. Time to visit Sergei.



VOLGRAN FOREST

As you re-enter the forest, a familiar figure approaches. Ayn Zafryn managed to escape the capture of the Sparrowfeathers in Pendrago, with news that Lunarre has framed them for the assassination of the Cardinal in order to get Rolance an excuse to start the war with Hyland, using the Scattered Bones as a scapegoat. Sorey encourages Rose to go save her family, and Rose leaves the party.

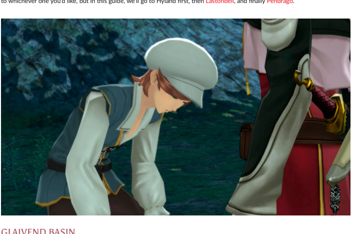
From here, there are three places you can go:

1. Hyland, to speak to Alisha

2. Lastonbell, to speak to Sergei

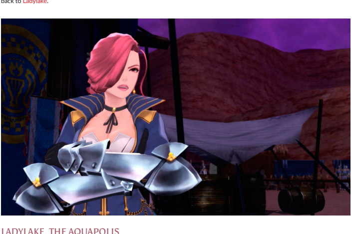
3. Pendrago, to help Rose

Which place you go to next is up to you. Rose will not rejoin your party again until all three sections are completed. You can go to whichever one you'd like, but in this guide, we'll go to Hyland first, then Lastonbell, and finally Pendrago.



GLAIVEND BASIN

Warp to the Marlind entrance in Falkewin Hillside and head to the outpost from there. Inside, the Basin is covered in malevolence once more, while Maltran is at the outpost, ordering the troops to ready for battle. Speak with her to discover that Alisha has been tasked with bringing Maltran the order to start the war. Once you return to Falkewin Hillside, you can warp back to Ladylake.



LADYLAKE, THE AQUAPOLIS

Alisha is under attack at her home by hellionized Hyland troops. Defeat the first wave of Armor Knights and Lailah will bring Alisha back into the fold for the next wave, her Squire vows reinforged. During the battle, Zaveid introduces himself.

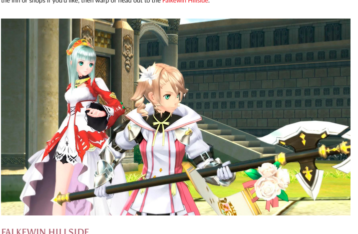
Speak with Alisha on her terrace to hear her firm resolve to not start the war. The group breaks the news to Alisha that Lady Maltran is currently working to incite war. Alisha doesn't believe it, and needs to confirm it with her own eyes. She walks away, but is now officially in your party. Update her gear and stats; all four of her titles have now risen to their highest ranks.

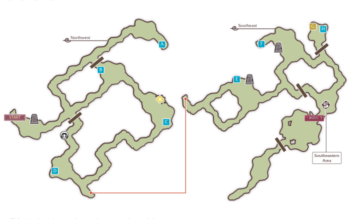
Head out to the Central District and watch another cutscene where the party reassures Alisha of her place as a Squire. Stop at the inn or shops if you'd like, then warp or head out to the Falkewin Hillside.



FALKEWIN HILLSIDE

Near Glaivend Basin, Lady Maltran comes out to confront Alisha and Sorey. She is amused that Alisha has discovered her true identity and demands the royal order, stating she is more than willing to take it by force. Despite her threat, Maltran wants to avoid any "prying eyes". Follow her into Bors Ruins for a battle.

BORS RUINS



You'll find Lady Maltran in the Southeast area, beyond the save point.

Maltran is resistant to Non-Elemental, Earth, and Water artes, so focus on Fire and Wind artes and keep Zaveid and Lailah on the field. Her spear gives her long-ranged attacks with a mixture of martial and hidden artes. Unsurprisingly, as Alisha's teacher, Maltran shares many of her same moves, including a mystic arte. Dodge her combos if you can, especially later in the battle, to avoid getting hit by the mystic arte.

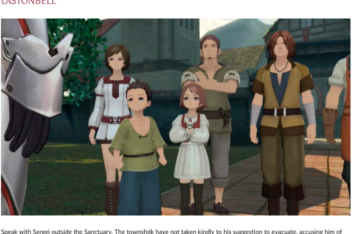
Triggering any Power Combos may be challenging, so the key to defeating Maltran is to balance offense with defense. Remember, Alisha may be your Squire, but unlike Rose, she cannot armatize. Keep an eye on her health since she won't be able to heal or revive herself.

After her defeat, Maltran resists purification, and then impales herself on Alisha's spear, manipulating her until the very end.

Track down Alisha. She has a breakdown, understandably, but Sorey helps her find her resolve again. She leaves the party intending to do all she can to stop the war.

This completes the Hyland section. From here, you can go to Sergei in Lastonbell or Rose in Pendrago. This guide covers Lastonbell next.

LASTONBELL



Speak with Sergei outside the Sanctuary. The townsfolk have not taken kindly to his suggestion to evacuate, accusing him of cowardice and lacking patriotism to try and prevent the war with Hyland. Sergei suggests that he and Sorey head outside the city to talk. Follow him to Volgran Forest, as he calmly takes the insults of the town the entire way to the doors.

Sergei waits on the hill to the right. Speak to him; despite their abuses, Sergei understands the townsfolks anger towards him. However, Lailah and Mikleo suspect that there is more to the sudden rise of malevolence than solely hatred towards the enemy. They request his aid, but at that moment one of the angry citizens, a child, is attacked by a hellion and Sergei takes his men to protect the kid. Suddenly, the world goes grey and Symonne unmasks herself; she had been disguising herself as a Lastonbell citizen, helping to spur on the jeers and anger towards Sergei. She leads them farther into the woods. Follow her until you reach what appears to be Sergei and his men. Symonne is unable to further fool the party with her illusions, but nevertheless, she attacks them in her new form.

Fake Sergei lacks any resistances or weaknesses, but the three Undead Sorcerers at his side are weak to Fire, so bring out Lailah for some area-of-effect Fire artes. Without a Squire at your side, this battle will be more difficult. Sergei will lay into you with quick martial and hidden artes, while the Undead Sorcerers will attack you from a distance with seraphic artes. Use Spread Out so Sorey and Lailah can focus on different enemies—better yet, take control of Lailah and take out the Undead Sorcerers while Sorey focuses on Sergei. If you can withstand their attacks, you might try focusing on taking out Sergei first, since his quick attacks can easily take you out if you're not careful.

After the battle the world returns to normal. Symonne attempts to taunt the party, but Sorey dismisses her arguments, and she retreats with disgust. They decide to return to Sergei, who is still dealing with the hellions from before. His efforts were not without cost, but at least now the townspeople will listen to him. Despite this small victory, Sergei questions himself as a hypocrite for talking down his fellow citizens from the very same anger he harbors himself. He even fears that he may be corrupted by malevolence, but Sorey assures him that he is not. Sergei and Sorey agree to find a path to peace together, and your objective in Lastonbell is complete.

Now that these two allies from rival kingdoms agreed to do their best to prevent the upcoming war, its time to get your personal ally back. Head to Pendrago to assist Rose with saving the Scattered Bones.

Warp over to the Pendrago Entrance in Pearlsato Pasture and head into the city. Near the entrance, Sorey spots Rose's handiwork. Rose has been robbing the nobility each night and calling out Lunarre. Head to the inn to rest until the evening, and then head over to the Noble's District. Zaveid and Sorey listen in to a conversation between Lunarre and some noblemen. As you move to chase Lunarre, two Lizard Warrior hellions block the way. They are weak against Non-Elemental arte, so just whale on them with Sorey and get moving.

You've lost Lunarre's trail, but you'll find him again at the amphitheater in the Castle Diocese district. Head to the entrance to see several Scattered Bones members trussed up, and Rose facing off against Lunarre. Zaveid and the rest of the party intervenes to take on Lunarre while Rose saves her guildmembers.

Lunarre is resistant to all elements besides Non-Elemental and Fire, so use Sorey and Lailah for this battle. You've defeated Lunarre several times before, but without a Squire by your side, he is more powerful than ever—fight defensively! As you battle Lunarre, Rose will release the Scattered Bones members one by one—there are three members total, so use that to gauge how much time you have left to spend fighting. Once she saves Eugille, a cutscene will interrupt, and Rose saves Zaveid in turn. She rejoins your party, so now you can attack with your full lineup. Lunarre now has access to a mystic arte that can easily knock out your party members, so keep your party spread out towards the end of the battle. Once you finish bringing his HP down, Sorey attempts to purify Lunarre. Unfortunately, it doesn't work, and Rose stabs him, intending on killing him. Instead, Lunarre disappears in a flurry of blue flames. Rose stays behind with the Scattered Bones for now, so head back to the entrance.

Once all three tasks are complete, your party will receive word that the war has finally broken out, the heads of each nation having circumvented Alisha's and Sergei's efforts. Rose now rejoins your party. Prepare for a difficult battle: stock up on supplies, visit an inn, or do any last minute training. When you're ready, head to Glaivend Basin from the Volgran Forest.

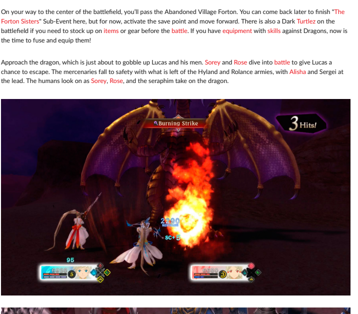
An animated cutscene shows the battlefield descending into chaos as the malevolence turns humans into hellions. A seraph in the middle of the battlefield is overwhelmed by the malevolence and becomes a dragon, completely decimating every human in its path. Terrified, the armies flee.

On your way to the center of the battlefield, you'll pass the Abandoned Village Forton. You can come back later to finish "The Forton Sisters" Sub-Event here, but for now, activate the save point and move forward. There is also a Dark Turtlez on the battlefield if you need to stock up on items or gear before the battle. If you have equipment with skills against Dragons, now is the time to fuse and equip them!

Approach the dragon, which is just about to gobble up Lucas and his men. Sorey and Rose dive into battle to give Lucas a chance to escape. The mercenaries fall to safety with what is left of the Hyland and Rolance armies, with Alisha and Sergei at the lead. The humans look on as Sorey, Rose, and the seraphim take on the dragon.



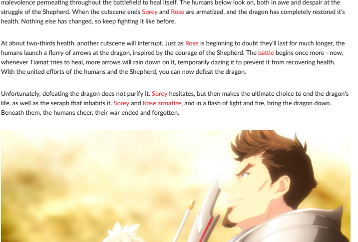
This is a difficult battle, so make sure you are well equipped. This isn't a drake or a wyvern, but a full dragon. With its weakness to Non-Elemental artes, it's important for Sorey and Rose to keep Tiamat caught in a Power Combo to negate its resistance to Fire, Earth, and Water artes for the seraphim. Zaveid will be useful for armatization offensively, otherwise use the other seraphim's armatizations for healing your party. Most importantly, focus on survival—keep an eye on your seraphim and switch them out if they are low on health or are inflicted with an ailment so they can heal in safety.

Tiamat attacks are powerful, but they are also slow, with distinct hints to the type of attack he'll unleash next. While Non-Elemental artes will trigger Power Hits, besides the occasional stun, most of Tiamat's attacks cannot be broken even with proper arte balancing. As he builds up his next attack, get ready to dodge or guard. Many of his attacks can be avoided by evading behind him, while his slam and swipe attacks are best guarded. Beware: some of his attacks can inflict Paralyze, so it's very important to avoid getting hit as much as possible.

A cutscene will interrupt after you've brought down about a fifth of it's health. Your party realizes that the dragon is using the malevolence permeating throughout the battlefield to heal itself. The humans below look on, both in awe and despair at the struggle of the Shepherd. When the cutscene ends Sorey and Rose are armatized, and the dragon has completely restored it's health. Nothing else has changed, so keep fighting it like before.

At about two-thirds health, another cutscene will interrupt. Just as Rose is beginning to doubt they'll last for much longer, the humans launch a flurry of arrows at the dragon, inspired by the courage of the Shepherd. The battle begins once more - now, whenever Tiamat tries to heal, more arrows will rain down on it, temporarily dazing it to prevent it from recovering health. With the united efforts of the humans and the Shepherd, you can now defeat the dragon.

Unfortunately, defeating the dragon does not purify it. Sorey hesitates, but then makes the ultimate choice to end the dragon's life, as well as the seraph that inhabits it. Sorey and Rose armatize, and in a flash of light and fire, bring the dragon down. Beneath them, the humans cheer, their war ended and forgotten.



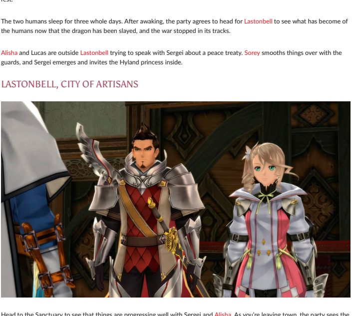
VOLGRAN FOREST

Sorey and Rose awake in Volgran Forest. Mikleo makes note that the malevolence of Glaivend Basin has completely vanished. Exhausted, they all agree to rest in the old hideout, the Tintagel Ruins. Sorey's top three titles raise to their highest rank: "Veteran Warrior", "Master Sword Danseur", and "Wielder of the Demon's Bane." Head north to the Ruins for a much needed rest.

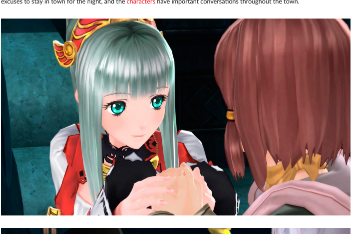
The two humans sleep for three whole days. After awaking, the party agrees to head for Lastonbell to see what has become of the humans now that the dragon has been slayed, and the war stopped in its tracks.

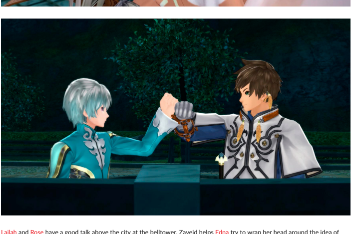
Alisha and Lucas are outside Lastonbell trying to speak with Sergei about a peace treaty. Sorey smooths things over with the guards, and Sergei emerges and invites the Hyland princess inside.

LASTONBELL, CITY OF ARTISANS



Head to the Sanctuary to see that things are progressing well with Sergei and Alisha. As you're leaving town, the party sees the townspeople responding well to the idea of peace, as well as soldiers from both sides celebrating together. Everyone makes excuses to stay in town for the night, and the characters have important conversations throughout the town.





Lailah and Rose have a good talk above the city at the belltower. Zaveid helps Edna try to wrap her head around the idea of death as salvation. Sorey and Mikleo share a moment of contemplation and self-reflection. Sorey comes to a decision about what he'll do after the final battle. Maotelus, now corrupted by malevolence, will need a new vessel to truly be purified. Unfortunately, Maotelus is so corrupted that this process could take a long time, even centuries, and would also require the assistance of future Squires and Shepherds. Sorey, however, is willing to put his faith in the future generations that will come after him. With Mikleo's help, they decide how to set himself up as the new vessel, but it will means breaking Heldalf's connection to Maotelus with Siegfried. The rest of the party overhears their conversation and unanimously agree that it is a "stupid" plan, but nonetheless, they will follow Sorey to the end. The Shepherd and his friends decide to set off that very night to defeat the Lord of Calamity.

TIP

Before heading into the forest, if you have leveled up the weaponsmith shops enough to unlock the "Mythril" Sub-Event, stop by Aroundight and pick up a special tool from Cerogrin. You'll be able to mine Mythril here [1], and once you bring some back, all of the weaponsmith shops will start stocking Mythril Gear Sets. Refer to the "Shops & Items" for specific Mythril locations, as well as "Mythril" in Side Events for more information.

Warp to the Aroundight Forest Entrance in Lakehaven Heights, and enter the forest. The forest that had long been under the protection of Gramp's domain is suddenly full of powerful hellions and malevolence. Worried about what this might mean, Sorey, Mikleo, and the party hurry on. The enemy levels within this area are now pretty high, so be careful. All of the seraphim's fourth titles raise to their final ranks: "The Answerer", "The Believer", "The Watcher", "Honest Fellow".

Near the entrance of Elysia, the group finds the corpses of dead Hyland soldiers, and realizes that Heldalf must have led soldiers and hellions into Elysia through the forest. Heldalf has nothing to gain by invading Elysia and opening the path to Camlann—unless his intention is to torment Sorey until it leads him to malevolence. Best to get a move on.

In Elysia, a monstrous foe awaits the party. You cannot avoid it, so when you're ready head over to face the two-headed beast barring your path.

Each of the heads uses different elemental attacks. Try to avoid standing directly in front of it, and get in the fray with Sorey and Rose's powerful Non-Elemental artes; be warned, its hidden artes can be quick and unblockable, so don't let your martial artes get you caught. Switch in Edna and pound away, keeping it staggered so that it doesn't have time to return fire. Be careful when you get its health pretty low, as it will begin to cast Regeneration to heal itself. When this happens, interrupt it or let loose with a mystic arte. Defeating Cerberus raises Mikleo's top three titles to their highest ranks.

As you enter the village, dead soldiers are strewn about. The group realizes that the massive amount of malevolence in the area is not due to Gramp's blessing disappearing alone. The seal that Mikleo's mother, Muse, forged to hold back the malevolence of Maotelus must have been broken. Head up to Gramps' house where Elysia's seraphim have safely sealed themselves inside. Gramps has not returned since he left on his own to drive out the humans. Go inside the house and inspect the bookshelf to find a skit alongside something that the old seraph left for you: Gramps' Letter. After watching the skit, you'll receive Gramps' Letter, and Mikleo's title "Kindred Soul" raises to "One of a Kind." If you returned Gramps' Pipe to him earlier, then it will be there alongside the Letter.

Head back down the hillside and you'll encounter Symonne. She taunts Sorey, confirming that Gramps went off to drive away the humans. However, she adds, "It's far too late at this point to do anything," before she disappears.

It's time to head back to where it all began: the Mt. Mabinogio Ruins.

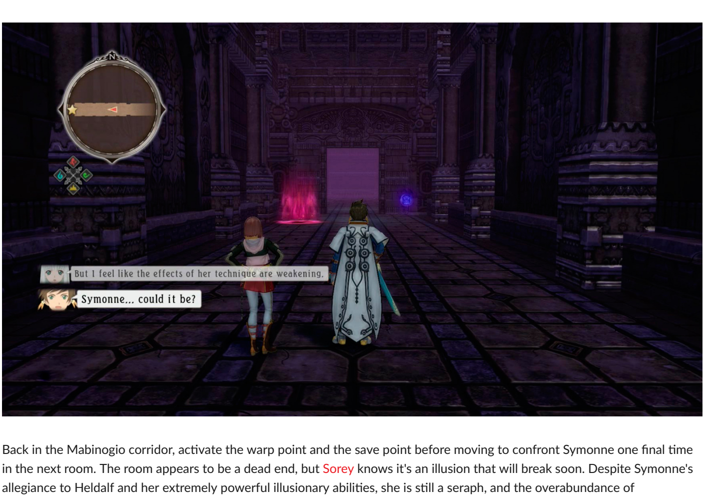
Not far into the Depths, you are suddenly transported into a strange desert. Use the map above to navigate through as best as you can. Invisible walls will prevent you from going off track, but this doesn't make it any easier to navigate. Hellions are another good way to stay on your path, as they won't spawn in areas you can't enter. Try your best until you encounter Rose and Sorey clones, complete with armatization abilities.

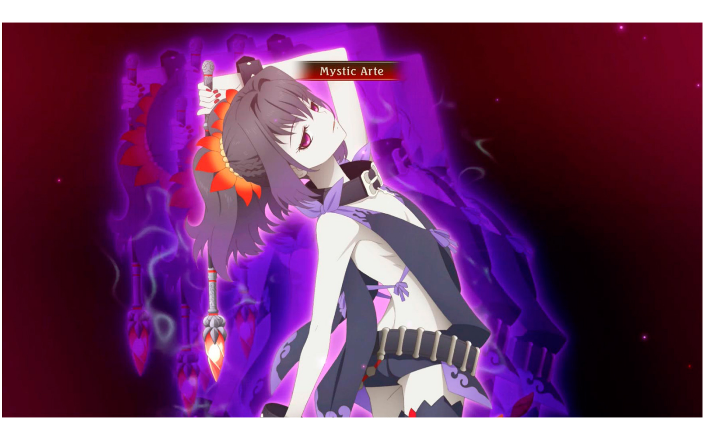
Sorey starts off armatized with Lailah, and Rose armatized with Edna, but the clones just mimic them, giving them resistances to their faux seraphim's element. Either focus your attacks on the opposite clone, or armatize with Mikleo and use ranged attacks to create openings for your partner while you stay out of range of the clone's devastating combo attacks. If you get caught by both of them at once, they can easily knock you out before you can sidestep far enough away. Defeat them to escape the illusory world and return to the Depths of Mt. Mabinogio Ruins. Back in the real world, Sorey realizes that there is still enough malevolence in the area that it would be difficult for a seraph to withstand it without a vessel.

Pick up the treasures and normin in the area. Once you pass the center of the corridor and reach the next set of stairs, you will enter the strange desert again. Continue moving forward through the twisty path (refer to the same map formation as before) and you'll encounter the Rose and Sorey clones again, this time Wind and Water armatized. Use similar tactics as before. This time you don't start off armatized, so strategize against their resistances as you would any other foe. These clones will be using a combination of hidden and seraphic artes—use your arte balancing to your advantage.

After defeating the clones, you'll return back to the Depths. The group notes that while Symonne's illusions look like the real deal, her inability to understand humans and their relationships to each other lessens much of their power. Also, her illusionary powers appear to be weakening...



Back in the Mabinogio corridor, activate the warp point and the save point before moving to confront Symonne one final time in the next room. The room appears to be a dead end, but Sorey knows it's an illusion that will break soon. Despite Symonne's allegiance to Heldalf and her extremely powerful illusionary abilities, she is still a seraph, and the overabundance of malevolence is weakening her. Having enough of Sorey's unintentional mocking, Symonne reveals herself and attacks, but this time, without the assistance of her illusions.



With all four of your lineup attacking constantly, Symonne won't be able to do much except get staggered over and over again. However, her special ability lessens her stun time, so be ready for her to bounce right back. She has no resistances or weaknesses but will use seraphic artes of all four elements—break them with your martial artes if you can. She'll try to run away to charge her seraphic artes out of the range of your attacks, so switch to Semi-Auto mode so you character will move automatically within range before attacking. If you are unable to keep her staggered or stunned throughout the battle, she will attempt to use her mystic arte "Recursion". Unlike most mystic artes, it is dangerous whether it hits or not. If it hits, she uses her clones to lay in a huge attack that can easily take you out. If it misses, she might spawn the clones instead to fight alongside her. Overall, focus on offense, and she will fall.

Symonne is out of energy, and after her deluded speech, the group leaves her sobbing on the floor. Edna's top three titles raise to their highest rank. Head through the doorway and into Camlann.

There are two very powerful hellions in this area that you can choose to take on. Otherwise, activate the warp point and save point, stock up at the Dark Turtlez Emporium, and head on through to Artorius' Throne after exploring this area.

From Camlann to the top of Artorius' Throne, you'll run into six extremely powerful Boss Hellions. You do not have to fight them (though the added experience will be helpful for the final battle), but defeating them rewards you with special weapons. Although these weapons appear to be quite useless, they can be fused with any equipment of the same type, making them potentially some of the most powerful weapons in the game. You can find similar equipment later at Hexen Isle, but to get there, you'll need to defeat Heldalf first.

Artorius' Throne is a huge, collapsing structure that will take some time to navigate. You can also load the save file directly, where you will start at the Bottom of the Stairs again. With this file you'll have access to some additional content, including Hexen Isle. Sorey's title "Grand Shepherd" will have been raised to its highest rank: "Last of the Shepherds."

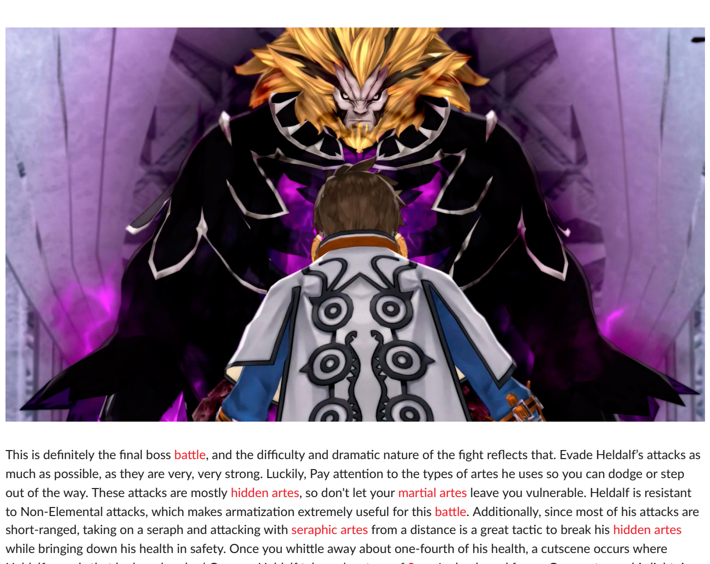
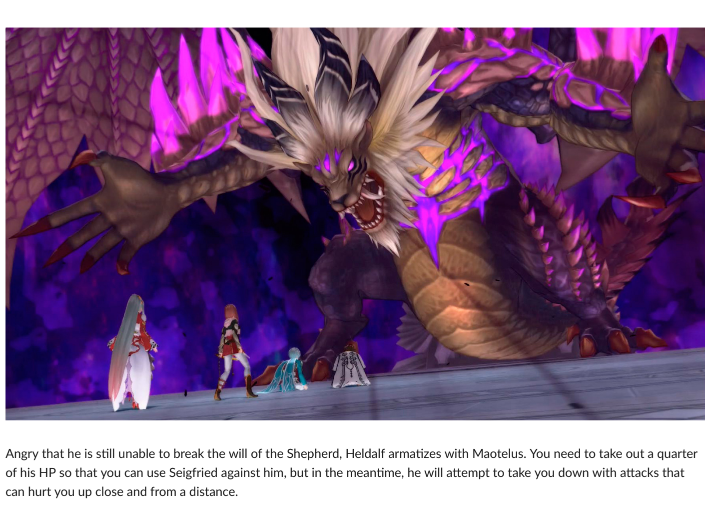
Once you make it through to the top, activate the warp point and save point at the base of the stairs, and then head up across the plaza to enter the final building. Sorey gains the costume "Shepherd's Outfit: Determination," which changes the music used in battle.

The big battle with Heldalf has three main parts, so stock up on restorative items to make sure you have an ample supply. Then, head inside and challenge the Lord of Calamity!



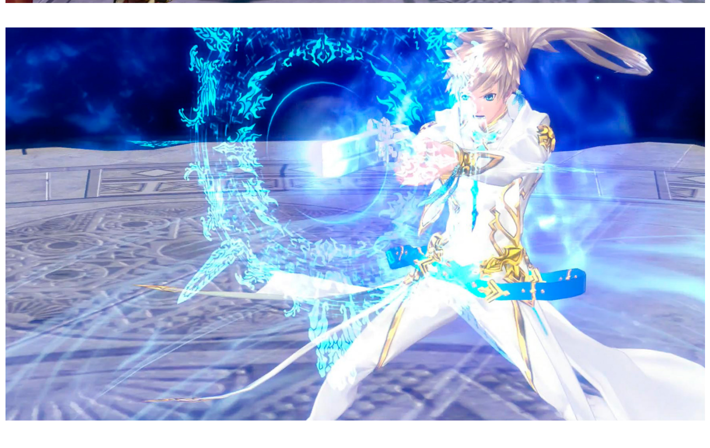
This is definitely the final boss battle, and the difficulty and dramatic nature of the fight reflects that. Evade Heldalf's attacks as much as possible, as they are very, very strong. Luckily, Pay attention to the types of artes he uses so you can dodge or step out of the way. These attacks are mostly hidden artes, so don't let your martial artes leave you vulnerable. Heldalf is resistant to Non-Elemental attacks, which makes armatization extremely useful for this battle. Additionally, since most of his attacks are short-ranged, taking on a seraph and attacking with seraphic artes from a distance is a great tactic to break his hidden artes while bringing down his health in safety. Once you whittle away about one-fourth of his health, a cutscene occurs where Heldalf reveals that he has absorbed Gramps. Heldalf takes advantage of Sorey's shock, and forces Gramps to use his lightning artes against Sorey.

The fight continues on, and the group decides they must take down Heldalf first before they can figure out how to save Gramps—if they can. Beware, Heldalf will now have access to new powerful hidden artes, and he'll try to trigger his mystic arte "True Lion's Howl." Once you bring down his HP, Rose attempts to take it on herself to land a lethal attack against Gramps, but Mikleo and Sorey ultimately decide that it's something they need to do themselves.

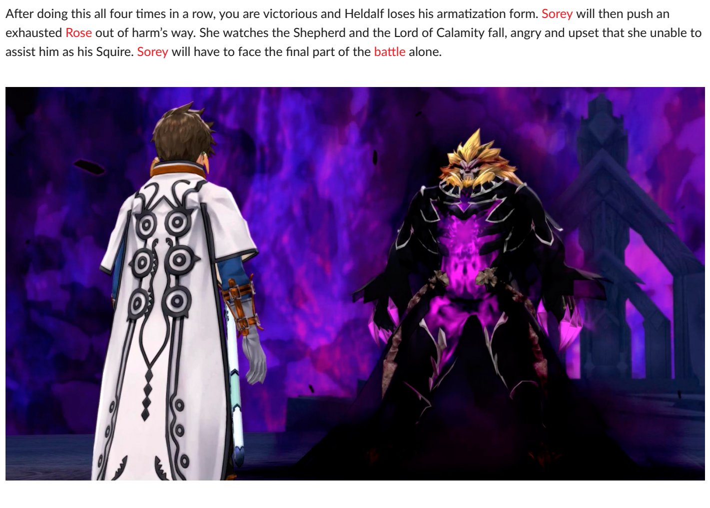


Angry that he is still unable to break the will of the Shepherd, Heldalf armatizes with Maotelus. You need to take out a quarter of his HP so that you can use Seigfried against him, but in the meantime, he will attempt to take you down with attacks that can hurt you up close and from a distance.

Once his health has depleted by 25%, Heldalf will begin chanting to cast a vicious attack that will wipe out your entire party if it is not interrupted in time. Once he starts chanting, pummel him with your strongest attacks. If you cause enough damage, you'll be able to interrupt the casting and stun him just long enough for you to fire a seraph through Siegfried by following the on-screen instructions. Remember that any seraph you fire will no longer be available for the remainder of the battle, so choose your armatization order carefully. Luckily, every time you do this, your party heals to full health. This process will repeat every time Heldalf has been brought down by a quarter of his health.



After doing this all four times in a row, you are victorious and Heldalf loses his armatization form. Sorey will then push an exhausted Rose out of harm's way. She watches the Shepherd and the Lord of Calamity fall, angry and upset that she unable to assist him as his Squire. Sorey will have to face the final part of the battle alone.



Now Heldalf is back to his regular self, which is a welcome change after that crazy armatization form. His resistance to Non-Elemental artes is back, but his health has dropped to more than half than it was before. Focus on dodging and guarding his hidden attacks, then attacking when he is vulnerable. Pay attention to the type of hidden artes he uses—for some, it'll be best to backstep; for others, sidestep. You can take him out faster by taking the risk to overpower these attacks with your own hidden artes. But remember, if you lose health, the only way to heal is to use items. You need to lower his health so you can finish him with a mystic arte that Mystic Arte, which Heldalf will match. Unfortunately for Heldalf, Sorey has a trick up his sleeve, and blasts the weakened Heldalf back into a throne, revealing Maotelus at last.

After everything you have fought through, all you can do now is walk forward. Sorey picks up a fallen sword, which you must use to end Heldalf's life. When you reach him, press K to lift the sword, and press K again to stab him in the heart. When Heldalf dies, the seraphim drift away, and the malevolence within him finally dissipates. Sorey reaches out for Maotelus, and a bright beam of light erupts into the sky, spreading out to the entire world.

Thus concludes the main story. To find out what happens afterwards, stick around during and after the ending credits. You can also check out the DLC expansion, "Alisha's Story."

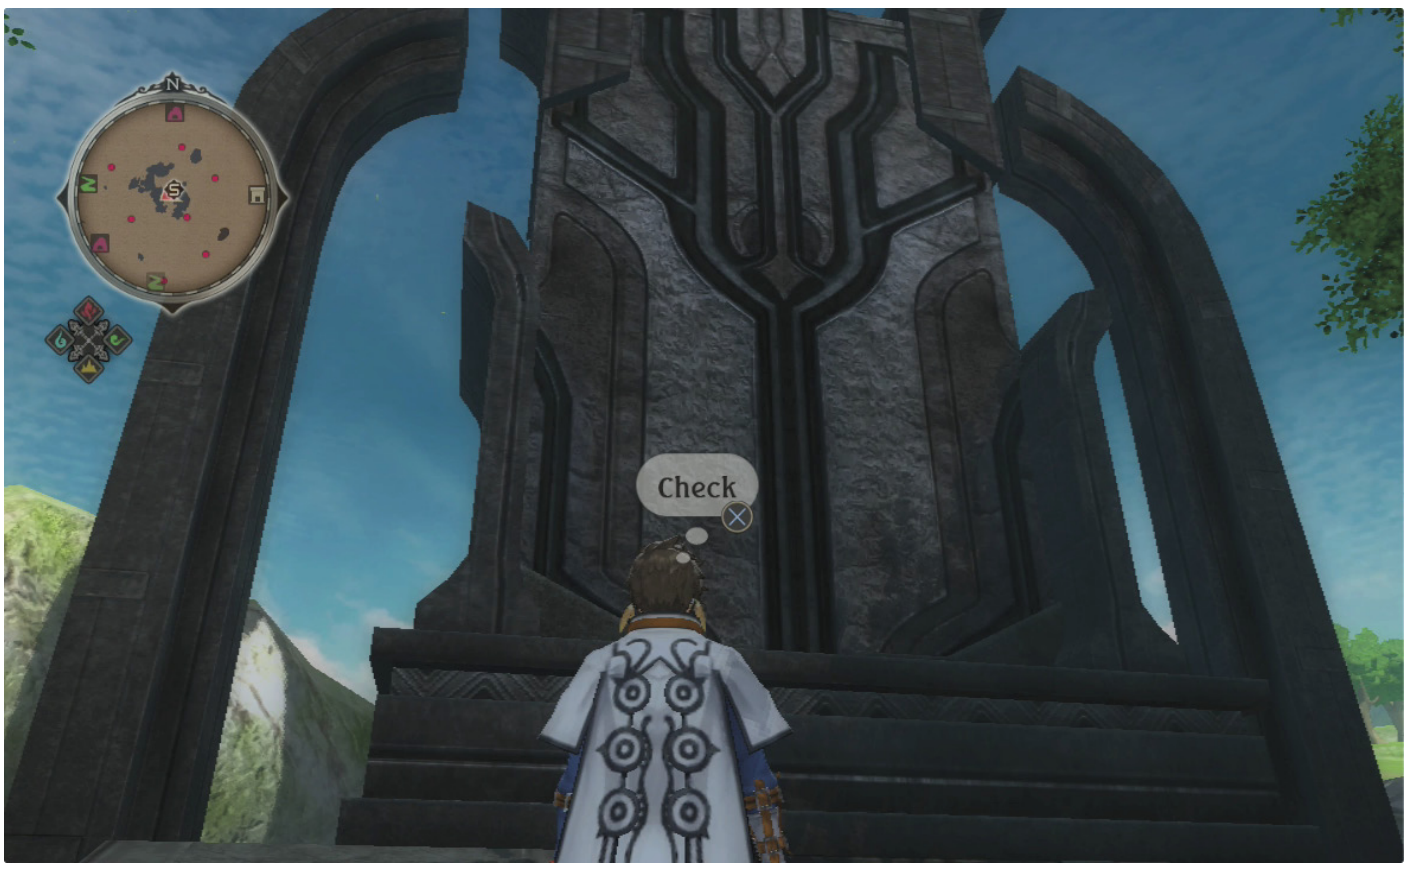
Crucibles of Malevolence

Overview

Heldalf has unsealed several Malevolent Crucibles across the continent in order to nurture the growth of strong hellions throughout the land. These arenas attract local hellions and pit them against each other to weed out the weak and leave only the strong. Each of these dark altars can only be entered by a specific party member, alone, or by Sorey or Rose and one accompanying seraph. Examining a Malevolent Crucible will tell you which party member(s) can enter.



These are excellent areas to test your fighting prowess as each of the different playable characters and gain substantial rewards. You can challenge each crucible as many times as you wish, so they are also useful if you need to earn experience.

The final Malevolent Crucible is located on Hexen Isle, so you must complete the main storyline and create game clear save data in order to access all eight. Prove your skills by clearing all eight Crucibles of Malevolence in order to unlock a trophy.

Rescue the Katz being tormented between Alisha's home and Rountabel Palace within Ladylake's Noble's District, and then show it Gramps' Pipe in order to enter Katz Korner. It's a good idea to save before entering in case you accidentally trigger the boss battle before you're ready to clear it. In Katz Korner, approaching the two Turtlez in the central area will trigger a cutscene that forces you into battle with the Dark Turtlez. Speak with Skit Katz in order to view skits you've already seen, or pay to unlock any skits you missed. Similarly, Movie Katz will let you re-watch key events of your game thus far. Dragon Zombie

HP	200000

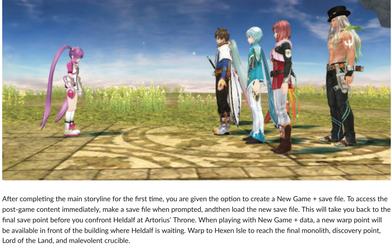
With all the Calix's cleared, there is only one force of evil left on Hexen Isle: Dragon Zombie, who also happens to be one of the most powerful enemies in the game. In the center of the island you probably found the Discovery Point "Full Dragon Skeleton" - if you approach it now, you'll discover that the skeleton is very much alive and ready to take you down. Luckily Dragon Zombie has no resistances, is weak to Non-Elemental artes, and has low Defense, making this fight Sorey's and Rose's time to shine. However, Dragon Zombie has many tricks up its sleeve, so don't let your guard down. The main problem with Dragon Zombie is its longevity – with an HP of 200,000 and a ridiculously high Focus, Dragon Zombie can keep on fighting and laying down its artes for a long time. Since it's an Undead hellion, it will gradually recover a portion of its health unless you can keep it afflicted with status effects. More than ever, keep an eye on your seraphim's health and switch them out accordingly so they can heal outside of battle: you'll need their support over the long term.

With its low defense and arsenal of hidden and seraphic artes, correctly timed uses of Non-Elemental martial and hidden artes will be the key to bringing Dragon Zombie down. Dragon Zombie's hidden artes can knock you into the air and take down a chunk of your HP, but many of these attacks can be avoided by sticking to his side and guarding - almost all of its artes have slow, obvious animation charges, so watch out for them so you can guard or dodge out of the way. Luckily, with a healthy combination of martial and hidden Non-Elemental artes, the chance of Dragon Zombie being inflicted with stun or down is fairly high, so keep up the offense when he's open to attacks.

You might be tempted to go all out when Dragon Zombie's health is low, but this is actually when you should be the most cautious. As its health depletes, its more powerful artes awaken. Once its health is half gone, Dragon Zombie will start to use the hidden arte 'Cursed Breath' which can inflict Curse, a very nasty status effect - luckily, it takes a while for this arte to charge, so as soon as you see it trigger get behind or to the side of the dragon. At even lower health, Dragon Zombie will also use 'Aura', which releases powerful orbs of darkness that can cause massive damage and is likely inflict Paralysis. Dragon Zombie will also take a page from Jade's book by using the seraphic arte 'Meteor Storm'. For 'Aura', dodge out of the way or hang back when it triggers; for 'Meteor Storm', break it if you can, otherwise, run.

Defeating Dragon Zombie effectively purifies Hexen Isle and awards you Zaveid's Alternative Outfit: 'Wind Hunter: Alt. Color', but also powers up Heldalf by nearly doubling his level and stats. But after clearing all the Calix's and defeating Dragon Zombie, you should be more than ready for a more challenging fight.



After completing the main storyline for the first time, you are given the option to create a New Game + save file. To access the post-game content immediately, make a save file when prompted, andthen load the new save file. This will take you back to the final save point before you confront Heldalf at Artorius' Throne. When playing with New Game + data, a new warp point will be available in front of the building where Heldalf is waiting. Warp to Hexen Isle to reach the final monolith, discovery point, Lord of the Land, and malevolent crucible.

Clearing all of the dungeons here, each of which holds a boss and valuable equipment, will allow you to progress through a side storyline involving some familiar Tales of characters. Doing so will unlock a very challenging boss battle. Defeating the boss on Hexen Isle will complete the side storyline and power up Heldalf, so if you decide to do so, be prepared to face a much more difficult final battle afterward.

Agni
Level	93
HP	37761

Resistance

Agni is weak to Water attacks but resistant to Fire, Earth, and Wind. Utilize Mikleo and your water artes to trigger as many Power Combos as you can. Your martial artes are useless if Agni is using one of its hidden artes, so if you're fighting as a human be sure to guard or dodge out of the way, or use some hidden artes of your own – if you're fighting as a seraphim or are armatized, this is a perfect time to charge up a seraphic arte. Martial artes are most useful when Agni is charging the seraphic arte 'Burning Strike', since they break its concentration and leave Agni vulnerable to attacks. As an Undead hellion, Agni can periodically recovery some of its HP during the battle; to counter this, try to keep it afflicted with status effects as often as possible while bringing down as much of its health as you can. Armatizing with Mikleo is extremely useful in this battle as well, as your bow and arrow will easily avoid Agni's close-range attacks while also taking advantage of its weakness to Water.

Sophie (1)
Level	100
HP	36273
Link	—
Weakness	—
Resistance

Sophie lacks any elemental weaknesses and is resistant to Fire, Water, and Wind, so focus on using Non-Elemental and Earth artes. In this situation, Edna is a good seraph to keep in battle for as long as possible since her artes won't trigger Sophie's resistance. What Sophie lacks in both Defense and Arte Defense, she more than makes up for in Attack. It is imperative to guard and dodge her attacks to put yourself into a good position to strike when an opening presents itself. You can also use your hidden artes against Sophie's martial or hidden artes; it's more risky, but can also be useful against her. However, keep in mind that Sophie has a special ability that doubles the amount of BG she gains while defending, so hold off your attacks when she's in a guard stance since her Mystic Arte 'Zero Dissolver' is particularly brutal. The key to victory here is to find a balance between attack and defense to prepare for her onslaught of martial and hidden artes, then carefully using your martial, hidden, and seraphic artes in response to the artes she uses.

Defeating Sophie awards you the fashion item 'Pigtails'. Fitting.

Illuyankas /

Level	105
HP	80014
Link	—
Weakness	—
Resistance

Illuyankas doesn't have any elemental weaknesses and is resistant to Non-Elemental, Water, and Wind artes, making Edna and Lailah good seraphs to have at the forefront. Illuyankas's special ability lets him recover 50 SC after successfully inflicting a stun - this means that dodging his lightning attacks not only prevents you from taking damage, but also keep Illuyankas from gaining enough SC to immediately attack again.

This dragon has a whole slew of hidden artes - 'Whirlwind', 'Shockwave', 'Lightning Ball', and 'Heavensholt' - but most them only effect the area immediate in front of him. There are two good counters against his hidden artes. The first method is to dodge out of the way, though keep in mind you cannot guard or quick step against hidden artes marked by a "!!" – for these artes either move completely out of the way or perform a well-timed Quick Evade. The second, and arguably more useful, method is to fight fire with fire - either overpower Illuyankas' hidden arte with a hidden arte of your own, or begin a seraphic arte and gain a charge from his hidden artes. This method is riskier, but it's a rewarding tactic if you have the HP to spare. Further, armatization (preferably with Lailah or Edna, keeping in mind his elemental resistances) is more useful than ever with this tactic, since you can easily overtake Illuyankas with your arsenal of hidden and seraphic artes.

Jade (1)
Level	115
HP	26248
Link	—
Weakness	—
Resistance

Jade is resistant to Non-Elemental, Earth, and Wind, so bring in Lailah and Mikleo and focus on your own Fire and Water artes, but you're going to need more than that to win this battle. Based on pure stats alone, Jade might seem less intimidating than Illuyankas, but his technique is deadly if you're not careful. Jade is fast and quick on his feet – he will attack your party with quick hidden and seraphic artes and then immediately run across the map to avoid your counter attacks. Your martial artes can disrupt his seraphic artes, but only if you can catch him. Jade's special ability grants him iron stance, which makes his seraphic artes harder than usual to break. If you normally fight in Manual mode, you might want to switch to Semi-Auto for this battle. This way your character automatically moves within striking range, so you only have to focus on attacking.

As with Illuyankas, a good counter to Jade's hidden artes is to break them with some hidden artes of your own, or use a seraphic arte to null the attack. However, later in the battle you might want to focus on dodging them - when he has enough BG charged, Jade tries to end his combos with his 'Mystic Cage' mystic arte. He also starts to use the seraphic arte 'Meteor Shower' around this time – break it with your martial artes if you can, otherwise get ready to run.

Defeating this four-eyed foe grants you the fashion accessory 'Third Eye'.

Quetzalcoatl is resistant to Non-Elemental, Fire, and Water artes but weak to Earth, so it's Edna's time to shine - bring in Zaveid for good measure, since his attacks won't trigger Quetzalcoatl's resistances. This bird god has a special ability that makes him immune to stagger when he has over 70% of his health, making him particularly dangerous right from the get-go. Even attacking Quetzalcoatl with Earth won't stagger him, so prioritize bringing down his HP quickly while avoiding his attacks. Armatizing with Edna at the start of the battle is a great way to bring him under 70% health since martial artes won't break his seraphic artes, but your hidden artes can still hit through Quetzalcoatl's hidden artes.

Other than that, Quetzalcoatl is not too different from the other bosses - dodge his hidden artes (or break them once he's under 70% health), use martial artes when he's vulnerable, and use seraphic artes to charge from his hidden artes. Quetzalcoatl's icy breath hidden arte can easily be avoided by being directly underneath him, but this leaves you vulnerable to his Earth arte; later on in the fight, fighting underneath Quetzalcoatl also puts you in direct line of sight for his hidden artes "Glider Attack" and "Shadow Eye". "Shadow Eye" is particularly hard to dodge, but at this point he should have less than 70% health, so your best bet is to interrupt it with some hidden artes of your own.

Remember Cerberus back in Elysia? Well meet their twin-twin brothers, Duoblock. Duoblock is resistant to Fire, Earth, and Wind, so bring in Mikleo and focus on Non-Elemental and Water artes. Right away, Duoblock attacks with a hidden arte that shoots either a Wind or Earth laser from their mouths; the beam is easy to dodge if you focus on quick martial or hidden artes that leaves you an opportunity to move, but if you get hit there is a high chance of stun. Duoblock's special ability allows them to quickly recover half of their SC when their health is low, which they can then use to heal with 'Regeneration' or lay down a series powerful hidden artes. Otherwise, this is a fairly straight-forward battle - dodge Duoblock's attacks, lay down the hurt, and avoid hitting them with their elemental resistances. You can also try to keep Duoblock afflicted with a status ailment while they are low in health - this prevents them from healing any of their HP at all.

He might only have one wing, but Fafnir does his best to use his sheer size and limited hover ability against you (this might be a good time to remember that you can always change your battle camera in the Battle Menu). He's resistant to Non-Elemental, Fire, and Wind artes but weak to Water, so bring in Mikleo for the punch, and Edna for good measure since he is not resistant to Earth. Fafnir's main attack has him hover in the air before slamming onto the ground - it's difficult to break this attack, so your best options are to dodge, guard, or just get out of its area of effect. Be careful with your hidden artes - you don't want to accidentally charge up his seraphic artes 'Air Pressure' and 'Gravity Well'. Try to break these artes with your martial artes if you can. Thankfully, if he does successfully charge them, both artes only affect a small area at your current location, so you can dodge out of the way if you time it right. At lower health he starts to use the hidden arte "Gravity Press" and seraphic arte "Sinister Soul" - these artes are more powerful, but just use the same tactics as before to deal with them: break if you can, otherwise dodge.

Because of Fanfir's love for seraphic and hard-to-break hidden artes, armatization is not very useful as an offensive strategy; if you do use it offensively, Mikleo armatized's long distance attacks can take advantage of his elemental weakness while also remaining out of his arte's reach, just remember to avoid accidentally charging his seraphic artes with your armatized hidden artes. Speaking of his weakness to Water, Fafnir can be inflicted with stagger or stun status quite easily, so be ready to go all out.

This second encounter with Jade and Sophie has them with almost double the health and stats of your previous fight, but take a look at their Power Link: together, they have a negative percentage boost of -80%. That means that the two are actually weaker when they fight together - take one down, and suddenly their true strength awakens. Therefore, it is a better idea to try and defeat them around the same time instead of taking a divide and conquer approach. It's hard to balance engaging both bosses at once, but it's better than fighting them one-on-one. Individually, they are two of the strongest foes in the game.

All in all, their battle styles are not so different than before, but now you'll have to deal with both of them at once; or worse, individually. Sophie's special ability has changed slightly – it now increases her BG while she's in the middle of a combo – so it's more important than ever to avoid her attacks to avoid triggering her mystic arte. Jade gains an extra boost in his iron stances, so it's even harder to break his seraphic artes. As far as elemental resistances, there is no change from last time (Sophie: Fire, Water, Wind; Jade: Non-Elemental, Earth, Wind), so which artes and seraphim you should use depends on which enemy you are fighting at the moment. If you bring out Zavied, consider changing his Strategy to defensive/support only so he won't trigger their weakness combo, since they are both resistant to Wind.

Defeating these two will give you the Trophy "A Non-Specific Tale".

Alisha's Story

Marlind, the City of the Great Tree

MARLIND, THE CITY OF THE GREAT TREE

ITEM LIST

Alisha's story continues a few months after the final battle between Sorey and Heldalf with the pending resignation of Chancellor Mathia. Since the passing of Chancellor Bartlow, the chancellor does not see the need to continue in its current form and plans to hand off operations to the new guard, Princess Alisha. Her efforts in conjunction with Sergei have been fruitful, and Mathia has come to accept that the old council members are now more hindrance than help. Alisha reflects on Sorey's contributions to the current state of the world as her new journey begins.

TIP

In the beginning, you will not be able to open certain types of treasure chests unless you are playing with New Game + data that includes the appropriate key(s) in the inventory carried over. Don't worry, though! You'll be able to collect these keys as you progress, and you can always come back to unlock them after you obtain the keys.

Activate the nearby save point to check out the Lord of the Land Menu options. Take a look at the available Boons and select any that may fit your play style. Make sure to select the free boons as well. If you are starting from scratch, you will have 15 points to spend on the various boons. If you are using New Game + data, you may have more available to you. You can also set Normin (you have 30 of the 50 available to you) if you already know what types of equipment skills you want to fuse.

There is a treasure chest near the rocks to the left of the save point containing a Grape Gel. The path to the right has a few villagers you can talk to if you wish, or you may continue down the path to the left.

As you move toward the town center, a pro-war extremist ambushes Alisha. Something doesn't seem quite right, and she deduces that he must be a hellion. It is not possible to lose this battle, so instead focus on learning Alisha's battle mechanics. Just when it seems as though all hope is lost, Rose saves the day! She reminds Alisha to stay vigilant and the two discuss the missing Shepherd. After resting, Alisha decides she must find out what has happened to Sorey.

The villagers on the path to the right have a few new things to say if you wish to speak to them, or you may skip them and begin your trek to the inn. There is a treasure chest to the right of the path near the rocks in front of the Marlind sanctuary containing a Spear of Impending Death. You can skip the sanctuary for now since there is nothing of value inside. Be sure to grab the Red Sage herb on the south side of the rock to your right before reaching the villagers. There is a treasure chest containing a Ribbon of Cosmos on the deck nearby.

Activate the save point and grab the Red Saffron near the house. Continuing along the path, there is a treasure chest containing a Drop Bottle behind Weaponsmith Cuatrind's shop. Make sure to grab the Red Chamomile near the tree in front of the inn. Before entering the inn, continue along the path to find a treasure chest containing 10,000 gald. Rose is standing at the entrance to the inn.

Alisha is eager to find out what happened with the Lord of Calamity, but Rose has other plans. Lailah and Edna are also here and attempt to persuade Rose, but Rose rebuffs them and takes off for the inn. You may talk to the villager outside if you wish, otherwise follow Rose inside.

She escaped through the window! Alisha will have to wait to find out what Rose knows. Onward to Lastonbell to find some answers. Take some time to stock up on items, equip Alisha, assign artes, and set battle actions before leaving town if you haven't already. Exit Marlind through either gate to go directly to Lastonbell.

TIP

If you go back to the inn room in Marlind, you can find an 'Autumn Blade' Short Sword on the table between the two beds.

Rose is surprised at Alisha's tenacity, but still refuses to let Alisha know what is going on with Sorey. Soon, the quarrel becomes a physical brawl. Lailah and Edna wonder if they should intervene, but ultimately decide not to.

With their friendship in shambles, Alisha departs to spend the night in the knights' barracks, coming to the conclusion that something terrible must have happened to Sorey. Activate the save point directly in front of you, then claim the 10,000 gald from the treasure chest to the left of the guards. Return to your starting location and open the treasure chest to the left containing a Cheesecake. Take the southern path and make the first right to find a Red Lavender herb. Continuing along this path will lead to a treasure chest near two villagers which contains a Survivor's Garb. The southwestern corner hides a Panacea Bottle, and the northern graveyard contains a gold chest.

Outside the sanctuary, you will find a save point. Once past, Alisha is ambushed by hellions once more, with Rose watching from the nearby rooftops. After a valiant effort at diplomacy by Alisha that does not sway the extremists, Rose intervenes and proposes Alisha becomes her squire. With the newly formed pact the battle should be a cinch, so take the time to become familiar with your new party members.

After thanking Rose, Lailah, and Edna for coming to her aid, Alisha departs for bed. Much to her annoyance the following morning, Rose informs Alisha that she will be bait for whoever is controlling the extremist hellions. After clarifying the terms of the squire pact, the group sets off, Alisha now garbed in a traditional Hyland Royalty outfit. Princess Knight fans might find this new clothing appropriately familiar...

Alisha acquires the title "Sheltered Princess" along with her fashion costume and accessory 'Hyland Royalty' Outfit.

Head down the path to west, opening the treasure chest on the right side of the road containing an Arcane Bottle and claim the Red Verbena herb on the left side of the road. Turn around and head east down this road, collecting the Red Rosemary near the house across from the Lastonbell Sanctuary, then proceed to the star on the mini-map.

Unfortunately, the knights are at a loss in the search for the extremists due to the size of the buffer zone. With Lastonbell and Falkwein Hillside ruled out, it's determined that the extremists are most likely hiding in Galwend Basin.

Before you leave, make sure to check out the shop, which is open now that it's daytime. Once you are ready, continue through the gate in front of you.

TIP

The skit, The Dreaded Slumbering Party, is now available at a save point.

Along the way is a Dark Turtlez Emporium merchant with quite a few items. Upgrade your equipment if necessary and continue on, opening the treasure chest to the left of the path containing a Drop Bottle. The group spies the extremist entering the cave that leads to the village of Camlann near the northern portion of the map.

The foursome is worried about using the path Edna securely sealed off after the battle with Heldalf. Before entering the cave, activate the save point and grab the Red Verbena to the right of the cave entrance as well as the Melon Gel in the treasure chest up the hill to the south of the entrance. The path to the south leads to the Falkewin Hillside if you would like to travel back to Marlind first.

The dead end path to the left of the cave entrance has a treasure chest holding a Ribbon of Cosmos. Grab this before exploring the rest of the dungeon.

Edna expresses her concerns about who reopened the cave, and Alisha surmises this must have something to do with Sorey. However, she doesn't bother asking questions from the group as she knows she will not receive any answers. Grab the Red Chamomile to your right and continue north on the path, battling (or bypassing) any enemies you come across.

When you reach the first three-way junction, make a left since there is nothing of value to your right. Head south at the next junction and at the dead end open the treasure chest that contains a Raspberry Mousse before continuing north. Alisha is shocked to find Lady Maltran, her old spear teacher, in the cave depths. As Maltran goes to attack, Rose steps in front of Alisha, but Alisha decides she must confront Maltran herself. Make sure to surround Maltran, landing stuns and interrupting her attacks so your party can whale in with your powerful seraphic artes. About half way through the battle, Maltran will have raised enough BG to trigger her mystic arte "Light Blast". She'll try to end her combos with this mystic arte, so evade out of her line of attack if you can. Time your blocks, evades, and artes accordingly, and this battle should be straightfoward.

After her defeat, it is revealed that this Lady Maltran is in fact an illusion. Nevertheless, she refuses to let you purify her, instead choosing death. However, Alisha does not wish to reenact the events of her last encounter with her teacher. With great sorrow, Alisha strikes down the illusion, saying goodbye one last time.

Symonne reveals herself once her illusory Lady Maltran is defeated. Symonne's plan to crush Alisha's spirit backfires, giving Alisha the strength to move on from her past. Before Symonne leaves, she hints at the burden Rose is carrying as well, alluding to things to come as the group reflects on Sorey and their respective paths.

Rose is finally ready to open up about what happened to Sorey, but still remains coy. Meanwhile, a familiar figure watches from the shadows with Symonne. It seems the events so far were all part of a plan concocted by Lunarre...

TIP

The skit Beyond One's Fears is now available at the save point.

Activate the save point and grab the Red Saffron near the western cliff before proceeding to your right and climbing the vines. Continue north, jump down the cliff, and open the treasure chest containing 20,000 gald. Finally, climb the vines to your right and proceed to the checkpoint.

Alisha finally learns about the events leading up to the first battle. After a fair bit of exposition, most of which is skipped for comedic effect, the group continues on towards the cave.

STOLAT MOUNTAINS CAVE (2)

Item List

	Arcane Bottle
	Drop Bottle
	Grounded Shoes

The dead-end to your right leads to a treasure chest containing a Drop Bottle, and there is a treasure chest containing an Elixir towards the dead-end south of the cave exit. Fight the enemies here if you wish, or bypass them and head to the exit.

Once you leave the cave, head south and jump down the cliff near the vines. There is a treasure chest containing an Arcane Bottle near the base. Continue south via the vines and activate the save point on your right; this is a good time to set new Boons, change your Nameki, and offer Armet if you wish, and there is a treasure chest near the save point containing Grounded Shoes. Grab these and check your equipment. You can challenge the giant dark shortarm, the Malevolent Crucible. Naruka if you wish. It's not required, so you can ignore it if you would rather just continue through the story.

Only Rose and Alisha may enter and the battle begins as soon as you enter, so make sure you set your Strategy accordingly before entering, along with your Battle Actions. Also, too. You will have to fight through multiple waves of enemies, so make sure you stock up on healing Items beforehand (remember, you can always use the save point warping action to travel to an area with a merchant if there isn't one nearby).

After defeating the hellish waves, a Kyhoro will appear. The key to this battle is using a combination of stuns and dodges. Kyhoro's attacks are relatively slow and easy to dodge, but they can stun you if you're not careful. Fortunately, Kyhoro suffers a chance to defend. Since Kyhoro primarily uses hidden arts and both Alisha and Rose lack versatile arts, your best bet is to use powerful hidden arts of your own to overpower Kyhoro's attacks. The hellish's Shadow Eye arts can also be devastating if you get caught in it, so when it begins to charge, get out of range quickly if you can't overpower the attack.

After defeating the Kyhoro, Rose and Alisha will return to the entrance of the Malevolent Crucible. In addition to the loot drops from the battle, you also get the Women's Armor "Gladiator" for clearing the crucible. You can challenge it multiple times to earn more Items and experience points if you wish.

Jump down the cliff and climb the vines to your right. Collect the treasure chest containing a Drop Bottle near the southern cliff and head towards the Elaine Ruins, activating the save point near the entrance.

The party suspects that they are being watched. Alisha deduces that the presence has entered the ruins ahead of them. Rose confidently proposes the group follow suit, promising that she is holding them to Sorey. Make sure you heal your party and purchase any needed Items from the Dark Syrtos Emporium before continuing.

Consumables

Level (Lv.) affects the item's treasure restoration rate (a Lord of the Land Boon) as well as drop rate after vanquishing enemies. Purchase Price is how much that item costs at shops. Selling Price is how much the item will be sold for at shops, and Grade is how much Grade is raised when offered to a Lord of the Land. Use will show if that item can be used while moving about the world or fighting in battles. What the item can do when consumed is described in Effect, and where you can acquire the item in a shop or its first appears as treasure in the world is under How to Acquire.

Snacks

In general, snacks will restore some of your HP and initial SC, but some are more powerful than others, and can grant their own unique effect. A snack's worth in gald or Grade can be found under Selling Price and Grade. When a snack is eaten, its recovery rate and effect will be listed under HP Recovery, SC Recovery, and Effect in Next Battle. Necessary Skill Level reflects the level of Proficiency in the Support Talent "Snack Preparation" a character needs to create that snack. The Natural Proficiency Level lists the initial proficiency each character has in making that item as well as the likelihood they'll actually make it. If the character can make that item, their proficiency is listed highest to lowest A > B > C > D; if they cannot make the item, then there is a "-".

Weapons

NOTE

All Mythril items are only available after completing "Sub-Event: Mythril".

Level (Lv.) affects the item's treasure restoration rate (a Lord of the Land Boon) and drop rate after vanquishing enemies. Purchase Price is how much that item costs at shops. Selling Price is how much the item is worth when sold at shops. Grade is how much the item will raise in Grade when offered to the Lord of the Land. The weapon's stats (Attack, Defense, Arte Attack, Arte Defense, and Focus) are listed. Rise Value affects the price of Fusion, and Drop represents the initial percentage that a weapon can be dropped by vanquishing enemies. Skill 1 is the default Skill that is automatically learned at the start of that item, and How to Acquire shows the first place the item appears in a dungeon, which enemies sell/drop it for at shops at which it is sold, or at what rank that shop needs to be raised in order to sell it. See Shop Rank Table").

Accessories

Level (Lv.) affects the item's treasure restoration rate (a Lord of the Land Boon) and drop rate after vanquishing enemies. Purchase Price is how much that item costs at shops. Selling Price is how much the item is worth when sold at shops, and Grade is how much the item will raise in Grade when offered to the Lord of the Land. The weapon's stats (Attack, Defense, Arte Attack, Arte Defense, and Focus) are also listed. Rise Value affects the price of Fusion, and Drop represents the initial chance percentage of that item dropping after battles. Skill 1 is the default Skill that will appear in the first slot of Accessories, and how to Acquire shows the first place in the item appears in a dungeon, which enemies will drop it, the store at which it is sold, or at what rank that shop needs to be raised to in order to sell that item (refer to "Shop Rank Table").

NOTE

All Mythril items are only available after completing "Sub-Event: Mythril".

Shops & Inns

Overview

Shops are where you can purchase and sell items and equipment for gald. You can also use gald at shops to fuse equipment together. A shop's rank goes up depending on the amount of gald exchanged when purchasing, selling, or fusing items. Raising a shop's rank will result in that shop stocking more powerful equipment. Each shop's current rank is indicated by the 5 stars displayed under the shop name in the shop menu. There are a total of 10 possible ranks, so each half-star is equal to one rank level. Your progress toward the next level is shown on the progress bar behind the stars; once that bar is filled, the shop rank will increase.

Shops and Inns use the same ranking system to denote item/dish availability. Ranking up shops will give you access to better items and equipment, while ranking up Inns will give you access to more dishes with longer lasting effects.

Inns

Inns are where you can recover your HP and initial SC, gain temporary boosts and battle effects from inn meals, and catch skits that can potentially lead to a sub-event or new Support Talent. An inn's rank goes up depending on the amount of gald exchanged when selecting meals. Raising an inn's rank will result in that inn offering more meals, as well as increasing the number battles a meal's effect lasts. Each inn's current rank is indicated by 5 stars displayed under the inn name in the inn menu (there are 10 total possible ranks, so each half-star is equal to one rank level). Your progress toward the next level is shown on the progress bar behind the stars; once that bar is filled, the inn rank will increase.

The second set of tables list the meals served at those inns, at what rank they appear, and how many battles their effect lasts at that rank. For example: Shaorune Inn in Ladylake only serves 'Grilled Sweetfish' and 'Pork and Potatoes' at Rank 1, but when you raise that rank to Rank 2 'Sockeye Salmon Terrine' will become available. Further, 'Grilled Sweetfish's'00000 effect (which you can read in the Food section) initially lasts for 10 battles, but when you raise Shaorune Inn's rank to Rank 3, it lasts for 16 battles.

RECORD	COMMENTS RELEASE CONDITIONS	COMMENT
Times Records Viewed	1 time	This shows how many times you've checked on your records. As you make progress, we'll have various comments for you, so please drop in now and then!
	10 times	It is improper to expect something in return for achieving records. They exist purely for your private edification.
	30 times	Don't pop in here just to inflate this record. It won't do anything cool, I promise. But hey, while you're here, check out the more interesting crap below.
	50 times	Records will keep getting added here, so don't forget to check up on them regularly.
Total Play Time	000:00:00	This is the amount of time you've been playing. Remember to sleep at least once every 36 hours!
	030:00:01	You have reached at least 30 hours of play time. I expect you are making substantial progress.
	060:00:01	Over 60 hours now! That's beyond legit. Seriously, thanks.
	100:00:00	You're obsessed. But I guess I'm OK with that.
Total Time in Battles	000:00:00	This is the total amount of time spent in battle.
	001:00:00	If worries over your battle time distract you enough that you're losing battles, it defeats the purpose. Focus on survival first and foremost.
	005:00:00	Well well, look who's been busy on the battlefield. Hope you haven't forgotten how to win quickly, though.
	010:00:00	Battle after battle after battle. How's that working out for you? Are you getting stronger?
Total Time in Menus	000:00:00	This is the amount of time you've spent in menus. There's a lot packed in here, so don't be shy!
	002:00:00	It's a good idea to check the Skill Book regularly. It will help you master the generation and use of Bonus Skills.
	010:00:00	Thinking about skills and fusion and all that makes my head spin, but if you can handle it, rock on.
	030:00:00	I hope you haven't been napping with a menu open or something.
Total Encounters	1 time	This is the number of times you've encountered enemies and dived headlong into battle! Racking up victories will also improve your equipment proficiency.
	101 times	You've already had over 100 encounters! Still, don't let your guard down.
	1001 times	Huh. Over 1000 encounters! That's a whole lot of violences. All the violences.
	3000 times	Well. Someone's belligerent.
Enemy Types Discovered	1 species	This is the number of different enemies you've logged in the Enemy Book, found in the Library.
	30 species	I've come to the conclusion that the more you fight the same enemy, the better the skills on the equipment it drops. So don't rush; take your time.
	100 species	It can really be nice to have equipment on hand with skills against particular enemy categories. The Luring talent could help. Just sayin'.
	180 species	There's all sorts of hellions out there. In general, the ones that look similar became hellions under similar circumstances.

RECORD	COMMENTS RELEASE CONDITIONS	COMMENT
Consumable Item Discovered	1 consumables	This is the number of unique consumable items you've obtained.
	10 consumables	You've collected at least 10 different consumables. I can prepare all sorts of remedies now. Just say the word!
	30 consumables	I see you've collected at least 30 different consumables. Go on, don't be stingy with 'em now. Use 'em up!
	60 consumables	You've found 60 consumable items. Mostly snacks, I notice. Still. Well done, I suppose.
Equipment Items Discovered	5 equipment items	This is the number of unique equippable items you've found. Each one can have up to four skills, so no two items are the same! Except the ones that are.
	30 equipment items	You've collected at least 30 different equippable items now. You should clean up your inventory by selling off old pieces or fusing them.
	100 equipment items	Nice! 100 or more different pieces of equipment. You know, I feel like the drop rate falls if you're carrying too much. Better sell off what you don't need!
	300 equipment items	That's a frightening amount of equipment. How do you keep track of it all? Be sure not to let your inventory get too cluttered. Tidiness is part of being civilized.
Skits Played	1 skit	That is the number of skits you've played. You can start a skit in certain places during your travels. They can also be triggered at inns.
	50 skits	You've played at least 50 skits now! There is nothing like a journey to bring people together.
	150 skits	Whoa, you've played over 150 skits? Neat. Wish we had a way to celebrate. A short comedic conversation about it with friends, or something. Oh well.
	250 skits	I see you've watched a whole bunch of skits. There are worse ways to waste one's time, I guess.
New Treasure Discovered	1 chest	This shows how many chests you've opened for the first time. I say that because some chests will mysteriously be restocked if you come back later.
	30 chests	If you want to build this number up, you ought to make good use of the Treasure Detection talent. It will notify you of nearby chests and herbs.
	150 chests	Loads of treasure, woohoo! You can increase the search radius if multiple people use Treasure Detection. Might actually make it harder sometimes, though.
	300 chests	Why are there chests scattered all over, anyway? ...We're not supposed to question it? I never agreed to that.
Normin Recruited	1 normin	This is the number of times you've found and recruited normin. If you show a normin some equipment with a blank skill slot, they'll offer to help!
	10 normin	I find this "normincarena" most curious. What on earth sort of dance is it supposed to be?
	30 normin	You've found at least 30 normin. There's...about 50 in total, was it? Probably should dwell on what that implies about their breeding patterns.
	50 normin	...What are you looking at?
Highest Combo	1 hit	Attacking enemies will interrupt and stagger them. Keep attacking before they can recover, and you can often defeat them without suffering counterattacks.
	30 hits	Enemies have varying weights, affecting things such as their stagger time. Artes too have different qualities; ones with many hits tend to have short stagger time.
	60 hits	You reached 60 hits! That's super awesome and you're my hero—but you can still go higher than that!
	100 hits	Ooooh. 100 hits. Woooow.
Highest Damage	1	This is the highest amount of damage you've dealt in a single blow. Artes with a lower hit count tend to do more damage per hit.
	500	A stunned target will have a higher damage multiplier. When the enemy is stunned, it would be wise to employ your most effective combo.
	5000	The battle actions Quick Banish and Retribution can help blow your damage into the stratosphere!
	10000	Some skills will give you a ridiculous multiplier to your damage. Why not try focusing on those?
Highest Total Damage (Armatized)	1	When you armatize, the weakness damage multiplier will accumulate for a certain length of time. This is your record total damage inflicted during that time.
	5000	The key to advancing this record lies in stunning your enemies and using skills to maximize the damage you do while they're stunned!
	25000	There's skill effects that make enemies' stun time last longer. Line up six skills with the same element to make an E-Union 6, then reap the rewards!
	100000	"I used a mystic arte and I still didn't win!" No duh, Durrlock. Mystic artes are just the most hidden of hidden artes. They're not instant-win tricks.
Successful Guards	1 time	Successful guarding recovers SC by a certain amount. If you're running low on SC, put up your guard and take a tactical breather.
	40 times	The enemy attack rate will increase when you guard and decrease right after they attack. A solid counterattack begins with a solid defense! Words to live by!
	400 times	If you just stand there guarding the whole time, the effectiveness start to go down. Better to find a good balance between attacking and defending.
	1000 times	You can't win if you ignore defense. If you're up front, it's your job to defend. In other words, you take that beating, so I don't have to.

RECORD	COMMENTS RELEASE CONDITIONS	COMMENT
Quick Evades	1 time	Perform sidesteps for vertical attacks and backsteps for horizontal attacks to trigger a Quick Evade.
	20 times	The best thing about a successful Quick Evade is that it will refill your SC, but the fact that it delays the enemy's next attack is a not unwelcome bonus.
	200 times	"Help! Is that attack vertical or horizontal!?" Sound like you? Well, buck, maybe you just need to get hit. Yeah, it hurt, but it might clear things up.
	1000 times	There's a battle action that'll reduce your mystic arte BG cost for a bunch of successful Quick Evades in a row. We're just lucky the enemies can't do that.
Martial Arte Breaks	1 time	Use hidden artes against enemies' martial artes (attacks with few gaps) to attack without getting staggered.
	20 times	It can be tricky to respond instantly to enemy attacks, but if they only use martial arts, you shouldn't hesitate to overwelm them with hidden artes.
	200 times	When two hidden artes collide, the one that hits first is the one that goes through! For enemies that use both martial and hidden artes, try getting the jump on 'em!
	500 times	Are enemies annoying you with their constant cowardly poke-and-run attacks? Hidden arte, pow! Sometimes strategy's just that easy.
Hidden Arte Breaks	1 time	Use seraphic artes against enemies' hidden artes (charge-up attacks) to cut your casting time in half and avoid being staggered.
	20 times	Seraphic artes are special powers inaccessible to humans. I suspect historical records of these artes spring from Shepherds with the power of armatization.
	200 times	Though you won't get staggered, you'll still take damage if you do this. If you're low on HP, just evade the attack instead.
	500 times	Are enemies annoying you with their exasperating confidence? Seraphic arte, badoom!
Seraphic Arte Breaks	1 time	Interrupt enemies casting seraphic artes by hitting them with martial artes.
	20 times	It is true that seraphic artes require casting time, but their power more than makes up for it. Should an enemy start casting, do all you can to interrupt them.
	200 times	If an enemy starts casting and you're all too far away to do anything about it, you're kinda boned. That's why it's good to close in on seraphic arte users first.
	500 times	Are enemies annoying you with their lackadaisical seraphic arte casting? Martial arte, wwwatcha!
Blasts Triggered	1 time	Use [R2] to spend your Blast Gauge (BG) and trigger special effects. The conditions and effects differ depending on whether you're on standby or in a combo.
	50 times	It would appear you can earn new battle actions based on the number of Blasts you've used. All the more reason to let loose.
	250 times	Partner Blasts can be way useful with just a little imagination. For instance, if your buddy's taking a beating, it could give 'em a free ticket outta there.
	1000 times	Have you been neglecting Blow Blasts because they break your combo? You can continue them on downed enemies with higher seraphic artes, you know.
Mystic Artes Triggered	1 time	Learning a mystic arte means that you'll have a powerful tool at your disposal for when you need to turn the tables or clinch your victory.
	20 times	Defeating enemies with mystic artes will earn you high Grade, so try it once you've weakened them. You can check the enemy's health using the targeting mark.
	80 times	Sometimes I wonder things like, "Nngh, should I use a mystic arte or a Blast hit here?" I feel ya. But don't get in the habit of using just one and never the other.
	500 times	If you've got a battle action that lowers mystic arte BG cost based on hit count, use Chain Blast or whatever to keep your hits up before your mystic arte.
Water Armatizations	1 time	This is the number of times you've performed water armatization. The armatized form boasts good piercing capabilities—just the thing for a tight hallway.
	10 times	Weaknesses? ...Well, it can be hard to cope with attacks from behind. But the first step toward dealing with this drawback is acknowledging it.
	100 times	Seraphic artes come in several broad categories: defense, area-effect, piercing, wide-area, et cetera. My forte is single-target healing artes.
	300 times	I hope it's clear by now how powerful the water armatus is.
Fire Armatizations	1 time	This is the number of times you've performed fire armatization. It features sweeping sword attacks, perfect for cutting swathes through mobs of enemies.
	10 times	Fire armatization doesn't offer many options when enemies are out of reach of your sword. When your foes scatter, it's wise to revert to normal state.
	100 times	Against a single target, fire armatization isn't always the most effective tactic. Don't forget, you're not required to use it, even if the enemy's weak to fire.
	300 times	You've truly mastered the fire armatus. This calls for a toast! Teeheehee. ...Hey, come back. I was only kindling.
Earth Armatizations	1 time	This is the number of times you've performed earth armatization. If you think it's just about raw power, you've already lost. Take a closer look.
	10 times	Yes, this armatus specializes in one-on-one attacks, but it can handle area attacks as well. It all depends on how you use it. Understand? I hope so.
	100 times	I've got defensive seraphic artes and ones with huge-range attacks... Even ones that power up the more enemies there are. You realize I'm the best, right?
	300 times	The earth armatus. That is all. Dismissed.

RECORD	COMMENTS RELEASE CONDITIONS	COMMENT
Wind Armatizations	1 time	This is the number of times you've performed wind armatization. Floating in the air allows you to easily swoop around enemy attacks.
	10 times	You can use artes that incorporate movement to keep your enemies pinned down and control your positioning. Always stay aware of the state of the battle.
	100 times	A lot of the seraphic artes of wind have an effect on the actions that come afterwards. You won't see the benefit if you don't plan ahead. Think before you act.
	300 times	Ya see now? You can't count the wind armatus out.
Banish Blasts	1 time	This is the number of times you've unleashed a Banish Blast. It takes a while to charge up, so don't use it recklessly, or it'll become a... Vanish Blast! Teehee.
	10 times	Diligent allies may defend you while you charge up a Banish Blast. There is also a battle action reducing the charge time when your enemies are stunned.
	50 times	The less HP the enemy has, the more damage you'll do. Finding that sweet spot is all part of the thrill.
	200 times	Have you mastered linking Banish Blasts into mystic artes? I certainly hope so.
Gald Spent	1 gald	This is how much gald you've spent in shops and inns. Gald's a global currency, accepted wherever you go. Don't leave home without it.
	10000 gald	Buying and selling items in the same shop will increase that location's Shop Level, expanding the selection of available equipment.
	100000 gald	It's healthy to engage in commerce now and then. The equipment at shops comes with skills too, you know! ...Actually, by now you probably DO know.
	1000000 gald	What shops carry is influenced by what you sell. Sell a bunch of rings, and that shop will start stocking rings in bulk. Why? I don't know, I'm just the messenger.
Distance Traveled on Map	0.01 m	This is the distance you've traveled across maps. When you're exploring maps, don't forget to make good use of your talents!
	10000.00 m	Talents can be developed with enough use. Be sure to walk around with various combinations of talents assigned.
	50000.00 m	It costs Gald to move between Save Points, so walking is a good way to save on cash. Just make sure you know where you're going.
	500000.00 m	I can't feel my legs... Ugh. Why did I sign up for this?
Battle Actions	5 actions	This is the number of battle actions you've learned. You can acquire lots of different abilities by progressing in the story and mastering combat.
	10 actions	Some battle actions are ideal for beginners. If you still lack confidence, try one or two of those marked "Auto" while you grow used to the system.
	25 actions	You won't have much luck enabling every battle action you get. The trick is to figure out what you need and what you don't need!
	40 actions	There may be a whole lot of battle actions to choose from, but don't get carried away. Like an umbrella, you can only spread yourself so far.
Enemies Defeated	1 enemy	This is the number of times you've defeated or forced retreat from enemies. Defeat enough enemies, and you'll level up, increasing your stats.
	100 enemies	One thing to keep in mind is that your maximum HP does not increase even when you level up. I suggest you pursue collection of the items known as orbs.
	500 enemies	The higher a stat is at the point you level up—and that includes equipment and everything else—the more the base stat goes up. Make sense?
	3000 enemies	Your levels can be as high as a kite; it's still no guarantee you'll win. Granted, keeping them low will probably guarantee you'll lose.
Snacks Eaten	1 time	Though snacks can only be eaten outside of battle, they'll restore HP to all party members, as well as add a skill effect to the next battle.
	10 times	Different characters will find different snacks easy to make. Training long enough will allow you to prepare brand-new snacks! I am in full support of this.
	100 times	Just because they go away, doesn't mean you shouldn't use 'em up. Otherwise, what's the point? Might as well sell 'em and make someone else happy.
	500 times	I think it's time to make up your mind about whether you're here for an adventure or just here for the snacks.
Highest Equipment Fusion	1 time	This is the highest number added next to an item name through equipment fusion. Fusion is a great way to tidy up your inventory—just mash that stuff together!
	10 times	You've achieved a fusion count of at least 10. It never ceases to amaze me how so many weapons can coalesce into one. The natural world is wondrous indeed.
	30 times	Dang, you've gone up to +30, even! This might be old news, but it's safe to fuse two +30 items--you'll come out with a +61! Niftysauce.
	99 times	Wow, you really did have a lot of time to waste. Though you can make your equipment even stronger once you have it sanctified.

RECORD	COMMENTS RELEASE CONDITIONS	COMMENT
Highest Sanctification	1	This is the highest number added next to a sanctified item name through equipment fusion. ...You have entered a most hallowed domain.
	10	In and of itself, a +10 modifier on sanctified equipment doesn't affect much, but it does indicate you've collected 121 of the item... This I respect.
	30	Gotta say, getting sanctified equipment up to +30 is quite a feat! Keep it up. There's things that'll let you carry equipment across playthroughs—handy!
	99	You boosted sanctified equipment up to +99? That's... excessive. But I admire your dedication. It'll take you far.
Highest Sale Value	1 gald	The highest value you've sold an item for. To aim for this record, you may want to sell items you've fixed up a bunch. Though I understand that might be painful.
	2000 gald	The number or quality of attached skills can affect the resale value of your equipment. You would do well to keep this in mind should you be targeting this record.
	10000 gald	Sanctified items sell for a lot, y'know. Collectors love them some premium goods. But donating them to a Lord of the Land nets you tons of Grade. Tough call.
	100000 gald	Looks like you crafted some genuinely special equipment... And then sold it off without compunction. No regrets, now. You only live once.
Stack Skills Triggered	1 stack	These are bonus skills triggered by equipping two with the same name at the same time. The skills can be on different items, such as armor and shoes.
	4 stacks	Fusing items at shops is indispensable if Stack bonuses are your goal. Pay close attention to how fusion affects the arrangement of skills.
	8 stacks	The key to fusion is appreciating the value of items with empty skill slots. If one item's slot is open, the skill in the other slot won't change during fusion.
	15 stacks	I see you pulled off a Stack 16. Might as well pat yourself on the back. There's nothing higher than that anyway.
G-Union Skills Triggered	1 G-Union	These are bonus skills triggered by equipping all five skills in a skill group. This will form a vertical line on the Skill Sheet.
	3 G-Unions	G-Union bonuses further enhance the characteristics of that group. It would not be absurd to carry different sets of equipment geared toward multiple groups.
	6 G-Unions	You need five skills from the same group for a G-Union, so you can't pull it off with just one item. Kinda sucks. You could spread it out across all five, though.
	10 G-Unions	There are 10 groups, so if you've made all 10 G-Unions, that's it. But making them is one thing—choosing the right ones for the battles you face is quite another.
E-Union Skills Triggered	1 E-Union	These are skills triggered by equipping two or more that line up next to each other. Skills lined up horizontally tend to be related by element.
	15 E-Unions	E-Unions are relatively simple to activate, requiring merely two skills at minimum. As they boost your elemental abilities, how you use them will be crucial.
	30 E-Unions	Elemental Unions take a bit of finesse. Should you stick with two E-Union 2s, or fill in the gap and have just one E-Union 5? Hmm, decisions, decisions.
	45 E-Unions	Huh, that would be all the E-Unions, then. There's one for each number and element—I hope you're not too exhausted.
Grade Record	1	This is the most Grade you've earned in a single battle. Refine your battle technique to earn more Grade and smash your record!
	25	To earn high Grade, you must battle with style. In particular, there is naught more stylish than to achieve victory without so much as a scratch.
	50	If you want the worst Grade possible, try getting KO'd or finishing a battle with a status ailment. Oh! Item use is a key point as well. You'll be awful in no time!
	80	This is proof of how mercilessly and vindictively you've rained artes down on your foes. Go ahead, bask in it. Revel in it.
Items Dropped by Enemies	1 item	This is the total number of equippable items randomly dropped by enemies. Hellion equipment is saturated in malevolence, but purification makes it usable again.
	20 items	Different hellions have different equipment they are likely to drop. The result is certainly not guaranteed, but it's still useful to check this via the World Map.
	50 items	I hear the enemy you beat first will have double the drop rate. Sounds handy if you're craving a particular item. The Luring talent ought to be useful, too.
	100 items	The drop rate goes up based on how many enemies you beat in a battle. So seeking out Dangerous Encounters doesn't NECESSARILY signal self-destructive tendencies.
Herbs Found	1 herb	This is the number of herbs you've found. They're mostly found in fields (outdoor maps) and can boost your physical attributes.
	30 herbs	There are six different kinds of herbs, five of which boost your basic stats and one which boosts your max HP. You can also create them with Remedy Preparation.
	60 herbs	One thing herbs do is fully restore your initial SC. If you're lost in a dungeon somewhere, might be wise to dig in your herb pouch and get some fight back in ya.
	100 herbs	You might as well not bother picking an herb if you're not planning to use it. Or do you just enjoy casual destruction for its own sake?
